

of nuclear power. It is our view that a conference devoted to this theme could be of shorter duration and of less cost than the Third International Conference in 1964, and still make a valuable contribution to the expansion of man's knowledge of the many benefits to be derived from the peaceful use of atomic energy.

Canada, accordingly, is pleased to be a co-sponsor of draft resolution A/L 537 and hopes that it will receive the unanimous support of the General Assembly. The Canadian delegation looks forward to considering at the twenty-third session of the General Assembly the recommendations of the Scientific Advisory Committee in respect of the agenda and other preparations for the Conference.
