THE DEAD STATESMAN.

Press Estimates of the Late Lord Randolph Churchill.

Good Words for Him-A Man of Fiery Talent-Royalty Notified.

LONDON, Jan. 24.-Lord Randolph Churchill was unconscious for 30 hours. His wife and mother remained with the dying man throughout the night. Early this morning he began sinking rapidly, and at 6 o'clock Dr. Rose was summoned. Fifteen minutes later he died. The body will be buried at Woodstock. The Queen and the Prince of Wales were at once informed of Lord Randolph's death.

London, Jan. 24 .- The Star says: Lord Randolph Churchill was an audacious and splendid fighter. He was the only man with Disraeli who was able to make Toryism interesting, but he was unable to harness his fiery talents to the Adminis tration car, hence he left behind him only the reputation of an adventurer. The Pall Mall Gazette says: The Conservative party owe far more to Lord Randolph Churchill than he owed to them. His rare political insight, his unflinching courage and his restless enterprise roused the party to a commanding position when its fortunes were at the lowest ebb.

The Gazette attributes his defect of temper and judgment largely to physical infirmities which troubled his whole life. fullest extent a magnetic charm which cannot be underestimated. At the Grand, The "Gaiety Girl" Company, numbering 63 person, and now playing a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, Toronto, will appear at the Grand Opera House in this city next Tuesday night. The Toronto Mail says: "The piece is a The Globe says: He possessed to the genuine up-to-date production, with a dialogue that is smart, and, as the English would say, decidedly spicy, lyrics of a popular order, and music of a tuneful, though reminiscent character. The play is handsomely staged and costumed, and glows with color from beginning to end. It would be difficult to say wherein consists the special merit which has won celebrity for "A Gaiety Girl," but the whole combination makes an amus-ing entertainment which is pretty certain to please the general theater-going public. There are no stars in this company, but the performance is given without hitch and with considerable enap, and the principals all sustain their roles in a very satisfactory manner. Of the singers, Mr. Langley, as Charles Goldfield, who has a capital voice, made the hit of the evening, and in the celebrated "Tommy Atkins" song aroused the audience to enthusiasm. Miss Ethel Sydney and Miss Nina Martino also sang very prettily, and gained a good share of the honors. The bewildering skirt dances of Miss Margaret Fraser and the carnival dance of Miss Margaret Fraser, Miss Helen Fraser and Miss Maud Percy elicited tumultuous applause and enthusiastic encores. The humorous dance of Dr. Brierly and his daughter in the first act also made a hit. Miss Marion Hood filled the role of the heroine, Alma Somerset, and she admirably supplied the requirement of the part—the ability to execute a series of effective poses. Miss Winnifrid Dennis showed special merit in her clever portrayal of Lady Virginia, and Mr. Rawlins, as Dr. Brierly, Mr. Manning, as Major Barclay, and Mr. Percy Marshall, as Sir Lewis Grey, and Miss M. Warner, as Lady Grey, were excellent in what may be called the character parts.

City Hall was held last night. It was the ninth annual assembly of Forest City Lodge, No. 240, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and went a great way to prove that the gatherings of the train-men are annually growing in favor with the public. London was not only well represented, but Detroit, Toronto, Hamilton, Woodstock, St. Thomas, Niagara Falls, Ingersoll, Stratford, Chatham and Windsor sent delegations. There were about 150 couples present, and the scene was a very pretty one. The walls and galleries were decorated with bunting, flags, miniature arches and Chinese lanterns, while the emblem of the trainmenthe brake and lantern—showed up prominently in more than one place. The attentive and energetic committee worked well, with one object in view-to make the affair a thoroughly enjoyable one to those who tendered their patronage. Success followed their efforts in every respect, and they can look forward to the tenth assembly with an assurance of a still greater triumph. The grand march took place at 8:30 and then the first half of the programme commenced. It included quadrilles, waltzes, cotillions and polkas. Excellent music was furnished by Prof. Day-ton and his orchestra, and with Mr. James McCormick as master of ceremonies it is almost unnecessary to say that the numbers were carried out to the letter. At the conclusion of the first portion of the programme the company adjourned to the Walsh House, King street, where supper was served. The balance of the programme was then carried out and the ball broke up at about 4 o'clock in the morning. The committees in charge of the affair were: Management-J. Dore (chairman), J. H. Thompson (secretary), J. Legg (treasurer), B. Campbell, E. Dibb, E Burt, J. Follie, C. A. Johnston and W. Wallace.

Mason, A. Leslie, W. Norris, J. Pole, W. Rabey, J. Smith, A. E. Johnston. A Scottish Night. Last night's celebration of the annicess. The entertainment was under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Benevolent Society, and the Grand Opera House was well-filled by the members and their friends. Opening with a Scottish reel by the Misses Snand and Messrs. John Rattray and William Templeton (in elegant Highland costume), the programme never lagged for nearly three hours, when "Auld Lang Syne" and the "National Anthem," led by the company of performers, gave the signal, all too soon for some, that the end was reached. Mrs. A. E. Cooper was in excellent voice, and had an enthusiastic reception. She sang 'The Lea Rig." and in response to an encore gave "The Spinning Wheel." Later in the evening she sang "The Scottish Blue Bells" to the delight of all. Miss Mutch is a favorite at these annual gatherings. She did herself full justice in her selections last night. Her first was "Cam' Ye by Athol, Prince Charlie," and being encored she sang "Do You Remember." Probably her best effort was "Jessie's Dream, which was rendered with much expression By singing "Angus Macdonald" with spirit, Miss Gilmore was also warmly encored. In response she gave, with sweet expressiveness, that ever welcome song, "The Land o' the Leal." In a different vein, but equally effective, was her "There's Nac Room for Twa." Mr. J. W. McIntosh, who was an efficient master of ceremonies, gave with much spirit the most appropriate song, chronicling the arrival of the great poet on earth, "There Was a Lad Was Born in Kyle," but unfortunately was too busy to respond to an encore. Not so was it with Mr. J. R. Todd, who appeared for the first time at these annual celebrations, and sang "Macgregor's Gathering" with so much vigor that he elicited an encore, in response to which he sang, "O' a' Airts." Both efforts were thoroughly appreciated by the audience. Capt. T. E. Robson sang "Scots Wha Hae" in excellent voice, and being recalled gave "Come All Ye Jolly Shepherda." Capt. Robson's reception was decidedly warm. The Misses Shand contributed in no small degree to the success of the concert. They danced and sang in equally good taste, and were again and again recalled. Their best effort was the duet, "You Can't Play in Our Back Yard"; it was loudly applauded. Of Mr. J. H. Cameron, the comedian, mimic and elocutionist, much might be said. He proved equally pleasing in serious and in comic selections. Probably one of the most effective of his serious pieces was "The Old Man's Visit to the Town," while his recitation and pantomime describing a man away from home when he gets a supposed letter from his wife asking for money was very funny. The instrumental portion of the programme was not the least important Geo. Angus, jun., who is a master of the violin, delighted the audience by his rendering of Scottish and other airs. Geo. Angus, sen., played the bagpipes for the Highland dancers as only the veteran senior piper of the society knows how, while Miss Phillips and Mr. Fred L. Evans accompanied the various vocalists on the piano with their accustomed good taste and ability.

Common Sense.

Should be used in attempting to cure that very disagreeable disease, catarrh. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common-sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action to the alimentary canal.
