CURRENT TRADE CONDITIONS

ONTARIO.

A Toronto dealer who recently visited Georgian Bay points states that there is much activity in the shipping of lumber. Considerable stock sold some time ago is yet at the mills, but it is being cleared out as speedily as possible to make room for the new cut. The number of inquiries received for stock shows no falling out, and it is expected that a brisk fall trade will be experienced. Larger shipments than usual have been made to Chicago this season, and Michigan dealers have bought quite liberally on account of the decreased supply in that state. Log run white pine on the Georgian Bay brings from $17 to $18. Norway pine is meeting with a good demand, and recent sales have been at satisfactory figures. Local trade throughout the province is a little quiet, the demand from retailers having declined on account of a falling out in the prospective grain crop. In Toronto building lumber is being called for moderately, but retailers report less activity than earlier in the season. The outlook for hardwoods is still uncertain, although manufacturers appear to have every confidence that the demand will improve and that the present prices will be maintained. It is reported that the combine of furniture manufacturers is making a strong effort to depress hardwood prices in the hope of buying at rock-bottom figures.

QUEBEC AND NEW BRUNSWICK.

The shipments of lumber from the St. Lawrence to the United Kingdom during the month of July were comparatively light. Notwithstanding that the low freights are an incentive to send goods forward, it is expected that the exports from now until the close of the season will be limited, as shippers recognize the necessity of giving the British market an opportunity to recover. A few vessels have been chartered for September and October loading at 45 shillings, to Liverpool and London. Quebec spruce deals are a little stronger. A higher market for spruce is expected in the Eastern States this fall. Clapboards are selling quite freely, as is also cedar shingles, but very few sales of the latter have as yet been made above $2.50, on Boston rate of freight, although $3 is generally predicted by the leading manufacturers. Fully twenty million feet of logs are hung up on the St. John river, and cannot be moved before the fall rains, and perhaps not until next spring.

UNITED STATES.

The only conclusion that can be reached from a summary of reports is that the white pine trade of the United States is in a most prosperous condition. Not for many years has the stock of unsold lumber in the Lake Superior district been so small. At Ashland, Wis., the stock of unsold Norway and white pine is but 30,000,000 feet, as compared with 75,000,000 feet at the same time last year. Most of the large mills have contracted for the bulk of their seasons cut, Chicago parties having been heavy buyers of late. No. 4 boards are now selling in Duluth at $10.00, short Norway at $10.75, and 6-inch strips at $15.50. The lath market is strong, No. 1 white pine bringing $2.75, and No. 1 Norway $2.10 to $2.25. In the Saginaw valley white pine is moving freely and prices are stiffening, as stocks are somewhat broken. Log run is held at $18 to $22, box at $15 to $16, and mill culls at $12. The eastern wholesale markets are not as active as they have been, but dealers have enough orders ahead to keep them busy for several weeks. Notwithstanding large receipts, there is still a scarcity of true common and better at Tonawanda and Buffalo. Prices generally are firm, with the exception of box lumber, which is unsettled. Some dealers are reported to be offering this class of lumber at a reduction of $1 per thousand from late quotations. Such action is believed to be unwarranted, and other dealers have refused to meet the cut and will hold their stock until they can get what they regard as a fair price. The spruce trade is not active, but recent inquiries have developed a scarcity in certain sizes in the hands of New York and Boston dealers. Spruce lath is in good demand. The tone of the hardwood market is stronger. Inquiries are becoming more numerous, which leads to the conclusion that a brisk fall trade will develop. Some dealers report a good trade in birch.
