AMERICAN COMPANY GETS BIG CONTRACT

Minneapolis Concern to Build New Government Elevator at Port Arthur.

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—The contract for the proposed new government elevator to be constructed at Port Arthur has been given to the Barnett McQueen Company, Ltd., of Minneapolis, whose tenders were found to be the most satisfactory both in price and in time fixed for completion.

Five companies secured plans and tenders as follows: The Canadian Stewart Co., Ltd., of Montreal; The J. A. Jamison Co., of Montreal; The J. S. Brownman & Co., of Toronto; The J. S. Mc-

Callie Co., Ltd., of Montreal, and the Barnett McQueen Co., Ltd., of Minneapolis. The American company captured the contract. The plans of the five companies were carefully examined by members of the grain commission with the assistance of three selected experts. At the conclusion of the examination it was found that the plans of the Minneapolis company were the most satisfactory. Tenders were then called and again the American company offer was the most satisfactory both in price and in time fixed for completion.

New Life Saving Station

Commander Henry Thompson, of the marine and fisheries department, Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday and in the afternoon made an inspection of the government steamer Lansdowne. He said last night that just as soon as the Stanley returned to the city the Lansdowne would be laid up to undergo a complete overhaul.

Good work was being done by the dominion life-saving stations. He expected tenders to be called this week for the erection of a new life saving house at Bay View, near Digby, where a crew of men are now at work. The house is to be made thoroughly up-to-date, providing comfortable living quarters for the men as well as shelter for the boat.

ANY BRIDE SATISFIED HIM

In India, When the Groom's First Choice Failed, He Accepted a Volunteer.

The Youth's Companion recounts a story of a wedding described in Dr. Winifred Weston's "A Bismarckian in India."

"Yesterday I went to a native Christian wedding. Many guests had assembled and the ceremony had progressed to the point when Mr. Grey asked the bride:

"Do you take this man to love, cherish and obey" when the young woman in the case responded with a surprising and unmistakable "No!"

"Mr. Grey labored with her in an undertone, but to no avail. The man stage had, as usual, been arranged by the parents without consulting the daughter. But it is almost an unknown thing for a girl to be so bold and disobedient. The situation was then explained to the assembled guests, and volunteers were asked to supply the vacancy. A young woman promptly came forward and the ceremony proceeded as if nothing had happened.

Japan Made "Hamlet" Up to Date

Some strange liberties are taken with Shakespeare on the Japanese stage. The Kobe Herald recently described a performance in that town of "Hamlet," with the scene laid in modern Japan. The prince appears first in a silk hat and a swallow-tail coat, then on a bicycle, clad in a bright blue cycling suit and striped stockings, and then in evening dress again, with a flower in his button-hole.

This up-to-date colleague has little more resemblance to the Hamlet of Venice, as transformed into a fellow student of Hamlet at the Imperial University of Tokyo.

If She Winked. "Get down! Get down!" said a trestle-crabbed old man as two saucy little urchins stood up in front of him at an entertainment. "I can't see or wink."

"Aw, go on!" cried one of them. "If she winks we'll tell you," and he remained where they stood the rest of the evening.

DR. R. E. DOOLITTLE, THE NEW CHIEF CHEMIST OF THE UNITED STATES

Washington, Aug. 14.—Dr. R. E. Doolittle, acting chief chemist of the bureau of chemistry, will be named by President Taft to succeed Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. Dr. Doolittle has been at the head of the chemistry bureau since Dr. Wiley resigned. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson brought Dr. Doolittle from New York, where he was stationed, and, according to Secretary Wilson, he has demonstrated his ability to head the pure food bureau.

A GREAT ATTRACTION TONIGHT

The Red Rose Biggest Show Seen Here in Years—Magnificent Scenic Production.

Once in a great while in St. John visited by the large musical and magnificent scenic productions which gladden the hearts of the critical New York playgoers. Such a company is The Red Rose musical comedy which opens its engagement at the Opera House tonight and will continue for the balance of the week. With its cast and chorus of seventy singing and dancing girls, comedians and soloists and an elaborate equipment of gorgeous costumes, scenery and electric effects, this superior theatrical ensemble will establish a new standard of excellence in this city.

SIR WILFRID PLANS TOUR OF DOMINION

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—An informal meeting of the dominion Liberal chiefs was held in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's office at the house of commons today at which tentative arrangements were made for the autumn tour of Sir Wilfrid which has been under contemplation for some months since the house prorogued.

On his return he will take a short rest and then proceed on a tour of New and Old Ontario about the middle of October. Sir Wilfrid will spend about a week in New Ontario and while there will inspect personally the line of the National Transcontinental Railway.

HOUSE REPASSES VETOED STEEL AND IRON BILL

Washington, Aug. 14.—Repeating its action of yesterday, when it passed the Canadian reciprocity law, the house today repassed the vetoed steel and iron tariff bill, within two hours after it had been returned from the White House with the president's veto message.

Both measures will be called up Friday by Senator Simmons, and an attempt made to re-pass them; but the Democratic leaders have little hope that they can obtain the necessary two-thirds vote as did the house.

Majority Leader Underwood made a spirited attack on the motives that prompted President Taft to veto the steel bill, which, he said, had been passed by a Republican senate with but two slight amendments.

THE FRESH AIR FUND

Mrs. Noopp: "Charlie, what do you think? Dad's just sent us a $100 cheque for our new baby! Wasn't that good of him?"

Mr. Noopp: "I should say so! I'll write at once and thank him for his contribution to the fresh air fund."

GIRAFFE A CURIOUS BRUTE

Though Exceedingly Frightened by Slight Rustle, He is Quite Indifferent to Loud Noises.

Among the curious characteristics of the giraffe is its strange indifference to loud noises, as contrasted with its peculiar "sensitivity" with reference to slight sounds. Noisy sounds, like that of a man walking near in hobnailed boots, the giraffe does not appear to notice, but should it be approached by a woman whose skirts strike five feet but the slightest rustle of the skirt causes the giraffe to start up with pricked ears and eyes directed in fear.

Officials of a zoological institution, situated near a canal, tell of a curious instance of this peculiarity of giraffe. After a terrible explosion of gunpowder on a barge on the canal, the keepers were astonished to observe that the giraffes took little notice of the tremendous blast. They jumped to their feet, but almost at once laid down again when they found that nothing extraordinary had happened in the explosion. But when a report is

WHAT DR. CHURCH Of Ottawa, Says:

"I am convinced after close investigation that the Neal Three Day Drink Cure is a scientific treatment and highly efficacious, and I frankly admit the results greatly surprised me; and I cheerfully testify that I sent a patient suffering from the worst form of alcoholism to the Neal Institute, at the same time having no faith that he could be cured and feeling that it would meet a great need in helping to check the ravages of drink.

(Signed) H. C. CHURCH, M. D." Three Doctors in Ottawa after investigating and watching cured patients during the past year have invested their money in this great work to further the good work we are doing.

ODE TO MR. BONAR LAW

"You have not got any convictions." Mr. Bonar Law to the Liberal Party in the House of Commons.

O Mr. Law, O Mr. Law, We do not ask you change your style Into the style of Bernard Shaw, Of Keats, Rossetti, or Carlyle; Nor do we ask what Mr. Pitt, If he were here, would think of it.

We do not ask you stem the flood Of little things at random flung That fall where once Disraeli stood, And swanlike Arthur soared and sung, Where Randolph's airy spirit stirred, And Gladstone's organ-note was heard.

Bowl on! Are centuries a myth? Heed not Sir Edward Carson's tears! Heed not the wailing face of Smith, That nearly launched four hundred years!

We cheer you when you howl and bat; 'Tis they who wonder what you're at. We do not grieve, I must confess, That you should call a spade "a spade"; Or cancel in tomorrow's Press The epigram so drolly made; You interrupt; we don't complain; We hope you'll interrupt again.

You see the beam that blinds our eye, Expert in our psychology, You ask us not for more; concede! But this, our rather lowly creed— Although a spade is not a spade, And Rothschild a man of straw, Lloyd George a bubble in masquerade— Yet Mr. Law is Mr. Law;

We are convinced; it is no guess, He is not more; he is not less. Yes, Mr. Law is Mr. Law: Sir Edward Carson hand in hand With him beneath a flag we saw, And laughter rippled through the land: The laughter of the Irish-folk, Who are not slow to see a joke.

Sing on! Inimitable bird, Although your note is somewhat keen, No melody is quite absurd That helps the wearers of the green! Expectant in a wearied style, They do not ask you change your style. And so God bless you, Mr. Law, And bless your iron and blue your smile.

And bless the Ireland that you saw, And if He will, God bless your style. We do not ask what Mr. Pitt, If he were here would think of it. —A Home Ruler, in the "Westminster Gazette."

No Scandals to Hunt

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—The remnants of the public service commission which is left, consisting of Mr. Ducharme and several minor officials and experts have returned from a tour of investigation in the maritime provinces, and it is stated, "Have disbanded for a vacation." It is, however, rumored on good authority that the results of the investigation so far have been most disappointing and that the anticipated scandals which were expected to be brought to the limit of the day have not materialized.

In consequence it is considered very doubtful whether the commission will ever again convene. R. S. Lako, the chairman of the commission has been at home in the west for some time.

Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Stomach Cramps or Pains in the Stomach, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Sea Sickness, Summer Complaint and all Looseness of the Bowels

MAY BE RAPIDLY AND EFFECTIVELY CURED BY THE USE OF

DR. FOWLER'S Extract of Wild Strawberry

The Medicine with a record of Cures extending over 65 Years. You don't experiment when you buy it.

Beware of the dealer who tries to sell you a substitute.

Mr. Jno. R. Childerhouse, Orillia, Ont., writes:—When in Fort William, last summer, I was taken sick with diarrhoea, and became so weak and suffered such great pain, I had to quit work. Our manager advised me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so on my way home I bought a bottle, and after taking four doses I was cured. We always keep a bottle in the house. We have also used it for our children, and find it an excellent remedy for summer complaint.

Chinese Traits. The Chinese are orderly, law-abiding and well-behaved; they have a strong sense of right and justice—are fair minded; they are reliable in commercial dealings—pay their debts and keep their agreements, whether verbal or written; they are dutiful to parents, fond of children and mindful of etiquette and punctilious about returning courtesies or favors; they are respectful to elders and superiors; they honor and respect character and intellectual ability, and do not recognize an aristocracy of wealth. This list might be largely extended, but it is enough to show that I have undertaken to show—that China has not by any means to seek abroad all the requisites for national greatness and popular welfare; some of the most important are here already—Address to students of St. John's college, Shanghai.

Has an Eye for Books. Tale university produced perhaps its pluckiest student recently in the person of a negro youth who applied at the Yale Society of appointments and suitable for some sort of light work.

The student, who had a diploma from Shaw university, was deaf and dumb and blind in one eye, but he wrote on his slate that the one eye was enough to get him through the Yale Law school, and he felt sure of getting another sheepskin to hang beside his parchment from Shaw.

The bureau refused to make public the student's name, but the officials said they would find some remunerative work for his one remaining eye, even if they had to appoint him as the faculty.

Depleted Thistle's Forage. It was by accident the western Kansas farmers found that Russian thistles make a good forage crop for cattle. The farmers for years had battled against the Russian thistle pest; and the state legislature appropriated money to combat it. One day after a heavy windstorm a farmer found all his cattle eating Russian thistles that had banked up against a barbed wire fence. The news spread rapidly over the western part of the state and as a result Russian thistles are now harvested with as much care as alfalfa.—Kansas City Journal.
