PRIVATE CURRALL'S CASE

It has been often said that "Clothes make the man," but irrespective of the truth or otherwise of the adage, Howard Currall, of the 6th Battalion knows that when it comes to being liberated after a siege of sickness, they are a mighty important adjunct to securing a discharge from hospital. Reference has been made before in the Times to Private Currall's case. He was taken ill several weeks ago at Sussex Camp, was for a week in hospital there, and then removed to St. John to the General Public Hospital.

He was brought here on a cot, clad only in hospital garments, but expecting that his uniform would be sent after him, for how can a soldier fight if he has naught but a "nightie"? Although repeated requests were sent to Sussex for the clothes, no uniform was forthcoming, and yesterday he was given his discharge from the hospital without it. Oh, yes, he got other clothes, his former civilian "toys" which he had put aside when donning the khaki, but he feels somewhat disheartened at the loss of the latter.

ST. JOHN PEOPLE ON OUTING HAVE THRILLING TIME IN NEPISIGUIT

Simen A. Jones, Wife, Son, Daughter and Miss Schofield Have Fight For Life in River Rapids

A party of well known St. John people have returned to the city after a fishing trip which concluded with an experience at once startling and dangerous in which for a time lives were in great peril. Mr. and Mrs. Simen A. Jones, their twelve year old son, Ronald, the seven year old daughter, Margaret, and Miss Clara Schofield composed the party. In a big canoe, accompanied by two guides, on Wednesday of last week, the party set out to cross the Nepisiguit river which had been greatly swollen by heavy rains. A very strong current was running and the pitches just a short distance below were threatening. In some manner the proper grasp of the canoe was lost in the rapidly running stream, the craft capsized and the struggle for life began. All seven of the occupants were thrown into the waters rushing to the pitches a few yards below.

How the St. John people managed to escape from the surging, seething rush of water is most remarkable. Young Ronald Jones proved himself a hero and a man though only twelve years old, while all the members of the party displayed a coolness and nerve which helped carry them through. Mr. Jones bore little the Margaret to safety, his wife swam to a nearby rock from where she was rescued with difficulty, while young Ronald and Miss Schofield had a severe battle against the powerful current, clinging to the upturned canoe. The guides got one on either side of the river, rendering help in this manner. Mr. Jones has many bruises especially upon his hands and legs and the same is true with his son, Ronald, from contact with rocks in the turbulent waters, but as they were carried over two dangerous pitches, one right after another, it is almost miraculous that the injuries of all were not more serious, or that all escaped with their lives.

ST. JOHN WOMEN ARE ASKED TO HELP OUR PRISONERS IN GERMANY

Request Comes From Duchess of Connaught—Plan Outlined—All Urged to Assist

The executive of the Women's Canadian Club was called together on Monday afternoon by Mrs. H. A. Powell, the first vice-president, at the request of the president, Mrs. Kuhling. Those present included Lady Tilley, Mrs. James H. Frink, Mrs. Geo. McAvity, Mrs. John McAvity, Mrs. Murry Miles, Mrs. R. O'Brien, Miss Grace Leavitt, Miss Alice K. Walker, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. H. Lawrence and Miss Lillian Hansen representing the Canadian Club, the provincial and local branches of the Red Cross Society, the Daughters of the Empire and the Field Comforts Association.

Mrs. Powell explained the object of the meeting by reading the following letter which was sent to the president of the St. John Women's Canadian Club by Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught:

Government House
Ottawa, July 10, 1915.

Dear Madam:—I am permitted to draw your attention to the good work in which the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club have been co-operating with the Canadian Red Cross Society in the relief of the Canadian prisoners of war in Germany. I feel sure that if your club is not already working for this good object it will at once co-operate with what is being done by the Canadian Red Cross on behalf of these prisoners.

There are a great number of Canadian prisoners of war in Germany and although they are being treated humanely they are devoid of comforts—in many cases necessities—and it is possible for these to be sent from England via Holland.

Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley, convener of the "Prisoners of War Department" of the Canadian Red Cross in England, writes as follows:

"I think that contributions in money will prove the most economical and satisfactory in every way. We send out a parcel of food once a fortnight to each man who is not otherwise cared for and consignments of socks, shirts, tobacco, soap, boots, brushes, every sort of thing, at longer intervals. By getting supplies in such quantities we get them cheaper and it also saves packing. Any money we are entrusted with you may be sure we will invest in the things they are needing most and will despatch as soon as possible."

I have been informed by Mrs. W. T. Herridge, president of the Ottawa Women's Canadian Club, that their scheme is for the adoption of prisoners, namely, that by subscribing $2 monthly you can provide for a hungry Canadian soldier and comforts which will be forwarded fortnightly to a Canadian prisoner of war.

In appealing to all Canadian women to give some help to ease the hardships of imprisonment, to these men of the Canadian contingent who have met with the great trial of having fallen into the hands of the enemy I feel I am not asking too much nor doing so in vain. All Canadians have already shown the greatest enthusiasm and patriotism in extending their generosity to those brave men and boys who are fighting with such splendid courage and devotion for their king, country and empire.

I shall be glad to receive contributions even the smallest, for immediate transmission to the prisoners of war department of the Canadian Red Cross in England, or if it is more convenient contributions may be sent to any local Red Cross Society.

Yours truly,

LOUISE MARGARET

The question of helping the Canadian prisoners of war in Germany was thoroughly discussed and an individual expression of opinion obtained from all present by the chairman, Mrs. Powell. The result was the following unanimous resolution:

"Agreed that the members of the Women's Canadian Club, St. John, recognizing the necessity for the appeal made by Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught ask for subscriptions to the fund for the relief of Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, from all members of the club, and from all women whether associated with any organization or working individually for the honor of the empire, such subscriptions to be sent to Mrs. Richard O'Brien, 114 Wentworth street, St. John and by her to be forwarded to Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley, convener of the Prisoners of War Department of the Canadian Red Cross in England."

It was further decided that a minute of the meeting, with a copy of the letter from Her Royal Highness and the resolution of the club be published in the daily papers, this to be the public appeal for contributions of money, large or small, made to all women for this fund.

Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley who will be pleasantly remembered as Miss Evelyn Pelly, is a war widow whose bereavement is particularly sad as Lieutenant Rivers Bulkeley who had not been married two years was killed almost as he entered the trenches very early in the war. Since his death Mrs. Rivers Bulkeley has devoted herself to the welfare of the soldiers and it was largely through her efforts that the committee was formed. It might also be added that the letter from Her Royal Highness is a personal appeal appearing over her own signature.

Furs in Summer Time

Summer furs are the rage this summer. Though the jokesmiths have poked fun at the idea the women have returned that it is just as sensible for them to wear fluffy boas as it is for men to "keep thick coats on."

And there are "styles" and "styles" in the summer furs as a matter of course. You will find them described from time to time in the index of "fashion," the advertising columns of The Telegraph and Times. In summer of winter it pays to read the advertising in The Telegraph and Times.
