A shoe manufacturer told the cost of living committee that a good serviceable shoe should retail for $8. Such a shoe would have cost $4 before the war; but for ladies' shoes, he declared, the sky was the limit, all depending on the kind of shoe that was wanted. It might be interesting to inquire who was primarily responsible for the sky-limit in ladies' shoes. Did the demand for such shoes come spontaneously from the women, or did the manufacturers create the demand by putting the shoes on the market?—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Threatened with a walkout of all its employees, who are demanding higher wages, the Canadian plant of the Brunner-Mond Company, at Amherstburg, a subsidiary of the Solway Company, Detroit, Tuesday closed its doors. The lockout affects several hundred men. According to officers of the company the plant will be closed four months. The decision to suspend was made because workmen brought in from outside cities have been agitating among employees for the formation of unions to force the company to grant increased wages. The plant, largest of its kind in the Dominion, commenced operations recently. A majority of the employees are local men.
