NORTH RANGE

The Methodist Church has been improved very much inside by new paint, carpets and etc. Mr. Young preached to a very attentive and appreciative audience on Sunday evening. Several from Plympton and Barton were noticed in the audience.

Miss Mary A. Thomas, Miss Annie M. Bragg spent Thanksgiving very pleasantly with Miss Phyllis Mallette at her home in South Range. Miss Mallette returned to her school in Aylesford Tuesday.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred near the R. R. crossing Wednesday night, when Mrs. H. Marr was thrown from a wagon on her way from the social at Mr. Ed. Bragg.

Am glad to report Mr. Charles Andrews much improved in health. His sister, Mrs. Jerry VanBerkert, who was with Mrs. Andrews, has returned to her home in Bloomfield. A social was held at the home of Mr. Edward Bragg on Wednesday evening, November 8th. The sum of $20.05 was realized, proceeds to go towards shingling church.

Mr. Arnold Height who is employed in Sydney, returned home last week to secure men for the lumber woods. Quite a number returned to Sydney with him on Friday the 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. John Balser and family, from Digby, were the Sunday guests of Mr. V. J. Andrews.

Miss Belva R. Height spent a few days recently with friends in Bear River.

Inspector M. C. Foster called on the N. R. school Nov. 8th.

DRASTIC REMEDIES FOR SICK MEN

New prohibition regulations which restrict a ship's liquor to medicinal purposes only, appear to be causing serious epidemics on trans-Atlantic liners. The President Van Buren of the United States Line, on her last westward voyage, brought to New York 100 passengers, all of them first class, and, according to the ship's surgeon, nearly every one of the 100 afflicted at some time on the trip with colds, chills, flu, la grippe, ague or some other allied ailment until it became known definitely that a passenger known to be near death before liquor enters into medicinal treatment. Then the health of the passengers showed a surprising improvement.

FIRST CLASS DRESSMAKING
