THE JEWS IN AUSTRALIA. Have Played a Prominent Part in Develop ment of the Colony.

The appointment of Sir Julian Salomons as Agent-General of New South Wales would be a pleasing announcement to the English Jews if it stood alone as a disconed fact of contemporary politics. But ing after the resignation of Sir Saul Samuel, and marking for the first time in history the holding by two Jews in practically immediate succession of an important semi-diplomatic post, it is doubly welcome to us. It shows the completeness with which racial and religious dividing marks have been obliterated in the infant nawith which they have adopted the lessons of equality that older nations have preached. It shows that the Jews are becoming ed. It shows that the Jews are becoming daily more identified with the national life, and becoming indissolubly incorporated in the great fabric of the British Empire. Above all, it demonstrates that in the great pioneer work of empire-building they are not behind other Englishmen, that they are helping to carry the British power on-generation amply demonstrate. That they have borne an honorable part in the life of Australasia the successive appointment greatly out of shape. She was so dis-of the Jews to the highest post in the gift heartened that she would weep at the of Montefiore. In Adelaide, too, the two brothers gave their name to a well-known hill; while the bank of Australia survives to this day as a living monument of their activity and success, for they took a leading part in its establishment. Jacob Montedore being for a considerable time one of the energetic directors. The successive appointments of Sir Saul Samuel and Sir Julian Salomons is, therefore, in one sense but a recognition of the work which Jews have accomplished in the interests of the Australian colonies. As a quasi-diplomatic post, too, it serves to remind us of the strangely insignificant shape which Jews play in the diplomatic profession as a whole. Oscar Straus, the present United States Minister to Turkey, is of course, a striking exception to the rule. The probable cause is, no doubt, the fact that it is only recently that Jews have been admitted to political rights or the service of the State at all. But it is more than likely that, with the progress of time, their natural cosmopolitanism, linguistic talent and taculty of adaptation will mere than redress the unfavorable balance in this respect —Jewish Chromicle.

The following anecdote illustrates the Prince of Wales's sense of humour as well special command, to preach before her Majesty. Naturally, he was overcome with nervousness He was waiting for luncheon after service, when, greatly to his surprise, he was informed the Prince wished to see him.

Shaking hands with him warmly, his Royal Highness thanked him heartly for his sermon, especially for the brevity of it, adding—

'My dear sir, you can't think what a relief it was. I have known sermons to be so long here that the very collie dogs have gone up the pulpit stairs and yawned in the preacher's face.'

Atter long consideration and much hesi-After long consideration and muon acestancy about having her name made public, Mrs. John A. Copland, wite of the editor and proprietor of the Harriston Tribune, has resolved that the world should know how wonderfully her health was restored by the timely use of Dr. Williams' Pink-Pills for Pale people. Our representative interviewed Mr. Copland and the follow-ing is his statement of the case: Whilst we were living in Torento at

No. 99 McGill street, my wife took ill in the autumn of 1894, and had such racking pains that she could hardly stir. One of the best specialists in Toronto was called in and he diagnosed the case one of acute ward, coming as messengers from colonies to mother country and forming in their own persons the human bond between Englishmen and their kith and kin beyond the ocean.

knew how sick she was, and can corroborate every word I have said. Either my self or my wite are willing to swear to the truth of these statements.

Mr. Copland has been laughed at for the enthusiasm with which he has sung the praises of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but he believes that anything so valuable to mankind should get all the praise it deserves.

Mrs. Copland was seen at her residence on King street, Harriston, and she corroborated every word her husband has said. She reluctantly gave consent to have her name published, but said that she thought is proper that the efficacy of these pills should be made known. She was led to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through seeing the accounts of cures in the newspapers.

But the name which leaps most prominently to one's mind in this connection is the ever-honored ene of Montefiore. Fifty years ago when the colony of New South Wales barely felt its feet—an infant indeed among the family of nations—Jacob and Joseph Montefiore had founded a firm there which stood in the front rank of busineded, boasted one of the largest sheeping in New South Wales, and his name is writtlarge in the colony's history.
