

Table 41 arrays reasons given by the 18% for thinking the federal government is doing a good job of assisting the adjustment process. The most frequently volunteered reason is the general view that the government is doing "everything [it] can" (i.e. the government's intentions are good) to assist Canadians adjusting to change, while 15% cite the federal government's training initiatives.

Table 41

Reasons For Believing Federal Gov't Doing A GOOD Job of Helping Adjustment Process - Volunteered Responses -

