Death of Richard Karr

Richard Karr, ex-mayor of Forest and widely known throughout the district, died Sunday, Aug. 29th from the effects of injuries sustained to his right hip, when he slipped and fell on a cement sidewalk at the Conservative convention at Alvinston on May 12. Following the accident Mr. Karr was brought to his home in an auto, and since that time had been unable to leave his bed. He was 72 years of age. Mr. Karr had served for several terms in the town council, and at the time of his death occupied the position of town clerk, in which office he had been for twelve years. His surviving relatives are William J. Karr, a son, principal of the Ottawa Normal School; Mrs. William Nichol, a daughter, of Brandon, Man., and a younger daughter, Lizzie, at home. The funeral was held under the auspices of the Orange order of which organization Mr. Karr was a prominent member. The mayor and council of Forest attended in a body.

Bishop White Preaches in Trinity Church

Bishop William C. White and Mrs. White of Honan, China, are the guests of Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Pethybridge. On Sunday last week the congregation of Trinity church had the pleasure of hearing Bishop White preach. He took for his text, Acts 14: 27. His discourse was a synopsis of the work done by the Canadian Anglican Church in Central China. He explained how God had opened the door of faith to the Chinese; how the mission work had grown in twelve years from a family prayer service to large crowded churches, schools and extensive holdings. His remarks were exceedingly interesting and deeply impressed his hearers. Speaking of the war when interviewed, Bishop White said that the Chinese are largely pro-German in their sentiments.

"There are numerous reasons why the Chinese should incline in their feeling toward Germany," he said. "In the first place they had great admiration for the military efficiency of the German nation. This admiration dates back before the war began. When China commenced to have aspirations toward building up of an army she secured German drill sergeants. Their military organization was followed out on German lines. They use the 'goose step' of the Germans in their training. Then Germany, by holding out so many of the powerful Allies that they are further led to believe in the efficiency of the German military system. The other large question is the signing of treaties or violation of neutrality does not have much weight with the Chinese. They are still less concerned about it being a conflict of the democratic and autocratic ideas of government. China has in the past come to such grief at the hands of some of the great powers in having slices of her territory lopped off here and there that the rights of smaller nations do not weigh very strongly with her in thinking of the Great Powers. Germans were getting a great hold on the trade of China prior to the outbreak of war. They studied the needs and whims of the Chinese and were consequently capturing their trade. But the present time the German merchant has been practically roused from the country. British merchants in China for a time continued to carry on trade with the Germans in the country. An order was applied by the British merchants to trade with them has almost effectually closed the Germans out of the trade of China."

"Christian doctrine has made great progress in China since the establishment of the republic. In the Anglican Church there are between 36,000 and 37,000 members. The officials of the new government look with favor on the missionaries and their schools, said Bishop White. For it was from these schools that the first light broke into China and set her groping after a better form of government."

Machine Guns

"Donations for machine guns already have exceeded the expectations of the Government. The Government has placed an order for all the machine guns at present available, and further donations would not result in furnishing any additional equipment of guns to our troops."

The foregoing paragraph is taken from a statement issued to the Press by Senator Longhead, who, at the time of writing, is Acting Minister of Militia. Senator Longhead might, with truth and justification have put the matter much more strongly. He might have said that in all probability the money now being subscribed for the purpose of purchasing machine guns would not make itself felt in the war for many months to come; he might have pointed out that only a certain number of these guns could be profitably employed at a time, and that guns beyond that number might conceivably prove a hindrance rather than an advantage to our soldiers. Already it would appear that more have been promised than can be conveniently used.

MILITARY EXERCISES AT WESTERN FAIR, LONDON

Infantry and Artillery Will Give Exhibitions—Tuesday, September 14, Military Day

By kind permission of Col. Shannon and the co-operation of the officers in charge, the battalions now in training at Carling's Heights will take a very prominent part in the Western Fair this year. Tuesday, September 14, will be Military Day. Both infantry battalions will take part also the 29th Field Battery and the Field Ambulance Depot. Arriving at the grounds early in the afternoon, accompanied by their bands, they will give a march past and general salute before the grand stand. This will be followed by a program of the following manoeuvres: physical training squad, bayonet exercise, signaling drill, trench warfare and various other events.

A liberal percentage of the gate receipts in excess of other years will be donated for patriotic purposes.

On Wednesday and Thursday, at 4 o'clock each afternoon, the whole battalions will march to the grounds, accompanied by their bands, will enter by the Quebec street gate and give the march past and the general salute before the grand stand.

These grand military displays will afford the visitors to the exhibition an opportunity of a lifetime in witnessing a large number of trained soldiers in their real work.

It is expected the patriotic fund will be materially increased by the exhibitions. Single fare over all railroads west of Toronto and Owen Sound. Fare and one third from outside points.

IN THE CLUTCHES OF RHEUMATISM

The Great Suffering of a Calgary Lady Before Relief Was Found

There is still a very prevalent belief that rheumatism is due to cold or wet weather. This belief is probably due to the fact that when the blood is thin and watery there is an acute sensitivity to atmospheric conditions and a change to wet weather often means a return of the excruciating pains. Rheumatism, however, is rooted in the blood, and it can only be driven from the system by building up and enriching the blood. Hot baths and outward applications of liniment may give temporary relief, but cannot cure. If the disease is not attacked through the blood, it simply fastens itself more firmly on the system, and the sufferer ultimately becomes hopelessly crippled. The truth of this is proved by the case of Mrs. Frank Ford, of Calgary, Alta. Mrs. Ford says: "I was an almost helpless cripple from rheumatism. It seemed to have settled in every joint. My arms and hands had to be bandaged. My ankles were so swollen that I had to use crutches. After doctoring for a long time and growing steadily worse, the doctor advised me to go to Banff Springs. I stayed there for eight weeks taking daily baths and returned home poorer in pocket by about $150 and not one bit improved in health. I then entered a local hospital, but did not derive any benefit. I was in such constant pain that I almost wished to die, and I felt sure I would be a life long cripple. It was at this stage that a friend who had been greatly benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills urged me to try them. I began the use of the Pills and after taking them a few weeks the swelling in the joints began to go down and the pain was relieved. This greatly encouraged me and I continued the treatment until in the course of three months the cure was complete. I had thrown away the crutches, could walk anywhere and do my own housework and I never felt better in my life than I do at the present time, and all this is due to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have also given the Pills to my daughter who suffered from anaemia and she has gained in flesh and become a strong, healthy girl."

If you are suffering from rheumatism or any weakness of the blood give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and they will speedily restore you to health and strength.
