WHY MAN ELEVATES HIS FEET. It is an admitted fact that a man rests much more easily with his feet on another chair, or—in the privacy of his own room—perch with his feet on the table, but it is not always understood why this is a more restful attitude. Perhaps women do the same thing in the privacy of their own apartments, but as no one ever is supposed to know this, the question must be left open. If they do, however, it is equally sure they gain a greater sense of rest thereby. The reason for it is not always realized, yet it is very simple.

The hardest piece of work the body does is the continual pumping of the blood. Not to burden the reader with statistics, let it merely be said that the heart beats with a normal pulse of seventy-eight beats to the minute, and that with every beat the ventricles of the heart have contracted, having driven the blood with tremendous force into the arteries, the arteries sucking back the blood by a tremendous pull through the veins. The blood passages are narrow and the force exerted must be great to keep the current flowing swiftly without a moment's pause.

It is easier to keep a channel filled when it is upon the level than when the force needs to be exerted up and down. Water will flow almost of itself on a slight grade, but greater power is needed to bring up water from a deep well. When a man is standing up, or when he is sitting with his feet upon the floor, the heart has to drag a considerable portion of the blood up the whole length of the legs. When a man's feet are on another chair a considerable strain upon the heart is relieved, and when his feet are on the table, the position requiring a reclining posture, the greater blood vessels of the abdomen are nearer the level of the heart, and consequently the sense of relief is still greater.—Chicago Tribune.

It is officially announced that the British troops did not, as reported, capture German positions near La Bassée and make a gain of a mile. The British steamer, Penarth 21 on the Norfolk, Eng., coast today and 21 men were drowned. Fifty barrels of elder were used to put out a fire on the estate of George Jennings of Bridgeport, Conn., when a well was exhausted.

WHY CAN DOYLE'S SELL Choice meats at lowest prices? Because 1. They sell for spot cash and have no uncollected bills. 2. They buy their meats alive in the country for spot cash, and therefore save the middleman's profit. 3. They have no extra expenses, such as bookkeeping, printing, collecting and other such work which is necessary with a credit business, therefore it pays to pay cash at Doyle's.

TERENCE O'ROURKE AT THE IMPERIAL. Tonight and all day Tuesday the third chapter of Lou Joseph Vance's thrilling romance "Terence O'Rourke, Adventurer Gentleman," will be presented by J. Warren Kerrigan, a strong supporting company of the Victor corporation. The installment is entitled "The Inn of the Winged God" and includes some masterly duelling of the old romantic school. The play shows our heroine thwarting the desperate plans of a gang of thieves hounded by her rascal uncle, Selig Weidely and a bubbling comedy, complete the programme, except for "The Inn of the Winged God," a splendid Keith act of the singing and dancing order—Mack & Williams. This lady and gentlemen have come directly to St. John from the B. F. Keith Theatre, Philadelphia, and are regarded as among the best exponents of their particular art in an up-to-date vaudeville. Miss Gertrude Ashe will continue as soprano soloist.

CATHEDRAL WEDDING A very pretty wedding took place this morning in the Cathedral when Rev. William Duke united in marriage Raymond M. Tobias and Emelia M. Stephen. The bride looked charming in a costume of white silk poplin, with bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. The bridal party then repaired to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tobias, 18 Brunswick street. Mr. and Mrs. Tobias received many beautiful presents. A celebration in honor of the occasion commenced on Saturday night.

The Best Quality at a Reasonable Price If A Friend Should Say To You "Bill, old man, you can add an hour or two to the day" would you suspect him of trying to spring a new "catch" on you? We say that to you in all seriousness, it's a hard common sense fact. For if you don't carry a good watch, you can, by buying one, add an hour or two to each day. What is a good watch? You can't make a mistake in buying a Howard, a Hamilton, a Waltham, or a Decimal. The first three have been the standards of good watches in America for several decades—and the Decimal is a watch made especially for you by one of the foremost Swiss factories. We have the style of watch you want—including those convenient Thin Models—and we'll guarantee both watch and price to be satisfactory. Stop in and have a close look at our watches. L. L.
