Uncle Walt

The Poetic Philosopher

The king sat up on his jeweled throne, and he heaved a sigh that was like a groan, for his crown was hard, and it bruised his head, and his scepter weighed like a pig of lead, the ladies smirked as they came to beg; the knights were pulling the royal leg. The king exclaimed: "If I had my wish, I would cut this out, and I'd go and fish. For what is pomp to a weary soul that yearns and yearns for the fishing hole; the throne's a bore and the crown a gawd, and I'd swap the lot for a bamboo rod, and a can of worms and a piece of string—but there's no such luck for a poor old king!" And a boy who passed by the palace high, to fish for trout in the streamlet high, looked up in awe at the massive walls, and caught a glimpse of the marble halls, and he said to himself: "Oh, hully gee! What I was the king, and the king was me! To reign all day with your crown on straight is a whole lot better'n diggin' bait, and fishin' round when the fish won't bite, and gettin' licked for your luck at night."

FLORENCE DAVISON AGAIN UNDER ARREST

This Time the Girl is Charged With Robbery.

Florence Davison, who gave her age as 21 years and said she came from Nova Scotia, was on June 20th arrested about midnight by Policemen Belyea and Steeves for vagrancy. For a number of nights the girl had been sleeping about the wharves or yards, and when arrested she was found sleeping in a box car on the government wharf near the exhibition building. She was sentenced to a term of six months jail, but was allowed to go to the Salvation Army Rescue Home. She only remained at the home until she got an opportunity to run away, and was tramped to Miramichi, where she found employment in a boarding house. On Saturday afternoon she stole eleven dollars from John F. McIlven and departed from Miramichi. As soon as the robbery was discovered a message was telephoned to central police station, and Detective Kilien was put on the case. About five o'clock he met the girl walking through the city and placed her under arrest. The stolen money was found in her possession. Florence this time gives her age as 23.

THE LORDS WILL FORCE APPEAL TO ELECTORS

Lord Lansdowne Throws Down the Gage of Battle.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The vexed question as to whether the House of Lords would interfere with the budget, which action the radicals declare would be unconstitutional, appears to be settled by the pronouncement of Lord Lansdowne, leader of the opposition in the Lords, in a speech at Calne, Wiltshire, tonight, declaring the belief that the working classes desired tariff reform and of the taxation of capital and expenditure of property. Lord Lansdowne suggested that the House of Commons may no longer represent the will of the people. We recognize," he said, "that the will of the people must prevail in the end, but we demand that the people of the country be given full and sufficient opportunity to express that will with full and sufficient knowledge of the subject. "Upon that issue," declared Lord Lansdowne, "the Lords are ready to try conclusions in the great struggle which must surely be upon us before very long. The Lords are ready to meet their adversaries and will accept the verdict of the people."

TRIED TO KIDNAP A POLISH PRIEST

Sequel to Trouble in Church at Pittsburg— Saved by Display of Pry.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The Rev. Fr. Suck, acting pastor of the Holy Trinity Polish Catholic church in this city, from which the Rev. Simon Triak was removed as pastor several weeks ago, this afternoon went into the police court and lodged complaint against 20 members of his congregation, who, he says, endeavored to kidnap him late Saturday night for the purpose of murdering him. The priest's accusations have created a big sensation, and the police will provide a bodyguard for him. According to the story told by Father Suck, he had been hastily summoned to go to a hospital to attend a dying man. As he came from the church with the holy oils, he was surrounded by a score of his parishioners, who, he alleged, endeavored to drag him into a waiting carriage. Father Suck shouted loudly for help. Then he drew the pry, which he carried in the sacristy, from his inner coat pocket, held it aloft, and called upon the men not to commit a sacrilege while he was carrying the sacrament to a dying man. The assailants of the priest then fell back for a moment, and Father Suck escaped into the church. A number of other attempts to harm or kill the priest have been made during the past few weeks, including the poisoning of the altar wine by him and the luring of the clergyman from the parish house at night on fictitious sick calls. Hereafter Father Suck will carry a pistol, and he announces he will shoot to kill anyone who attempts to harm him.

JAPAN DEFIES CHINA; STARTS CONSTRUCTION

Chinese-Japanese Relations Now Bear Dangerous Resemblance to Those of 1906.

PEKING, Aug. 7.—In defiance of protestations of China, Japan today began the construction of the Aomori-Mukden railroad. Work was commenced by Japanese engineers and constructors who have been awaiting the outcome of the negotiations for several months simultaneously at each end of the line. They acted on instructions from Tokyo. The feeling of China's objection to changing the existing narrow gauge of the line to the standard gauge of the connecting lines in both Korea and Manchuria, was not felt here today by Japanese officials of high standing who said that Chinese-Japanese relations at present moment present a dangerous resemblance to those of 1906.

MARK TWAIN IS FIGHTING EFFECTS OF OVER SMOKING

Humorist Cited as Horrible Example of Tobacco Habit in a Medical Publication.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—In a semi-jocular interview at his home, near Redding, Conn., today, Mark Twain let it become known that he is combating heart disease, brought about by his many years of excessive smoking. Twain was found puffing away at his pipe. "This is the third of the four smokes that I allowed each 24 hours nowadays," he explained. "And I'm obliged to sit right here for several days, because of the effects of the doctor. He allows me only four smokes a day, where I have been all my life taking ten or twelve. I cannot walk three hundred yards or take an ordinary walk now. I feel my heart. When I consider that I lived almost 74 years in as good health as any man and smoked forty times a day without injury, as I thought, only to be cut down now to four smokes a day, I am in no position to dispute anything which my critics may say regarding smoking."

BREAD SUPPLY IS EXHAUSTED NOW

Swedish Farm Laborers Union Will Also Strike

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 7.—The government has published a proclamation enjoining both sides to the dispute to avoid further violations of contracts. After regretting that the government order of mediation had not been accepted, the proclamation expressed the hope that the leaders themselves would settle all differences. The president of the Employers' Association and the Federation of Trades Unions were given an audience by King Gustave today, but nothing resulted from it. The bakers declare that the bread supply is exhausted. The farm laborers' union announced today that its 7,000 members would strike soon as the eye crop is ready for harvesting.

HUMIDITY HIGH HERE YESTERDAY

The heat yesterday was intense, and while the official registration at the meteorological observatory showed the highest temperature to be 74 and the lowest 68, other thermometers about the city showed much warmer weather. The humidity was high in the evening, and is officially given as 79 at nine o'clock. At A. Chipman Smith's drug store on Charlotte street, at 9.30 o'clock, the thermometer registered 77. It was a very warm day on the St. John river and at John O. Van der Sticht's hotel at Evansville the thermometer in the shade registered 92 degrees. There was a high wind and rain storm about 5.30 o'clock on the river. The rain fell in torrents for about a quarter of an hour, but was then followed by sunshine.

HOSTILITIES ARE NOT ANTICIPATED

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 8.—The acute stage reached in the dispute between Turkey and Greece over Crete is causing anxiety in the European capitals such as always accompanies any diplomatic difficulty in that quarter of Europe, but as M. Javalley, the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, said in an interview at Coves last Tuesday, there is an awkward development in the situation, Europe will see that no mischievous effects result soon from the dispute. There is no idea that hostilities will result and every belief is that a satisfactory settlement will be reached. It appears now that Turkey has not proposed anything in the form of an ultimatum to Greece, but has confined herself to verbal protests.

The journey toward Kiel was immediately resumed, Emperor William remaining aboard the Standart and for the greater part of the time in private conversation with Emperor Nicholas.

SAYS AERIAL WARFARE IS IMPRACTICAL YET

German Expert Asserts That Airships Cannot be Used for Strategic Purposes.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—An expert writing in the official naval annual, "Nauticus," delivers the following verdict on the military value of airships: "Airships cannot at present be used as a weapon to the extent which has been described in imaginary descriptions of aerial battles. There can be no question of using airships in this way until more technical improvements have been made. "Of the length of the voyage were reduced by several hours, so that the quantity of fuel would be diminished. It would be quite possible for an airship to carry from 600 to 800 pounds of ammunition. But it would be possible to do much damage there is not sufficient certainty of success with this ammunition because "On the other hand, the moral effect of an attack from the clouds ought not to be undervalued. Experiments hitherto conducted regarding the possibilities of dropping explosives from airships were limited to dropping bags of ballast weighing not more than forty pounds, and the result of these experiments was to cause the airship suddenly to rise, whereby defects in the motors were easily caused. "To sum up, it is today not yet possible to use airships for strategic or technical purposes in war. The use of airships is limited to small areas, except under exceptional circumstances, when exceptional weather conditions favor conditions for aerial vessels. Progress in this respect depends on technical improvements which may be expected with absolute certainty."

BABY GONE, MANY ASSAIL PRISONER

Infuriated Crowd Tries to Lynch Man Who Carried Child Toward Swamp.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 7.—Charged with murdering an infant, a man was being led to the gallows at the St. Louis penitentiary, this afternoon only through the arrival of a score of deputy sheriffs in automobiles. A rope had been placed about his neck and a mob was dragging him to a telephone pole in one of the city's main streets. The deputies charged the mob and rescued him and hurried him to jail. A pond is being dragged for the body of the child. May Williams, of Duncanville, Ill., was in St. Louis today to find a home for the child. Failing in this, the woman started home. Pullman accompanied her to the suburban car, and as they reached the suburbs of East St. Louis he snatched the child from her arms and jumped off. The following day he eluded her in a swamp in Edgemoor, an East St. Louis suburb. Pullman was arrested in Belleville two hours later and a charge of murder entered against him, on the mother's information. Accompanied by two deputies he was taken back to Edgemoor and the swamp searched. When the charge against him became known a mob overpowered the deputies and tied a rope about the prisoner's neck. Surrounded by two hundred infuriated men, Pullman was dragged to a nearby telephone pole. A man had started to climb the pole with the rope, when reinforcements arrived and rescued Pullman. Shivering with fear, Pullman was subjected to a severe examination tonight, but maintains his innocence, declaring that the baby is alive and is being cared for by friends, whose names he refused to give.
