Success to The Globe:

Hearty congratulations on the completion of its new building and the strength of its new facilities. No paper is more liberal in its support of local interests and no journal is wider in its influence for good. All Toronto is happy in The Globe's enthusiasm, and it steps into its new home with the well-wishes of the entire community.

The Language of Plain Facts:

How many merchants consider flaming advertisements of incoherent things the alpha and omega of business push. The demand is for enterprise of a different sort, and what we're doing now is right in line with the best conception of progressive business. Collecting new goods of every worthy sort and making prices to your advantage is more likely to win trade than anything else we know of.

Facts are what you want—not fiction. These special values for Tuesday morning will knock all the romance out of shop-worn goods, no matter how sold. See the goods these prices represent:

CANADIAN COMMERCE WITH GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

The officials at Ottawa are to be censured for the inexcusable delay in issuing the Trade and Navigation Tables. These returns ought to be published and distributed within eight or ten weeks after the close of the fiscal year. In order that members of Parliament, the press, and the business community may have ample opportunity for examination and discussion of their contents before the opening of the succeeding session of Parliament.

From the tables for the year ending June 30, 1895, we have had compiled for the consideration of our readers the following:

Comparison of the value of the imports for consumption into the Dominion of Canada from Great Britain and the United States during the year ending June 30, 1895; also of the amounts of customs duties collected thereon:

Description of Merchandise.	Great Britain.	United States.

A BROKER ON YANKEE JINX.

Henry Clews, the New York broker, in his weekly letter to the most disinterested of the present situation in the United States lies in the trifling and indifferent attitude of Congress unsatisfactory to the progress under conditions which are trying to arouse, he says:

The Senator, who the other day presented a resolution defining the Monroe Doctrine, evidently thought he was making an effective appeal to the "gallies." He will soon discover he has not reckoned with the sober second thought of the people at large, which above all demands peace, and not foreign war, and last of all, war with Great Britain, the best customer for our products, and the country that, more than all others, combined with the United States, has the most distinguished itself in the history of the world.

There is no doubt that the country has been three times returned at the head of the poll for the local will have little trouble in securing the vacant seat, caused by the appointment of Hon. "Mike" Adams to the Senate. There is another feature of the present contest which clearly indicates the rather peculiar drift of provincial politics. Your informant alluded to the fact that, while Hon. Mr. Laurier is depending upon Premier Blair's assistance in the approaching general elections, a leading colleague of the New Brunswick Prime Minister is stumping his own County of Northumberland for the Ontario Ministry. He is the Hon. Mr. Tweedie, an able politician, and between the members and the electors of Northumberland they will make short work of the Hon. Mr. Mitchell.

A RUSSO-TURKISH ALLIANCE.

The news from Europe that an offensive and defensive alliance between Russia and Turkey is about to be entered upon is as startling as it is unexpected, and if it is confirmed the peace of Europe is likely to be broken at no very distant date.

The primary object of such an alliance means that Russia hopes there will be a Russian fleet in the Mediterranean, the entrance from the Mediterranean into the Black Sea. To all intents and purposes Constantinople would be a Russian city, and the ships of war belonging to the wily Muscovite could, if the treaty is allowed by the Great Powers to be consummated, pass freely to and from the Mediterranean.

It cannot for a moment be doubted that England at any rate would in all probability not only protest, in the first place through the usual diplomatic channels, but also such an alliance, but would, if it was persisted in regard to the act as a casus belli, and by armed interference, prevent, if possible, its being carried into effect. The outlook is not reassuring.

Supposing, though, England allowed such a treaty as has been named to be concluded, it would have other far-reaching consequences. It would gather a fleet in the Black Sea, could menace England's naval supremacy in the Mediterranean, and even if the latter had the help of France, Italy and Germany. Not only this, but Russia would consider the time opportune to push her claims in the Balkans, and to the northern provinces of India. True, the Ameer of Afghanistan is supposed to be an ally of England, but Britain has not the power to maintain such alliances as these.

In any case the outlook for long continued peace in Europe is not promising. It seems possible, may indeed, prove a most unfortunate one. The long England will be engaged in a life and death struggle with one, if not more of the European states, to retain her position in the world. Of the result of the war.

A CASE OF MOTHER-IN-LAW.

George Shanessy got playful with his mother-in-law and landed in jail.

George Shanessy, 24 years of age, was locked up in No. 4 station on Saturday night on a charge of assault and malicious injury to property, perpetrated by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Peterson, residing at the same address. A reporter called on Mrs. Peterson last evening, and she would tell the particulars to the magistrate in the morning. A young man, named Shanessy, was the son of the woman, and the old lady could not get on with her. She said about her in the paper, as she was an honest, upright woman.

Yesterday, however, the Court of Appeals, presided over by Sir Alex. Lacoste, decided that the hand of the sequestrator must be stayed, until the case has been heard in appeal.

LA PATRIE'S DISCOVERY.

La Patrie has made a discovery to the effect that Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the late Minister of the Interior, had sent one of the different bishops of Quebec and submitted for their consideration a bill, which the Ministry had proposed to bring before Parliament. The bill was a copy of the Remedial Bill, which the Ministry had proposed to bring before Parliament. The bill was a copy of the Remedial Bill, which the Ministry had proposed to bring before Parliament.

It is learned that Mr. J. B. Bourdon, formerly treasurer of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company, who was arrested on a charge of embezzling and subsequently released on bail, has been appointed a member of the Council of the City of Montreal.

THIRD PARTY IN DANGER.

SO A GENTLEMAN FROM NEW BRUNSWICK STATES.

Hon. Peter Mitchell's chances in Northumberland very slim—Mr. Hannaford and Mr. May's Important Decision Re the Chaleurs Railway—La Patrie Makes a Discovery.

Montreal, Jan. 26.—The political world need not be all surprised if the Third Party is destroyed at the coming election in Northumberland, as the observation made by your correspondent yesterday by a New Brunswick gentleman, who appears to think Hon. Peter Mitchell's chances of election are exceedingly slim, especially since the Liberal-Conservatives have succeeded in inducing Mr. Robinson, M.L.A., to stand in the Government interests. This gentleman reports that Sir Peter's alleged popularity is not to be found just now in large quantities.

It is not surprising that there should be a good deal of talk in railway and business circles over the rather sudden departure of Mr. Edmund P. Hannaford, from the position of chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway, although there is but one opinion in commending the wisdom of the management in making Mr. Hannaford's successor.

It is said the little trouble between the new manager and the retiring chief engineer took place two or three weeks ago. One afternoon, so rumor puts it, the general manager had sent Mr. Hannaford to his home, Mr. Haves, who is a hatter from 9 a.m. till late at night, immediately after the departure of Mr. Hannaford, dictating a circular to the heads of the different departments of the Grand Trunk Railway, informing them that their presence was required in their respective offices from 9 in the morning.

In the afternoon, this no doubt, appeared a little harsh to a gentleman like Mr. Hannaford, who had been far as this world's goods are concerned, is far from being a poor man. It is said that the ex-engineer-in-chief of the Grand Trunk will issue a parting address to those who have so long served him, and again, who are now his superiors.

Mr. Thompson, who is an exceedingly handsome brunette, about 25 years of age, told us that he had been married last night that she and her husband came to Toronto from Belleville, where they were married five years ago last October. Since removing to this city their domestic life has not been happy, and she left him a year and a half ago because he would not support her, and she worked for several families in a laundry.

Mr. Thompson stated that his husband has visited her on several occasions lately and has asked her to come and live with him again. This she refused to do.

Thompson was round early on Saturday afternoon, and he was in a state of liquor and renewed his proposals, but she again rejected it, whereupon he went to the police station and told them that she had better get ready to "die with her boots on," as he was a married man, and he would not let her go. He said that he was not afraid of him. He replied that he had not a revolver with him, and he would not let her go. He said that he was not afraid of him.

Thompson then drew a revolver from inside his pocket and pointed it at his wife, who jumped toward him and grasped his hand just as he pulled the trigger. This act would have saved his life as the bullet missed its mark and buried itself in the wall. The woman was murdered, and she was found dead in the house, and she was found dead in the house, and she was found dead in the house.
