No more breathless and exciting moments have been experienced in motion picture plays than the imprisonment of the hero in a mine by explosion, his subsequent escape, and his terrific fight with three conspirators who have wrested his fortune from him during his absence in a foreign country.

Just after his marriage he leaves for Chile to investigate some copper mines. An attempt on his life is made and his wife is told he is dead. He returns home several years later to find his wife married to the man responsible for his mishap.
