ARMISTICE DAY

Who will ever forget the tremendous outburst of joy which greeted the Armistice, November 11th, 1918. Men, women and children found it difficult to express to the full their unbounded delight. The streets were thronged with people hilariously happy and the churches were filled with those who wanted to express their deeper feelings of gratitude to God. The joy of that day was partly inspired by a sense of victory. At length the enemy had been beaten and forced to crave for terms. At length right and justice and truth were vindicated and a powerful foe humiliated. Victory crowned the cause of the Allies. It was, however, the simple knowledge that the war was over that inspired the greatest joy. No more slaughter of men on the battle front, no more telegrams of regret from the war office to those at home, no more horrors on sea and land. The world was emerging from the miseries of the dark valley and peace had come. We appreciated then as never before the full significance and value of peace. All right minded people today may well feel it their duty to promote in every way possible that good will and intelligent consideration which should exist between peoples of different nationalities and nations if peace is to be maintained.

Note and Comment

S. L. Squire, deputy minister of highways for Ontario, has amounced that a right-of-way rule for through traffic will come into effect at the beginning of next year on provincial highways. This means that all veh-icles will be compelled to come to a full stop before entering provincial highways from the intersecting road.

Note and Comment

Hon. George S. Henry, speaking before the Ontario Automobile Asseciation, gave voice to common sense when he stated: "I haven't any use for those slient policemen in the centre of a crossroads in a little hamlet. They are mostly placed there by high pressure salesmen. I have often felt like taking some of them on a lark night and dumping them into he lake."

Wentworth County Council recently passed a bylaw to require all vehicles using the highways after dark to carry lights. This is a safety measure which every motorist will welcome, and it is to be regreted that at the last of the control of the control of the chief of the control of the direction of the Chief election all the direction of the Chief election of the financial outlay is underthe direction of the Chief election of the financial outlay is underthe direction of the financial outlay is underthe direction of the financial outlay is a statutory provision of the Dominion Election Act.
