LEAVING CANADA BY THE HUNDREDS

Evidence of Tory Misrule in Dominion Piles Up

(Moncton Transcript.)

Under tory rule the exodus from Canada is becoming enormous. Three special trains passed through the city en route from the Canadian west to Halifax today. A second section of the C. P. R. express was also largely composed of cars with returning emigrants. Yesterday afternoon there was also a second section of No. 16 loaded down with emigrants returning to the old countries.

The cause of the exodus is the prevalent hard times in the west, under tory rule, a condition which is strongly felt in many cities in the maritime provinces. Trainmen running east out of Moncton report seeing many unemployed men walking the streets in Amherst, and from Truro and New Glasgow also come stories of unemployment.

As evidence of the lack of employment elsewhere, I. C. R. policeman and trainmen report an unusually large number of men "beating their way" on freight trains from one section of the provinces to another, and sleeping in old cars and other convenient places. These men, it is said, are not "tramps" proper, but working men thrown out of employment who are taking this means of moving from place to place in search of work.

The members of St. George's Society of Halifax last night wired $100 to the relief fund for the distressed families of the sealers in Newfoundland who lost their lives on the ice packs last week.

AMUSEMENTS

THE PLAY WITHOUT A NAME—OPERA HOUSE

Thompson-Wood Company Give St. John Its First Production on Any Stage

The opportunity to be among the first to pass judgment upon the first production of a new play attracted a capacity audience to the Opera House last evening when the Thompson-Woods (Stock Company) presented the "play without a name." As a reward is offered for the best name for the production submitted by a member of the audience the interest in the performance was stimulated by the ambition of those present to contribute their share to the production and to earn the reward.

Wilbur Frauley, dramatic editor of the New York Times, and Walter Woods, the manager of the company, are the authors of the piece and Mr. Woods was instrumental in giving a local audience the opportunity to witness its first performance. The entire action is laid in our scene, a living room, but variety is given by some excellent lighting effects and by the device of giving the first glimpse of the scene through the windows of the front drop which is afterwards raised to allow the action to proceed. The dramatic effect of a strong scene, at the close of the second act is heightened by the spot light effect of the light from another room off the stage, which is the only illumination.

The play is built around the story of a wife neglected by her husband through his absorption in business, but who is content to wait for him until he has been spending his evenings at his office as he has said. In a quarrel that follows she decides to leave her husband and he takes his first drink of whisky and then disappears. The husband has been just on the verge of success when he is in danger from the plots of a supposed friend who has taken advantage of his entry to his home to steal his plans, poison the mind of his wife and finally to make love to her. The husband returns at a critical moment, under the influence of drugs administered by his supposed friend, but is stimulated to recollection of his plans by his repentant wife.

The combination of mental suggestion and the repetition of a lesson in action, which gives the clue to the lines of his subway scheme, are effective and when the last curtain rings down his great success is assured.

The plot of the play is not unusual in its conception or its development and the dialogue is hardly clever enough to compensate while the action has a tendency to drag. Apart from this tendency the first act with its attractive picture of domestic happiness is perhaps the best. In the other acts the incidents upon which the story depends are a bit improbable and the climaxes rather forced. The best feature of the play is the presentation of the story in a simple and direct manner. Every member of the cast did his or her full share in an effort to score a success in the first production and the acting throughout was of a high order. Miss Brandt gave a fine interpretation of the role of the wife. Mr. McHenry was equally convincing as the busy husband. Mr. Drummond had ample opportunity for the work in which he excels and as the faithful friend played the part with distinction. Miss Derby, who was converted, Mr. Weyler as her rougher, ready lover, Mr. Hodge in the role of the young business man and Miss Davis, in an ingenue part, were all that could be expected of them.

Tremendous hit in a Paris gown of latest design with a wig of soft blue to match it, this being the first appearance of the new fashion in costume in this city and the introduction being an auspicious one.

THE GEM

Thrilling Tale of Medieval Love and Adventure Delights Audiences with Jolly Comedies and a Western Drama Also

A daring and thrilling ride right up to the little church in which his sweetheart was being forced into marriage with his rival, through the doors of the church, still mounted, and galloping up the centre aisle, was a sensational feat performed at the Gem Theatre last evening in the two part feature drama by the Lubin Players entitled "Pittsburgh's Ride." It was a romantic drama of medieval times and was replete with thrills and exciting scenes. Many sweet, home-like touches of love softened any attempt towards sensationalism, and rounded out what was enjoyed by all as a very delightful picture feature. The Lubin Players in two jolly comedies "Shorty Makes a Bet," and "The Tailor" were heartily received and excited much merriment, while the Nestor Co. in a western drama "The Brothers" were seen to advantage in a pleasing story. The Gem orchestra rendered their usual fine programme.

UNIQUE

Return of Helen Redmond Story of Stage Life a Strong Feature at This Theatre

The Unique theatre is making a specialty of showing features that convey not only pleasing stories but also carry with them a strong moral lesson for Holy Week, and judging from the first of the special series, the Return of Helen Redmond, presented yesterday, pictorial dramas of more than ordinary merit may be anticipated for the week. The American Company produced The Return of Helen Redmond in their usual style. Miss Winifred Greenwood as Helen displays her art in no uncertain manner, while Ed. Coxen as the minister, gives a pleasing portrayal of a difficult part. The story is one that perhaps has been worked many times before but never under such pleasing surroundings or by a more capable cast. The brother of a minister marries an actress against the minister's will. Later the brother dies, leaving his child in care of the minister. Helen, the actress, desires to gain possession of the child but in a vision sees what the outcome would be. She renounces the stage and takes up music teaching while the close of the picture shows her happily united with her child, the reunion being brought about by a certain method of Dame Fortune. With this picture is a Keystone comedy, The Speed Kings, with Ford Sterling and Mabel Normand as the chief fun makers.

SCREAMED WITH THE TERRIBLE PAIN

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Distressing Kidney Trouble

St. Thomas, Ont., April 1st, 1914.
"In 1911, I was laid up with Kidney Trouble and not able to get out of my chair. Had tried many kidney remedies without satisfactory results. The pain was excruciating and my screams could be heard on the street. One day a friend from Ottawa came to see me, and when he found me in such poor health, said he would send me a sample of 'Fruit-a-tives,' which he did and I commenced taking them. The results were so apparent with the first few doses that I continued to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and was completely restored to my normal state of health. I would strongly advise anyone suffering with Kidney Trouble to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and cure themselves." CHARLES CALVERT, 30c. a box, $2.50 for 10 boxes, 10c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

A peculiar formation of snow was seen for several days in Townshend, Vt., where the snow did off the roof in a large cake which touched the ground and stood upright, with its other end still on the edge of the roof. The result was a curtain leaning against the house, twelve feet high, and running the full length of the piazza.

TOOK BRIDGE TIMBERS TO BUILD THEIR BARN

Old Perry Point Bridge Now Part of Farm Buildings in Vicinity—Negligence of the Government Arouses Dissatisfaction

The people of that portion of Kings county who have been observing the valuable timbers of the old Perry Point bridge have disappeared from time to time, were much interested in the statement made by Hon. Mr. Morley that the valuable hard pine timbers were removed and piled near the site of the bridge, and when asked who furnished him with that information, he replied the "members for Kings county." "The members for Kings county" do not seem to know very much about it if the letter of a prominent resident of Kingston parish, in reference to the matter, is to be credited, he says, "In regard to the timber of the old bridge, there is not one stick left of the good hard pine on this side of the river. They have made a clean sweep of everything this spring that would hold together. I can sit right here in my own room and see some of them left on my neighbors' farm, piled up to be used for rebuilding his barn as soon as the frost is out of the ground, while another neighbor has completed an ice-house from the same source."

It seems as if the administration of public affairs in the lower part of Kings county has fallen into neglectful hands. Hedley V. Dickson, M. P., who is only supposed to have the patronage, has apparently favored one section of his party against the other, and there is much hard feeling in consequence. The road supervisors of both Kingston No. 1 and No. 2 has been ignored and important pieces of work given to some favorites. The result has been wasteful expenditure of public money and further dissatisfaction on the part of the people.

FAIR-HAired FLIRTS.

"Ninety out of every 100 respondents in divorce cases are blondes," said a celebrated American lawyer, Herman L. Roth, recently. "Blondes are vain. Blondes are fickle. Blondes love no one well but themselves. Blondes invite flirtation and challenge insult. Blondes bear the trade-mark of the coquette."

"They say, in effect, 'Catch me! I am easily caught.' A blonde attracts instant attention because she bears the trade-mark of the flirt. Her golden hair is a challenge. She is the trouble-maker of the world."

George Robinson, another divorce specialist, adds his quota to the indictment of the bright-haired women.

"In the first analysis of a man's emotions," he writes, "even though the man be a fool, he wants a woman who is true, and the brunette is nothing if not faithful. But it takes a man to win a brunette. He must put up a fight for her, for she has a mind and will of her own and a brain superior to that of the blonde."

SINGLE TAX MEN AND C. N. R. AID

The Letter and Petition Asking Dominion Government to Take Over the Road

The Single Tax Association of Ontario has issued the following letter and petition relating to the present application of the Canadian Northern Railway for further aid—

Toronto, April 8, 1914.

Gentlemen: The transportation of a country should always be under the sole control of the government, and ought never to be subject to the dominance and exactions of private corporations. Public opinion is unanimously in favor of the canals and highways being owned, controlled and operated by the government in the interests of the whole people. The public would never dream of entrusting these functions to private individuals.

Whatever reasons can be urged for government control of canals and highways apply with equal force to the railways of the country.

At the present time most of the railways are owned by private corporations, and the difficulty of the public acquiring possession of these is very great; but when an opportunity arises, such as is the case with the Canadian Northern Railway at the present time, we are strongly of the opinion that advantage should be taken of this opportunity by the government.

The Canadian Northern Railway Company has applied to the Dominion government for further aid, though nearly the whole cost of the road, amounting to many millions of dollars, has been supplied by the people of Canada by means of bonuses, grants and guarantees from municipalities, provincial governments and the Dominion of Canada. All these grants were made conditional upon the building and operating of the various railroads, which, together, make up the Canadian Northern Railway system, and since the company have confessed their inability to carry out their contract, that is to say, to complete their roads without further public assistance, and it is contrary to the public interest that the Dominion government should give additional public money or its equivalent to what is really a national undertaking as long as it remains in the private hands, we therefore advocate the government taking over the road as a government work for the people of Canada, compensating the present owners for any money which they have supplied, and making them a reasonable payment for the time and effort which they have spent in its conception and construction to date.

In furtherance of this idea we would ask you to sign the enclosed petition if approved by you and immediately forward same to your representative at Ottawa for presentation to the government.

Yours truly,
THE SINGLE TAX ASSOCIATION OF ONTARIO,
D. B. JACQUES, President.

The petition follows the text of the letter closely.
