START THURSDAY ON NORMAL SCHOOL

Contractor J. Fred Ryan, who has been awarded the contract for the extension of the Provincial Normal School building, expects to commence work on Thursday morning and everything is now being arranged for breaking ground that day.

The contract calls for the extension to be ready for occupancy when the Normal School re-opens for the next academic year in September and with the construction of the new Agricultural and Public Library at Woodstock as well as the local work Mr. Ryan will have a busy season.

Description of the Building. The Normal School extension will comprise a main building 100x77 feet with an annex 20x40 feet, both two stories high with a basement.

The main building will stand directly in the rear of the present Normal School and will contain on the ground floor a hall for physical drill 40x50 feet, two large rooms for manual training (carpentry) with lumber room, office and exhibition room.

The annex contains the passage connecting the new building with the present structure, and of this passage will be placed the toilet ranges for the entire building.

The foundation and basement walls will be of cement, with hollow brick walls above. The roof will be flat, covered with felt and gravel, with a narrow slope and overhanging cornice all round covered with galvanized iron.

The design of the present building is to a certain extent repeated in the features of the annex, but it has been found desirable to have more window surface in connection with the class rooms, etc., than could have been provided by a continuance of the design of the present building.

The annex will be of brick and will not only provide increased accommodation but will add to the appearance of the school.

P. D. M'KENZIE DROPPED DEAD AT LONG'S HOTEL

Well Known Hotel Proprietor Met Tragic Death Monday Afternoon.

HEART FAILURE WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

Had Just Shown a Guest to His Room and Thought He was in Good Health.

Death came with tragic suddenness to Mr. P. D. McKenzie, proprietor of Long's Hotel, late yesterday afternoon and caused a shock to his family and many friends.

Mr. McKenzie had not been in his usual good health recently but during the early part of the afternoon remarked to his wife that he was feeling about as well as he ever did.

About 5 o'clock Mr. H. O. Ames, of Boston, arrived at the hotel and registered. Mr. McKenzie then accompanied him up the stairs to show him his room and started down to the office again. Not more than half a minute later—just as soon as he took off his coat—Mr. Ames started down the stairs and was horrified to find that Mr. McKenzie had fallen and was apparently dead or dying.

The alarm was at once given and doctors were hurriedly summoned. Dr. G. C. VanWart was the first to arrive, but when he got there Mr. McKenzie was dead and beyond all earthly aid. Drs. Irvine and Atherton arrived later, and it was found by the physicians that death had been due to heart failure.

The late Mr. McKenzie was one of Fredericton's best known and most highly respected citizens. He was born at St. John sixty-two years ago and afterwards lived in Kings County before coming to Fredericton thirty-seven years ago.

For some years he conducted a large boarding house on Queen street and coaching business, and fifteen years ago he became the proprietor of Long's Hotel, which he conducted up to the time of his death. He served as an alderman in 1906, the year the city's sewerage system was installed, and he was an active member of the Brunswick St. United Baptist church, and also a member of the Independent Order of Foresters.

Besides his widow, who was formerly Miss Rachel Walton, of Greenwich, King's County, the deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Lankford Good, Mrs. Arthur K. Limerick and Miss Daisy McKenzie, all of this city. One sister, Mrs. Thomas Earle, of Tennant's Cove, Queens County, also survives.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. E. Wilson will conduct the services and interment will be made at the Rural cemetery.

HEN PROBLEM IS LATEST DIFFICULTY FOR LOCAL POLICE

First Cases Under Bye-laws will Come Up in Police Court This Week.

WON'T ALLOW HENS TO RUN AT LARGE

Novel Sign Posted by Woman Whose Dog Likes a Few Chickens for Lunch.

The police department has decided to deal with the hen question. On the face it doesn't sound like a very heavy problem, but as a matter of fact it is. Chief McColom says that he now has on the force an officer who not only knows all about the people, but he also knows the hens as well.

To be able to identify a hen, call it by name and ask it how its owner is today requires the services of an expert, and just such an official is necessary to properly deal with the hen problem. Under the bye laws hens are not allowed to run at large around town. But hens can't read the bye laws, and apparently some of their owners don't bother doing so either.

The first cases will come up in the police court this week, information having been laid against some alleged owners of hens requiring them to appear in the court and answer to the charge of allowing their hens to run at large. One woman residing on Saunders street who is said to have had more or less trouble because her dog has a habit of eating two or three of the neighbors' chickens when they visit her yard, has posted a notice on her property which reads something like this: "I will not be responsible for any chickens that come into my yard."

Accepted New Pastorate. Rev. George Tattler, of New Carlisle, Northumberland County, has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church at Tabusintac.

The girl with three engagement rings is having a regular circus.

The Old Colony Pattern

The very spirit of Colonial days is typified in the Old Colony pattern. In addition to the quality and simplicity that were characteristic of the old-time designs, it possesses the poise and beauty that result from skill and experience joined with modern methods.
