HELPING SURVIVORS IN NORTHERN ONTARIO

Suffragists' War Auxiliary Open Headquarters for Reception of Clothes.

The Suffragists' War Auxiliary of Toronto have taken the practical step of opening their rooms at 461 Yonge street for the reception of clothes for the sufferers by the fire of northern Ontario. They are meeting with a very fair response and will continue to receive offerings until Friday, and later if there is need.

They emphasize the fact that clothes should not be sent in unless they are wearable. A letter has been received from Mr. Howard Ferguson, Canadian Pacific, who is sent as asking that the clothes be sent as soon as possible. The women are working in conjunction with the crown lands department, to which they offered their services as soon as word came of the northern tragedy.

AIM AT TEN THOUSAND MONTH FOR RED CROSS

New Montreal Club Will Assist Greatly in Patriotic Work.

Among those who have joined the 10,000 Red Cross Club of Montreal are 40 young women of the head office staff of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The obligation which the members take upon themselves is to give one dollar monthly to the club, with the object of securing a monthly "uranion" of $10,000 for Red Cross supplies, demands upon which are "day increasing."

It is estimated that if this object be attained, the value of the monthly collection will be increased threefold thru the work of the women workers who will expend their energies on the material that will be bought with the money given by the 10,000 members.

FIVE THOUSAND TO HELP CANADIANS IN GERMANY

Controller Cameron said he would support $5,000 now and another like sum at a later date.

Political Intelligence

All eyes are now on Southwest Toronto—except those of N. W. Rowell, who is in England, and Premier Hearst, who left for that much-perturbed refuge last night—but still to them a place where the wicked cease from troubling and the thirsty are refreshed!

Perhaps Colonel and Doctor Pyne, who goes with Mr. Hearst, goes as physician-in-chief to a political mind disturbed, to a body fatigued with the ardors of beating Rowell at his own game. Some irreverent persons are saying that neither Rowell nor Hearst will ever come back to their jobs, and that great changes will be effected in their absence. Dr. Pyne is an omni-competent. Somehow the Hon. Doc. has found it more pleasant to be away from Queen's Park rather than near it. Is he, too, off on a long journey? Have Mr. Hearst and the doctor gone out of the range of Southwest Toronto for their health?

The great Tory majority in that constituency is without a shepherd, even without a faithful collie to round them up. Mr. McGarry and Mr. Ferguson are from the east, unused to Toronto ways in politics, and, therefore, afraid to go out at night. There are so many kinds of breeds in the flock—two kinds of Irish, Hebrews, Italians, aristocrats, workmen, and men who like to have a drink—as well as a few temperance workers. It's the prohibition issue; also the fear of nickel paralysis, that keeps these budding ministers within the confines of the park.

"Let the leaders be licked with sticks they cut for others' backs" is the dominant note in Conservative ranks at the moment. If this is done Mr. McGarry and Mr. Ferguson hope to be able to recover some of the lost ground by a new formation. In the meantime one disturbed Tory frantically rushed out of a ward meeting last night and "hollered for Adam," presumably for Sir Hydro, to come to the relief of the leaderless thousands.

Next to Sir Adam, Tommy Church is being loudly called for to seize the independent hydro-electric Conservative banner in his hand and rush into the howling breach, no matter what happens him once he is there. Tommy in the legislature as armor-bearer to Sir Adam would be a chivalric sight.

Sir John Willison is ready to advise, to preach, to serve, to save if it can be done, but he, too, thinks more of imperial affairs than he does of colonial muddles. Nevertheless, a deputation, headed by Mr. J. W. Flavelle, George Gooderham, A. E. Kemp, Frank Cochrane and S. Frank Wilson, will wait on him this morning, asking him to be the candidate.

But the old party is in dire distress over this prohibition and the nickel business, and it begins to suspect that some one put it all over them. Mr. Hearst, they now think, ran them up against trenches filled with real soldiers, armed with machine guns. In the meantime, Mr. Hearst, accompanied by the army colonel-doctor, is rushing away to lines in England, where even knight-hoods are still in flower.

In the meantime, the Liberals are smacking their chops at one moment, the next looking up the street to see if the undertaker's wagon is coming round the corner. But they may still have to supply the corpses.

Taking things all together and severally, it looks as if Mr. Harry Winsberg, the distinguished editor of our esteemed Jewish contemporary, is about the fittest peg for a very knotty hole in Southwest Toronto. His name at least sounds well to a lot of thirty citizens who foresee a long and trying drought.

TRADE WAR COMING ASQUITH'S PROPHECY

He Defends Resolutions Passed at Economic Conference in Paris.

GERMANS ORGANIZING

Allies' Eyes Opened as to Extent of Foe's Commercial Designs.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Premier Asquith on opening the discussion in the house of commons today on the resolution of the Paris economic conference, said the British Government had entered the conference with two objects in view. The first was to convince the central powers that the entire policy, whatever their views on the economic policy, were resolved to wage war in complete unity and determination in economic as in military spheres. The second was to make preparations for the period following the declaration of peace in view of the known attitude and will of the Germans.

"Our eyes have been opened," said the premier, "as to the meaning of the manifold ramifications of the German system of economic penetration and commercial and financial control of vital interests, and to the use to which with advantage this system could be put in time of war."

A Radical Change. The government added the premier, was in consultation with labor representatives with a view to the formulation of an after-the-war policy in social and industrial matters intended to secure a fairer distribution among all classes of the results of modern industry.

Premier Asquith said he was under an obligation to see that the benefits of the new policy were appropriated fairly at the Paris conference, but the government would consult with labor at every stage of the formulation of an after-the-war policy.

Reviewing the situation in general, Premier Asquith emphasized two points, first, the determination of the allies to obtain reparation for the devastated areas, and second, that "these resolutions are not aimed at neutrals."

Free Trade's Weakness. Andrew Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, admitted that Great Britain had accumulated enormous wealth under free trade, but reminded his hearers that Great Britain's command of the sea did not depend on free trade, and if they could imagine Great Britain placed in Germany's position of having all external trade severed, he would ask how long Great Britain would have been able to do what Germany has done in carrying on the war from the viewpoint of military strength.

He believed the effect of the tariff was greatly exaggerated on both sides. It was really a question of organization, he said, and the conference resolutions really aimed at making the nations independent of Germany with regard to vital industries hitherto controlled by Germany.

SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR EX.

Music Lovers Visiting Fair Will Have Little Cause for Complaint.

CONWAY'S BAND LEADS

Ten Organizations on Ground in Daytime and Eight at Night.

An excellent band program has been arranged by the Canadian National Exhibition and music lovers should have little cause to complain regarding the quality of the music provided. In all there will be at least ten bands on the grounds each day and eight at night. Over 300 musicians will take part in the Empire Federation Spectacle, the grand stand pageant.

The program is to be led by Conway's band of soloists. Director Conway is generally regarded as the American successor to Gilmore and his was one of the few musical organizations at the Panama Pacific Exposition. He is particularly gifted as a program maker, presenting a happy combination of the classic and popular airs. It was impossible to secure any of the British bands, but there are still a couple of contracts outstanding there and as soon as the war is over the visits, so much enjoyed by Canadian music lovers, will be repeated.

The Toronto Symphony Band has also been engaged for the two weeks. Other Toronto bands to be heard will be the Royal Grenadiers 48th Highlanders, Queen's Own Governor General's Body Guards and the Russian Boys' Band, which has received very flattering notice of late as a result of several American engagements.

The outside bands will include the Preston Silver Band, 15th of Hamilton, 7th Regiment of London, 19th Regiment of St. Catharines, 57th of Peterborough and the Guelph City Band.

Aside from the band music a choir of 60 voices arranged for the spectacle will undoubtedly prove a treat.

HORWOOD ADMITS SWEARING FALSELY

Says He Tried to Deceive Liberals of Accounts Committee.

FOR CAMPAIGN FUND

Money Taken From Contractor Used for That Purpose.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 2.—W. W. Horwood admitted under cross-examination this afternoon in the trial of the Manitoba ex-minister that he swore falsely while under oath before the public accounts committee of the legislature early last year. He said he was trying to deceive "only the Liberal portion" of the committee. A. J. Andrews, K.C., asked many questions about his evidence before the house accounts committee and at the preliminary trial of Sir Rodmond Roblin, G. B. Caldwell and J. H. Howard. Horwood counsel objected vigorously to much of the questioning, and E. A. Bonnar, K.C., complained that Mr. Andrews was "trying to bulldoze" the witness.

Horwood said that as provincial architect he took his instructions from the minister of public works, and never considered the public at all or that he had any duty to the public.

Contractor Kelly said the witness always assured him that in the Parliament Buildings he was "building a monument."

Horwood said that outside the campaign fund he was not a party to any scheme or conspiracy or to any wrongdoing.

"The scheme was to get out of the extra sufficient money for a campaign fund," asked counsel. Horwood answered "Yes."
