

But time will not allow me to delay longer. I have been unable to hear of any meteoric stones existing in this section, and should be very glad to gain information of any such, if existing. It may be a new object for our Hamilton naturalists to look out for in their rambles, and of peculiar interest as leading to the study of a branch of physics only recently attracting attention.