Synopsis of Canadian North-west Land Regulations

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Ap-plicants must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the area in which the land is situated, and must be a Canadian citizen or a person who has been naturalized in Canada, or a person who has been naturalized in another country and who has been a resident of that country for at least one year immediately preceding his application.

On certain conditions, a homestead-er may acquire a quarter-section of land in the Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency) on certain conditions.

Around the Farm

Why are eggs dear? Here is the answer of a man in charge of a well-laid-out poultry yard on a big farm near To-ronto. "Scarcity of grain this year. We have only a few wheat screenings; our crop of buckwheat failed; we can't spare oats or barley, and two bags of cracked corn that I bought from a feed store cost double the price of former years. I was late in getting my hens started, and I have nearly 200 high-class birds, I am not getting more than a dozen eggs a day. And, once you get them started, you have to keep them fed and looked after, so that they will keep on laying. It doesn't pay to allow hens to fall down in the habit of laying. But I hope in a week or two to get a hundred eggs a day, but the hens will cost a lot to feed and keep. If they don't lay soon, I'll have to sell a pen of old hens for poultry."

At Carleton Place Fair, turkeys sold at 30c to 40c, decent ducks 20c, and chickens from 15c to 25c.

At the Saturday market at Barrie, but-ter clung tenaciously around the forty-cent mark. Very few eggs were offered. Dressed chickens could be had for 90c.

P. J. Russell, manager of The Van-couver-Prince Rupert Meat Co., one of the largest factors in the western live stock business, is reported by The Cal-gary News-Telegram as saying: "The farmers never took greater care in choos-ing their breed animals, and they never were in a better way so far as live stock is concerned. In the year was broken out and the eight months following, a de-crease in stock took place. The farmers had poor luck with their crops, and many were quite discouraged. The result was that many hogs and cattle were sacrific-ed, many that should have been kept for breeding purposes having to go. The high prices have encouraged farmers to start breeding again. The next few years will see a remarkable growth in the number of cattle and hogs in Al-berta."

Altho the Bingley Hall show is sus-pended this year Birmingham does not mean to lose its hold on the cattle breed-ers of the country. The show and sale of short-horns held in the Repertory Nov. 8 was an unqualified success, and a great improvement on any gathering hitherto held in Moseley street. Buyers attended from all over the British Isles, and the immense popularity of the red, white and black was again demon-strated. Many farmers who came to buy young bulls had to go home without them. They waited for the youngsters, and found them dearer than the older ani-

The last farmers' market there eggs sold at 42c; butter at 40c, and potatoes at $2.25 a bag.

Mrs. Wiggenon, who owns a farm on the Bayfield road, near Clinton, has leased to A. Blacklock of Moncton, who takes possession in the spring, Mr. Blacklock is a Belgian and a successful farm-er.

What to do with old mills down in val-leys when electric power takes the place of water-wheels. Move them up on high ground on a good road, more accessible to customers. If you can't move, im-prove the road down to the mill. But not many more mills are being built in the valleys. The best place for a mill is at a railway siding, with electric power led to it, and near a farmers' road.

According to The New York Journal of Commerce, exploitation rather than scarcity is the real cause of the re-cent advance in the price of food, pro-ducts to the consumer, according to the suspicion entertained by many officials of the administration. This is the rea-son President Wilson failed to discuss the matter in his annual message to con-gress. There are probably a few excep-tions, but for the most part the depart-ment of agriculture has discovered that the food production in the United States during the past ten or fifteen years has kept pace with the increase of popula-tion, and in some instances, the food production per capita has increased dur-ing this time. The production per head of meat in the United States in 1909 was estimated by the department of agri-culture at 212 pounds, whereas in 1915 it was 219 pounds. The production of milk in 1905 was 81 gallons per capita, and in 1915 75.5 gallons; of poultry, 5.3 in
