She was pleasantly sur-prised next day, when, on boarding the same car, her property was handed her by Conductor Samuel Wray, who had identified the owner by a card in the pocket-book, which he picked up in the car. Such honesty is the rule among street railway employes, but is none the less commend-

STRUCK BY A RUNAWAY. A runaway accident which may result in the death of a little girl, happened on Wellington street, near Dundas, yesterterday afternoon. A horse attached to a delivery sleigh had been left standing untied on York street west when it became frightened and galloped eastward. At the corner of York and Wellington the rear runners and box were left behind, and at the corner of Wellington and King the front runners were broken from the shafts. As the horse neared Dundas street, five little chil-dren were grouped together in play, one of them being the daughter of Mr. Wm. Smith. The rest of the children saw the runaway and sought safety in nearby buildings, but the Smith girl remained in the roadway, unconscious of her danger. She was struck a fearful blow on the back of the head by the swinging shafts, rendering her insensible and causing concussion of the brain to set in. Dr. Drake reports the child somewhat better today, but he cannot say whether the accident will prove fatal or not. A BOY SCALDED.

Phillip Oumette, a 14-year-old boy had a narrow escape from being scalded to death in a vat of boiling water on Tuesday. He was working about the shops as usual, and had occasion to pass a large vat which contains boiling water kept for the purpose of As it was, Oumette had one leg scald-

A Nasty Collision.

Runaway Horse Dashes Into a Cab on Dundas Street.

Driver Badly Injured and Two Ladies Have Narrow Escapes-Vehicles Injured and One Horse Permanently So-Driver Taken to Hospital.

A milkman named Branton, who lives on Adelaide street, was driving along Dufferin avenue at noon today. He was in a hurry. but his horse was not; at least not at that particular moment. Mr. Branton used the whip and said: "Get up there."

The horse "got up." In fact he "got up" so hurriedly that Mr. Branton found himself sitting on the snow, or the dirty brown slush that was once snow, and calling "Whoa! Whoa!" even louder than he had a moment previously called "Get up!"

The horse was speedily out of hail and finding the order not countermanded he proceeded to "get up" in an alarming man-There was an ominous swhish to his tail as he cavorted around the corner of Wellington street, the sleigh with its precious white concents swaying and slip-ping dangerously. And away down the block in the middle of the road a farmer ran yelling 'Whoa!"

From Dufferin avenue to Dundas on Wellington, the runaway was as free from interruption as he would have been on a Northwest prairie. It was a fair field and no favors, and the horse might have had a nice quiet little gallop if he had only kept to the broad path known as Wellington street. But it turned onto Dundas street west and this caused no end of trouble.

Robert Kirkpatrick, who drives for Hueston, was driving a hack east on the street. The carriage had just received two lady fares at Fysh's—Mrs. Tackaberry and Miss Stevely, daughters of Ex-Ald. Wm. Stevely. Kirkpatrick saw the flying horse bearing down upon him and turned his team to cross to the south side of the road and so escape the collision. The milkman's horse became imbued at the same time with the idea that he too should avoid a collision by crossing the street.

Human beings can sometimes do this cris-cross game with safety and a ruffled temper, but the milkman's horse, finding he was going to collide with the cab, tried traction a Highlander from Detroit to jump over it. The point chosen for the hurdle race was the whiffletrees, but as the cab was still moving the horse landed with its front feet against the chest of the driver, Kirkpatrick,

He was knocked some distance by the force of the blow and rendered unconscious. The cab was badly smashed and injured Ont., manufacturers of clothing, etc., and the horses ran away. Most fortunately for the ladies the force of the impact detached the carriage from the horses and they were spared the nervous strain of a sleigh, at the corner of Dundas and Wellington, but at Dr. Moore's the whole thing -sleigh, milk cans and all, went to smash to him at once and brought him to and stopped the bleeding. He is badly bruised, the muscles being torn from the bone on the left leg, and he is deaffrom the injuries to his head. He was taken to the hospital for treatment. Mrs. Tackaberry and Miss Stevely had very narrow escapes from breaking glass and splinters, but were not injured and proceeded home in another carriage. The milkman's horse is probably permanently injured. It was taken to Dr. Tennant's for treatment. Of course the rig was hopelessly damaged and the cab was also

Keeps His Seat.

The Action to Uaseat School Trustee Johnston Dismissed-No Missing Ballots.

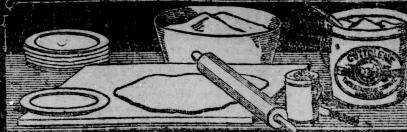

Mr. Chas. Johnston, who received a majority of the votes cast in the recent school trustee contest in ward 4, will retain his seat. The application for a new election made by Mr. W. H. Morgan, the defeated candidate, was this afternoon dismissed without costs.

The application was argued before Judge Edward Elliott this afternoon in the court house, Mr. Johnston being represented by Mr. J. B. McKillop, and Mr. Morgan by Mr. R. M. C. Toothe. The latter opened his argument by stating that he had agreed there was no evidence that there were errors in the number of ballots issued and the number entered, or in other words that the ballots registered on the poll books as having represented votes were not votes at all. He urged. however, that such evidence was not admissible, quoting from the statutes in support of his contention and urging that it would open a door to a fraud being perpetrated. The whole circumstances, Mr. Toothe claimed, would lead one to the conclusion that'

Mr. McKillop ably argued the case for Mr. Johnston. "On the proper marking of the ballots," he said, "you find that Mr. Johnston had an increased majority. On the evidence we give it is shown that there is not an irregularity as far as the ballots are concerned. We have evidence to account for every ballot, but if we are not allowed to give this testimony, how could a fair inquiry be made? Can you say on the evidence that there was not a fair vote polled in the ward and that Mr. Johnston did not ward and that Mr. Johnston did not removed. The injured boy is the son of Mr. George Oumette, $54 Hill street, His injuries are very painful, but will not result seriously.

Judge Edward Elliott said the con-clusion he had come to was that the whole proceedings had been conducted Anderson & Nelles, druggists, sell in a very slovenly manner, and that Kur-a-Kof, the magic cold ours, 25c, the provisions of the act had not been carried out by the officers. Having regard to the fact that the majority given for the respondent was eight, and that the missing ballots were eleven, he had no doubt that there was nothing like corruption on the part of the officers. He thought, taking all the facts into consideration, that it would be an injustice to set aside the election. He therefore dismissed the application without costs.

London, Jan. 23.—At the meeting of Americans today the following resolu-tion was adopted and telegraphed to Queen Victoria at Osborne House, Isle of Wight: "At an assemblage of Americans, it was resolved to communicate to Your Most Gracious Majesty that they join in the deep sympathy of Your Majesty's subjects in respect to his Royal Highness Prince Henry af Battenberg's death. Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 23.—The grand jury has indicted the executives of four cities and villages in La Salie county as follows: Andrew Hebel, mayor of Peru; F. W. Matthieson, mayor of La Salle; S. T. Russell, president of the village board of Utica; John Tallma, president of the village board of Kangley. The indictments are based upon the principle of law that every official is responsible for all his own acts. STOCKS ARE SYMPATHETIC.

London, Jan. 23 .- A report that Queen Victoria was somewhat seriously indisposed, and the announcement that a treaty providing for an offensive and defensive alliance had been concluded between Russia and Turkey had a disturbing influence upon the stock exchange today. The markets were less firm, and in the afternoon consols, after gaining 1-4, receded 1-16 below the prices of yesterday evening. The latest bulletin from Osborne House, however, announces that the Queen is in good health, but overwhelmed with grief at the death of Prince Henry.
