A NEW POLICY FOR ONTARIO AND THE DOMINION.
Both Ontario and the Dominion need each to adopt a still more progressive policy in regard to our North Shore country, the region between Sudbury and Port Arthur, or to make it wider, between Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing on one side and Manitoba on the other.

It is in part the country of Sir William Van Horne's spot to the western hopper; it is Mr. Mann's handle of the dumbbell, the balls of which are Ontario and the east and Manitoba and the west. Some of us call it New Ontario. Others Silverland, the country west of Ottawa. But by whatever name it is a great country, notwithstanding that it is rocky, dreary cold in winter, inhospitable. But it is a country of rivers and lakes; of game and fish and a tourist land; it is rich in gold, silver, iron, nickel, copper; it has cheap ports for coal all along its lake shores; it is no hard thing to canalize the French River from Georgian Bay to North Bay so as to put cheap coal up near the silver mines; it has farming lands to be opened up by the progressive settler, and there are still lots of settlers who'd sooner go to a wood country than a prairie; there are limits of pine and pulp; enough water power to run all kinds of industries, even electric iron smelting, when it arrives, as it must arrive. And it has many more things.

Our mistake is in thinking of it as a strip. It is at least 250 miles wide—from the lake shore to the new Transcontinental line. It can go hundreds of miles back and will. It is no strip, it is no hopper, it is no handle of a dumbbell. It is a great kingdom, marvelously wealthy. But for climate and rock-ribbed towns, it is hard to open up. We believe it will be the seat of ports, towns, cities, industries, farmers, the resort of tourists, contain railways to Hudson's Bay, many other things.

But it is slow in opening up, and it must be opened up so as to make Canada a connected, undivided country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. We cannot afford to have the east and the west joined by a tape. We must have continuous trade and industries. Our lines of trade must be east and west and that, in the last resort, will be our main reason for continuing the national policy of protection. Not that agricultural implements for our western farmers should cost more if made in Ontario than in Iowa or Chicago. We believe it is possible to have a tariff and yet be able to sell automobiles and reapers to Canadians at British-American prices. But we must never let the Dominion be split in two at Lake Superior! It must be a bond, not a break.

Let us keep our eyes on the new proposal of reciprocity of trade with the United States. Keep our eyes on the Canadians who are tripping across the line to praise Taft, say we're for closer trade, etc. That means helping to break Canada in two at the Big Lake. The first thing is to keep our trade lines east and west by national policy and by a railway policy. We have the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Grand Trunk Pacific. We want the Dominion to uphold the trade policy and to help build the missing link of the Canadian Northern from near Sudbury to Port Arthur and midway between the two other lines. Both of the old lines were subsidized by the Dominion; why not the new line that hopes to make its headquarters in Toronto? So also must the province help the middle road. But Ontario must do much more to develop this great land which is hers more than the Dominion's. The wealth will be ours. The trade will be for Ontario. Ontario manufacturing towns will control the markets of the west if we have railway competition, and development of the Lone Mid-Land. There can be immense ore mines, smelters, rolling mills at Port Arthur or along the north shore. Thousands and thousands of men can be employed, markets found for local farmers. But we've got to get it going and now is the time to start it. Just another, pack on your back, Sir James, but you will find the people with you in the work. And so also must the federal chiefs do their part.

The richest land in all Canada is to be in that same wild North Shore country. But we must open it up ourselves. No one else will, and it is a government proposition, a proposition for the two governments.

THE BICYCLE AND RIDER.

The bicycle is still the most useful as well as the cheapest aid to man, woman and child in getting about. It is a rubber-tired motor, but the only engine in it is the rider; it is ever so much lighter and much more reliable than the flying machine. The rider is his own machinist. It goes where neither automobile nor flying machine, nor horse and buggy can go. It has the speed of the trolley car at its best; you can leave it anywhere and it will not run away; it needs no gasoline or energy from a wire. A man can walk with one at a 20-foot stride; his weight is taken off the feet; it invigorates as well as serves as a vehicle of travel. And a man who keeps himself in trim for a bicycle and keeps his machine in good shape is about the most fit individual we have—a man who keeps himself at the bicycle standard is a useful citizen and a public asset.

EDITORS IN THE NORTH.

One hundred and thirty, "able editors," as Thomas Carlyle was fond of denominating them, touring around in the north country, is a sufficiently notable phenomenon, and as far as Ontario is concerned, of very much greater importance than the visit of the comet. If the comet gets more space, the editor, who is born to blush unseen when he blushes at all, will not mind, for he knows that he can fill space in his paper when the comet is reveling in space of another color. And this is just what the editor is expected to do, and if he tells his readers all he saw in Silverland and Cochrane town and the regions round about, he will do much to stop the deplorable migration westwards. Ontario must keep her sons, and she must get as many from old Britain as possible to build up the vast territory of the clay belt. The editors saw all things in a favorable light, and perhaps they may not appreciate all the hardships involved in subduing a new land, but pioneers have a giant optimism which difficulties will not dispel, and to hear of the good things that are to be had will inspire many to go in spite of the disadvantages that can be encountered. Meanwhile the able editors will diffuse knowledge of Northern Ontario to their readers and the effect upon the census will appear in due season.

Both Races Satisfied.
LONDON, May 22.—A Cape Town despatch says there is intense satisfaction in both British and Dutch circles that Botha is going to form a cabinet. June 25, Victoria's coronation day, is suggested as suitable for the celebration of Empire Day.

EMPIRE DAY CONCERT COMES OFF BRILLIANTLY

Splendid Audience Enjoy the School Children's Singing at Massey Hall.

"Empire Day" Public School concert, held last night at Massey Hall, was the most successful yet in the history of this popular musical function. As in the past, "fond parents" whether they had a child or not amongst the 700 choristers and soloists on the stage, packed the auditorium and galleries to the utmost, and were splendidly enthusiastic in their applause. The only real fault with the program was its length and its style of make-up. There were too many choruses; there were too many competitions; and Inspector Hughes was too loquacious. Whereas the expediency of a hubbaloob in what in itself could easily have proved a genuinely excellent amateur concert.

Fine Choruses.
The choruses, part songs and solos were, considering the youthfulness of the singers, really remarkable, and the Superior Vocalists, who the past year have trained the public school chorists, certainly excelled his past performances, as evidenced by the full and unanimous approval of the judges. The emotional expression disclosed in the choruses heard last night in Massey Hall.

To describe in detail all the qualities of the various part songs, choruses and competition singing would require a column or more. But of special interest was the "double trio" competition for the Dr. Howe shield. In this the Dovercourt school double trio, consisting of the three boys, won again. Their competitors were the Bolton-avenue school double trio. And Dr. Vogt, who was adjudicator, was quite right in saying that the latter were in mere throne of tonal shading somewhat better than the Dovercourt trio, but that on the whole the "three boys" were the winners. The three boys were congratulated on their repeated successes.

Recitation Hit.
Immediately following the trio competition came a little far too dressed daintily in blue. She was Miss Dahlia Pears of Crawford-street school, and was heard in a popular recitation, "Canadian Day." In and by itself it was the real hit of the evening. She showed herself a genuine elocutionist. Her voice rang out clear, her enunciation was unmistakable and her gestures apt and inspiring. She was presented with a gold medal, specially given by Inspector Hughes.

The hand of the conductor, Mr. Hartman, played excellently. Mr. A. T. Cringan, Mus. Bac., proved a capable adjudicator in the solos. J. D. Logan.

In connection with the table d'hôte service which has been established in the great American dining-room of the Hotel Edward Hotel, elaborate musical programmes are furnished at luncheon and dinner. The arrangements are being taken advantage of by many smart people who are entertaining during the races. The tariff of one dollar per person for the table d'hôte service is a very moderate one, considering the quality of the King Edward service.

Will Form Living Flays.
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 23.—(Special)—Fred Klute of Nebraska, who claimed that he lost over $8000 on a trip around the globe, was here today to testify before a jury in the case of the Niagara Falls Living Flays. After La Grippe

"I had suffered several weeks with LaGrippe. Had pains in my head and eyes. It felt as though there was a heavy weight on the top of my head, until it seemed that my brain would burst. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. When I dozed off I would awake with a sudden jerking of my whole body. Dr. Miles' Nerve, Heart Remedy and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. A number of friends have since realized the same benefits."

MRS. ALVIN H. LOCKS,
Seabrook, N. H.
The after effects of LaGrippe are often more serious than the disease, as it leaves the system in a weakened condition that invites more serious troubles, such as pneumonia, etc.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve should be taken for some time to thoroughly restore nerve strength.
