points of view and to reconcile, if possible, conflicting claims. It is obvious that what is good for the dominion as a whole must be good for each part of the dominion. In many things provincial interests have necessarily to be subordinated to national interests, but no one province should demand to be given favors at the expense of others. There are many outstanding complaints and grievances which cannot be satisfac-torily disposed of without a general get-together, first, for a proper unlerstanding of their nature, and, secondly, with a view to discovering the appropriate measure to be adopted.

It is to be hoped that the Winnipeg conference will be well attended and that it will be as fruitful in results as its organizers anticipate. Whether it will fulfil expectations depends to a large degree on the spirit in which the deliberations are conducted. If it is merely a matter each representative fighting for wh he considers to be "local rights," it may conceivably do more harm than good.
