

For Business Wear

Buy "20th CENTURY"

Fine Tailored Garments.

The right business suit for the average man is one which wears well and fits well and doesn't cost too much.

It is that is the kind of a suit you want get "20th CENTURY."

Every suit and overcoat bearing this label is guaranteed perfect in every respect; the endorsement of our promise that the clothes will give satisfaction.

Every suit and overcoat shows plainly the good workmanship of experienced tailors.

Any suit or overcoat will serve you well if it's "20th CENTURY."

$10, $12, $13.50, $15 and upwards.

A. GILMOUR,

Fine Tailoring and Clothing,
68 KING STREET.

Something New in St. John GRAND OPENING SALES.

The well known furniture dealer, E. Marcus, of 35 Dock street, has removed to his new premises, 30 Dock street. I can furnish your house complete, from a parlor suit to a kitchen stove. My new stock consists of high and medium class furniture. I am offering the public, at the very lowest prices possible, the following for the first opening month:

BEDROOM SUITS, from $10.50 to $20.00
PARLOR SUITS, from $12.00 to $20.00
KITCHEN SUITS, from $10.00 to $20.00

I have also a very fine line of odd and three piece suits at very low figures, and also a complete line of Brass and Enamel Bedsteads.

SPECIAL:—I am offering my old stock below cost. This stock must be closed out. No bargains were ever offered before. Help me to do this and you will greatly help your own pocket-book at the same time.

E. MARCUS, 30 Dock Street.

Agents Who Sell the Saint John "Star."

NAME	ADDRESS
CANADA RAILWAY NEWS CO.	C. E. Stations and Trains
T. NASS & SONS	Indianapolis
THEO. FLEWELLING	Bridge street
D. H. NASS	Main street
J. E. COVAT	Main street
G. W. HOBBS	Main street
A. McARTHUR	Main street
MRS. J. L. PERKINS	Main street
S. H. HAWKER	Main street
R. A. H. MORROW	Main street
M. J. NUGENT	Main street
C. K. SHOOT	Garden street
E. H. COLEMAN	Wall street
C. F. WADE	Winter street
W. GREEN	Winter street
W. H. MOWAT	Brussels street
M. J. NUGENT	Brussels street
J. D. McAVITT	Brussels street
E. G. NELSON & CO.	Brussels street
A. M. GRAY & CO.	King street
D. McARTHUR	King street
T. H. HALL	Pitt street
WM. BAXTER	Leinster street
J. H. WALKER	King street
MISS M. P. CARE	Duke street
J. P. MALONEY	Sydney street
MRS. J. GIBBS	Sydney street
H. J. DICK	Duke street
MRS. J. POSTER	Princess William street
P. J. DONOHUE	St. James street
A. POSTER	St. James street
WATSON & CO.	Charlotte street
J. J. DWYER	Union street
C. P. E. NEWELL	C. P. E. Traina
O. E. WITTER	Brussels street
J. G. LACK	Union street
R. R. W. INGRAM	Union street, W. B.
R. R. PATCHELL	Stanley street
FRANK & PURDY	Garden street
T. J. DUNN	Main street
ROYAL HOTEL	King street
IRA KERRISDALE	Marsh Road
MISS A. GILMOUR	Union street
FRANK FINLEY	Elliot Row
MISS F. HAMILTON	Brussels street
C. H. CHEYNE	Brussels street
MRS. S. B. FOLKINS	Winter street
A. E. HART	Charlotte street, W. B.
G. W. ROWLEY	St. Andrews street
GEO. E. PRICE	Queen street
GEO. E. PRICE (Branch)	Union street
MRS. CREWS	Mecklenburg street
J. E. WATERS	Union street, W. B.
SHANKLIN & JOHNSON	St. Patrick's street
EVERETT MOYAY	Orange street
MRS. M. A. McGUIRE	Main street
E. S. DIBLER	20 Bond street
C. C. BEAMAN	Haymarket square
MRS. LONG	Cor. Rodney and Ludlow street, W. B.
CHARLES MACNUSON	Cor. St. David and Courtney streets
O. S. DYKEMAN	Foot of Simonds St.
W. C. R. ALLAN	171 King street, W. E.

SHE HELD CHURCH AGAINST A VILLAGE.

Sheriff who Looked Pious Got Manic After Two Days and Nights Siege.

WARREN, Conn., Nov. 5.—For two days and nights, Mrs. Flora Neth, wife of John Neth, a farmer of Woodville, a small country village, stood siege in the Congregational church where she took refuge in a fit of insanity, bombarding all who came within range with hymn books and church furnishings.

When Mrs. Neth came from her home a mile and a half from the village on Tuesday afternoon and asked for the keys to the church, she was highly pleased. But when at nightfall she did not leave the church and the neighbors heard loud singing and shouting in the edifice, they hastened thither. Mrs. Neth had locked herself in and shouted:

"This is the house of God, my only home. You cannot come in unless you read me the pass-word and recite a chapter of the Revelations."

Neth undertook to force his wife from the church, but she scratched and bit so furiously that he was glad to leave her.

Mrs. Neth's son agreed to spend the night with her. Yesterday morning, Mrs. Neth ejected her son, barred all the entrances and bombarded all who approached. Today Sheriff Kilbourn and Selectmen Arden Tanner went to the church with commitment papers. They entered, looking pious and solemnly pleased. The strategy was successful and she was taken tonight to the Connecticut hospital for the insane at Middletown, while the parishioners set to work to repair the church for a sociable tomorrow night.

RECENT DEATHS.

MRS. EVAN WILSON EVANS.

Mrs. Evans, widow of Evan Evans, formerly of Bowes & Evans, of this city, died on October 20, in Atlanta, Ga., where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Chapman. Her illness was very short. Her home had been in Baltimore for many years and she was laid to rest by the side of her husband in Loudon Park, Baltimore. She is survived by one son and four daughters—Mrs. Geo. W. Chapman, of Atlanta; Rev. G. B. Evans, of Macedonia, N. Y.; Miss Kate A. Evans, and Mrs. E. L. Smith, Paterson, N. J.; also five grandsons and two granddaughters.

EDWIN FENWICK.

APOLAHU, Nov. 5.—The many friends of Edwin Fenwick will regret to hear of his death which occurred at his home, Berwick, this morning. He was a son of Edmund Fenwick, his mother being a daughter of Thomas Musgrave, these families being among the earliest and most respected settlers of the parish of St. John. Mr. Fenwick for years did quite a business as a wheelwright, carriage builder, etc., at the same time he was engaged in farming. He was married twice, his first wife being Mary McLeod, daughter of Robert McLeod of Lower Mills, by whom he had three children, two deceased and one son who has charge of the homestead. His second wife, who survives him, was the eldest daughter of Hon. James Ryan.

GEORGE COURTNEILL.

George Courtneill, a well-known attendant at the Provincial Hospital for Nervous Diseases, died Sunday afternoon, after a lingering illness. Mr. Courtneill came to St. John about three years ago from England, where for twenty-five years he had been a printer. He made many friends here, and was respected by all, and they will learn with regret of his death. He leaves a widow and three children to mourn his loss. The funeral will take place at 2.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, from Fairville.

MRS. DELILAH J. ORAM.

Mrs. Delilah J. Oram, widow of John C. Oram, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Anthony A. Pirie, 146 Metcalf street, Saturday afternoon. She was born on Christmas day 1815. She lived an active life until two years ago when she fell down stairs and sustained injuries from which she never wholly recovered. She leaves seven children—John C. of Liverpool, Eng.; David J. of L. I.; Daniel, of St. John; Mrs. W. Cronk, New Jersey; Mrs. J. Bettenson, of West End; Mrs. A. A. Mabey, and Mrs. A. A. Pirie, of this city.

THERE WAS NO DANCE.

Invitations Sent Out Without Authority Causes a Sensation and a Lot of Friction.

(Gleaner, Saturday).

Invitations for a social and dancing things in a very high tone were sent out in large numbers during the week. Four names were on the invitations, the young men claim that the names were used without their consent, and the young ladies claim that the names were used without their consent.

The publishing of this notice and the effect has caused a lot of friction and unpleasantness among the young ladies and the young men who were mixed up in the affair, and consequently today some of them "do not speak as they pass by."

The young men claim that they had the permission of the young ladies to put their names on the invitations; that they consulted them and they consented, and so the matter stands. The young men, it is understood, are out of the hall for some time.

The young men claim that they injured feelings and they say the next time they send out notices they will see that the young ladies sign their names in person.

SENDS $500 TO PAY FOR A PINT OF BEER.

When Sadie Halloran, the Messenger, is Found, Only $494.85 and a "Jag" is Left.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Miss Sadie Halloran, of 227 Park avenue, Hoboken, grows reckless at the sight of money. Yesterday a friend, John Kerrigan, of No. 79 Adams street, temporarily purchased her a $500 greenback to pay for a pint of beer to be shared between them. As a result Sadie got thirty days in jail and John was held to answer to a better comprehension of safe and sane finance.

Kerrigan drew $1,500 from a loan and building association in Hoboken to pay off a mortgage on his house, receiving a $1,000 and a $500 bill. First he took the money to the office of his lawyer, but, strangely, the lawyer was not there. So Kerrigan visited his friend, Miss Halloran, and urged her to a social pint. As a particular touch of gallantry he entrusted her with the $500 bill and let her go with the can.

Kerrigan waited a fairly reasonable time, then went in search of her. The police finally found her in the rear of a saloon with $494.85. Recorder Stanton sentenced her to 30 days in jail for drunkenness, and Kerrigan was locked up until he could be sure that he would not entrust the $1,000 bill to any of his friends.

AT THE Y. M. C. A.

The men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday was addressed by Rev. Wm. McC. Thomson of New Glasgow. There were a large number present. S. B. Wilson presided. Rev. G. W. Hamilton opened the meeting with prayer.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY.

In the Cathedral yesterday morning the annual report of M. J. Potter, treasurer of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, for the year ended October 21, 1904, was read, showing much good done during the year. The receipts were:

Balance, Oct. 31, 1903.....$10.35
Cathedral collection.....741.94
Cash donations.....100.00
Members' contributions.....35.57

The expenditures were:

Coal.....$383.87
Groceries.....256.53
Clothing.....51.00
Funeral expenses.....45.00
Shoes.....50.84
Medicine.....18.24
Tea.....23.57
Meat.....23.00
Rent for store room.....23.00
Cash balance.....21.25

At the services in the Cathedral next Sunday, the annual collection for the work of the society will be taken up.

A MATHEMATICIAN.

At a dinner given to Sir Alfred Harmsworth in commemoration of his knighthood, one of the editors of the Daily Mail said to the guest of honor: "Our friend Harmsworth, as a schoolboy, was shy and quiet. One day, to his horror, an inspector called him before the class."

"You appear to be a clever lad," the inspector said, "What do five and one make?"

"The little fellow made no answer. 'Come, now,' said the inspector. 'Suppose I gave you five rabbits and three more rabbits, how many rabbits would you have?' 'Seven,' said Harmsworth. 'How do you make that out?' 'I have a rabbit of my own at home.'"

GOSPEL ADDRESSES.

An address was given last evening in the Gospel Hall, Paradise row, by B. C. Greenman of Toronto, Mr. Greenman is editor of the Home Friend and other religious papers. He has been an extensive traveler in the East, and his talks are on this account very entertaining as well as instructive. Last evening he gave a series of talks on the two chapters of Jonah.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings he will give illustrated addresses on Palestine and Egypt.

NEPTUNE'S BALL.

The invitations to the Neptune Club's annual ball, which will be held at the Neptune Club on Tuesday evening, November 15th, will probably be issued on Tuesday. The ladies' committee is composed of Mrs. J. W. Barker, Mrs. J. Lee Day, Mrs. F. E. Hamilton, Mrs. J. Walter Holly, Mrs. G. C. Gordon, Mrs. J. C. Simeon, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, Jr., Mrs. E. J. Simonds, Mrs. Percy W. Thompson, Mrs. W. B. Young, Mrs. W. W. Walte, J. Alfred Clarke is secretary of the ball committee.

LOST ON THE BANKS.

The Daily Times of Gloucester, Mass., says that the new fishing schooner Richard J. Numan, which arrived there Nov. 4, reported the loss of one of her crew, Fred J. Dincoff of Shelburne, N. S. The vessel was on Jefferson Bank, and Dincoff, who was in a dory, failed to return when it came rough. He was 22 years of age.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

The Sunday afternoon meeting at the Home for Incurables took the form of a memorial service for three lady patients who died within one week, that ending Oct. 28th. The patience and fortitude with which they bore their sufferings was expressed in an impressive address delivered by Rev. G. M. Campbell, Cameron and Mrs. Bogart sang a duet, and A. G. Burnham and A. Chipman Ritchie also contributed to the musical programme.

NEW NURSES.

At the St. John Public Hospital certificates of competency have been granted to the following nurses who have completed their course of training: Miss Munro, Miss McKnight, Miss McGrath and Miss Graham; also Miss McGrath of Fredericton.

SOUTH PRAMPTON, Nov. 5.—

Last night in the Gorman Theatre the annual Christmas exercises connected with the Framingham Training School for Nurses were held. There were 17 in the grandstand, including Elizabeth Margaret Little, New Brunswick; Abbie Spicer Nova Scotia; Lena Gertrude Wales Nova Scotia; and May Cochrane Nova Scotia.

TRAINING A CHILD IN THE USE OF MONEY.

(Prof. W. L. Herr, in Chautauquan.)

Training in responsibility and judgment in the use of money is within the reach of every family, even the poorest. I have never seen children so poor as not to have spending money. To be given the responsibility for the spending, saving and giving away of this money, in increasing amounts, according to the age of the boy and the circumstances of the family, is one of the most educative of experiences.

JUDGED BY THE SOUND.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"What a lovely sound," said the man who was introducing the callers at the distinguished politician's reception. "Kloppengaugenbaum," replied the next man in line.

"Mr. Blingum, allow me to present Herr"—here he coughed—"the celebrated pianist."

FEMININE LOGIC.

She (enthusiastically)—Oh, I would have given anything in the world for that.

He—Well, why didn't you buy it?

She—Buy it? Why the man wanted 50 cents for it.

COSTLY PRESCRIPTION.

"Doctor," said the homely maid, "can you recommend something that will make me beautiful?"

"Yes, inherit half a million," replied the M. D. "Two dollars, please."

To cure Headache in ten minutes use Kumfort Headache Powders, 10 cents.

RUSSIAN CRUELTY.

Story of Escape From Conspiration—How They Stifle Opinion in Russia.

What a story Peter Nikoloff has to tell! He is about forty years of age, and looks sixty; his hair is grey; he has a stoop in his back.

His father, mother and the whole family were exiled to Siberia many years ago. He himself spent his young years in exile. He grew up in a penal settlement. He saw all kinds of horrors. He witnessed people growing slowly mad; he saw murder committed in the prisons of Siberia; he watched for many years the brutalities of the officials; and at last he escaped.

Nikoloff saw his parents sink into the grave; he derived ways of escape which failed. He was treated with greater severity after his plans were discovered. He was chained to his bed; he was starved; and yet today he stands upon Canadian soil—a free man.

Attention was directed yesterday to a tall, dark man who walked up and down the platform at the Windsor Station waiting for the train to take him west. He was fairly well dressed, he had a beard streaked with grey; and he moved with the confidence of a man who was long and thin and white; he looked about him furtively.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian cruelty, which, nevertheless, have not moved the world to action. His father was a well-to-do merchant in Moscow. He had had the advantage of a college education, though this at last proved his downfall. While at college he had learned something of the thought and hope of the outer world; he had learned that there were countries where the man said the thing which pleased him, and where he was as free as the air, so long as he did not hurt his neighbor. He longed to see this state of things.

He was shy at first, but being assured that there were no intentions other than those of a purely friendly nature, he offered the story of his life. This is not a very casual degree different from thousands of other stories of Russian