_____ When You Meet Your Friends In China---

In China one takes off one's spectacles, instead of one's hat, in meeting friends on the street. Chinese spectacles are so disfiguring that they are afraid their friends would not recognize them if they were not removed. Quite a contrast to the graceful spectacle fitting as practiced at the Brown Optical Co., five minutes from anywhere downtown and at Montreal and Windsor.

Engine Whistle Blown.

Two motor trucks were badly damaged and their drivers, Arthur Leff and Arthur Clemens, of this city, narrowly escaped death when a G. T. R. work train crashed into them at the William street crossing Monday afterwork train crashed into them at the William street crossing Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The truck, owned by Leff & Co., was completely demolished, while the truck driven by Clemens, and owned by Tune & Co., had the two front wheels smashed.

The two trucks were proceeding south on William street. As they approached the tracks the drivers saw no watchmen standing on the crossing to signal them, so thinking the way was clear, they started across the tracks. to signal them, so thinking the way was clear, they started across the tracks. The G. T. R. work train approached at a slow rate of speed from the east at that moment. It struck the truck owned by Leff & Co. amidships, rolling it over against Tune's truck, which was also crossing, but on the right side of the road. The impact broke the two wheels from the body of Tune's truck.

Despite the fact the trucks were so badly damaged, both drivers escaped with slight injuries. Arthur Leff was badly shaken and slightly bruised.

The conductor of the train stated that the whistle of the engine was blown for the crossing, but both of the men said that they did not hear it.

Aim To Get in Touch With Those Not Attending
Church,
To get the citizens more interested in the men's brotherhood work and to bring them in closer contact with what the brotherhoods are doing for the welfare of mankind, it was decided to hold a banquet on September 32 in the city, where everyone will be invited. The main feature of the big get-together idea will, however, be the addresses by many eminent personages from all over the world, who are sathering in America to attend the addresses by many eminent personages from all over the world, who are sathering in America to attend the world will attempt to get some of the most noted. Among those who are scheduled to attend the conference are: Laddy Astor, M. The banquet which was proposed will probably be the largest baquet everheld in London. It is the hope of the officers and those who Are the hope of the officers and those who Are the hope of the officers and those who Are the mine of gether, and have them mingle more with men who are interested in their welfare.

It was claimed by one of the speakers that there is a large number who have never read the Bible, and who very seldom go to church out. Whom the irrotherhoods wish to get in touch with their object being to make them better citizens. It was also pointed out that their object being to make them better citizens. It was also pointed out that many of these men probably do not attend because they believe that there will be some expense attached to it. This is the main object of the carry on in his place. Cullen Landes as the hero is clever in his characterization, and Willard Louis as Larry Glass, his trainer, is one of the best farce characters that has appeared to date. The plot is one wild and joyful series of those complications which make farce-comedy what it is.

The short comedy film shows the excitements of moving day and the trials of a young husband whose wife wants to move simply that she may find a suitable spot to put the pretty lamp mamma gave her. A set of moving men, such as the caption states, "are found only in the movies" add to the development of the story in a most unexpected way.

A charming overture "The Golden Girl," by the Allen concert orchestra. a news film and "The Illiterate Digest" complete the bill, which will be repeated today and Wednesday.

BOLSHEVISM.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have read your editoria, of a few days ago, "The Red Menace," and also the pointed and pithy remarks anent the same subject by the front page writer in Toronto Saturday Night last week. They present a pleasing and illuminating contrast with the warped and one-sided effusions of Mrs. Harriet by Dunlop Prenter of Toronto. It is a pity that a woman of outstanding literary ability like Mrs. Prenter should be so carried away by the insidious red propaganda that unfortunately is spreading even in Canada, as to distort and misrepresent the Russian situation.

Mrs. Prenter whines: "My whole contention was and is that we have no possible warrant for interference with Russia." Oh! not even, I suppose, if the divery existence of the British Empire and civilization was at stake? What about the insidious and diabolical propaganda the dictators, Lenine and Trotsky, are carrying on in nearly all civilized countries to tear down the structure of public law and order, the work of centuries, and substitute anarchy and a ruthless military dictatorship every-are the content of public law and order, the work of centuries, and substitute anarchy and a ruthless military dictatorship every-are are configuration. Ont., Aug. 28, 1920. "The greatest treat in years" was the unanimous verdict of an audience that packed the Grand Opera House to capacity last night for the musical extravaganza, "Hello Alexander."

McIntyre and Heath, the veteran minstrels, had the stellar roles. They had a big evening's work to do, and it was done in a way that kept the audience enthuusiastically applauding. James McIntyre took the role of Alexander, man of all work and former James McIntyre took the role of Alexander, man of all work and former minstrel, while Thomas K. Heath had the part of Henry Clay Jones, proprietor of the Everyday Colored Minstrels.

Their work was of the clean-cut snappy variety that invariably makes a hit. Their humor was sparkling and was never forced. While there was a good dea of horseplay it was genuinely funny, and for minutes at a time the audience was kept rocking with laughter. ter,
