

wheat crop, are now a personal matter to every child. Every family by developing back yard gardens is endeavoring to become less dependent on the store, and as such every home has a geographic setting. When a certain region is said to be noted for some commodity, it means that it has a surplus not needed for home consumption. So it is a good plan to study regions as being full of live people and to find out what they are doing, and why. Our children will thus be fitted to solve the great world problems of the future which at present no one can foresee.
