In the House of Lords on Tuesday, Salisbury stated that the Opposition could not take action, which would send the Land Bill back to the Commons, which had removed its dangerous excrescences. He expressed the hope that the Bill would be a great benefit to the tenants, and not much harm to the landlords. The Lords then agreed to the amendments of the Commons. amendments of the Commo

Dublin, Aug. 17 .- There was serious rioting at Carrick-on-Shannon yesterday. The police charged the mob. Several persons were badly hurt.

The New York Herald's special says the Liberals surrendere, and the Lords record a dangerous triumph. The most important concessions in the Land Bill were made to the Lords. The landlords were made to the Lords. The landlords were given permission to drag tenants into court, thus opening up an immense vista of law suits, and adding additional horrors to the life of Irish peasants. The elements of uncertainty were admitted into the clause dealing with fixing fair rents, and the prospect of the tenant having his property in improvements recognized, seriously diminished. Concessions to the Lords under these three heads will cost the Irish tenants millons of pounds ster-ling. Salisbury bitterly opposed the compromise, but was everborne by the more timid element of the Conservative party. In accepting the compromise the Conservatives have thrown away a splendid chance of returning to power, and put themselves at the mercy of the radical element.

At a meeting of the Land League on Tuesday, Sexton, alluding to hints that the League desired to maintain secrecy respecting its expenditures, said that having to fight an infuriated class and a vindictive Government capable of des-cending to any meanness, they must have confidential proceedings. The time would come when the expenditure of every penny would be submitted to the strictest London, Aug. 17th.—In the House of Commons to-day, on motion for going in-to Supply, Parnell moved that the Coercion Act has not been administered in accordance with the pledges Ministers gave when they induced Parliament to suspend the constitution. He declared that the action of the Government with regard to coercion prevented gratitude for the Land Bill. It was well known that but for the Land League the whole strength of the Commons would have been unavailing to force the bill through the House of Lords. He thought the Irish people, if wise, would continue to rely upon their own exertions, which procured them such an instalment of their just rights.

others, will be liberated before Parliament Great Britain.

London, Aug 15.—The Duke of Argyle who was married recently to the daughter of the Bishop of Albans, is denounced by the Radical press as the instigator of the obstructive policy of the Lords on the Land Bill. It is said the Duke is so incensed against the Government that he has written the Marquis of Lorne, recom-mending hin to resign the Governor-Generalship of Canada, so that the house of Argyle may not be beholden in any respect to the Ministry of the day. Should the conference of the two Houses fail, Mr. Gladstone will call an autumn session, introducing a still stronger and more sweep-ing Bill. Some of his friends go so far as to say that if no arrangement can be reached next week the Premier will at once dissolve Parliament, and appeal to to the country. The meeting of the Committee of Federation of the Liberal Association to-day, in reference to the action of the House of Lords on the Land Bill, was very numer-ously attended. Lawson, Monk, Carlings, Firth and Barron, members of Parliament, were present. Resolutions were passed declaring the Lords had mutilated the Land Bill in the interest of the land owners so as to render it wholly unacceptable, and urging the Government to adhere firmly to the Bill as it finally left the House of Commons, and to resist the dic-House of Commons, and to resist the dictation of a class majority in the House of Lords. THE BURIAL OF PIUS IX.

The following letter has been sent by Cardinal Guibert, Archbishop of Paris, to Pope Leo XIII.:

Most Holy Father,—I could not repress a feeling of indignation and deep sorrow on learning what has just happened at Rome on the occasion of the removal of the mortal remains of Pius IX. Not even the natural respect for the dead could restrain the hatred of the wretches who are a disgrace to humanity. They chose the moment when a pious and contem-plative crowd was escorting to their last resting-place the venerated remains of the late Pontiff to give vent to their profane fury, threatening to throw the body into the river, insulting the deceased by their barefaced attempts. What is to be expected from revolutionary passions when con-scious of impunity? The scenes that took place during that awful night of the 12th of July, in the centre of Christian civilization, are worthy of the darkest days of barbarism, and will leave an indelable stain of disgrace upon the period, full of sadness, in which we live. Indeed, if these men cannot allow the hearse bearing the remains of a saint and great Pope to pass by in peace, how are we to expect that they will show respect to your august person? And we may gather from that what we are to think of the so-called liberty guaranteed, we were told, to the Vicar of Jesus Christ by those who usurped his states. I wish before all

London, August 18.—An active exchange of dispatches has been proceeding during the last few days between London, Rome, and Madrid on the subject of indemnities claimed by the English, Italian, and Spanish subjects from the Bey of Tunis in connection with the bombard ment of Sfax, and there is reason to believe that a perfect understanding has been arrived at, even after the Bey declaring his utter impotence to deal with the matter.

LONDON COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.

We have much pleasure in calling the attention of the readers of the Record to the advertisement of Messrs, Yerex & Panton, Proprietors of the London Commercial College, which appears in this issue of the paper. It is but natural that we should take a certain degree of pride in referring to any institution of learning in our city, which has secured the confidence and patronage of the intelligent business community of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as well as of several States of the American Republic, and especially mest industry as the accountied, persevering effort to so arrange a course of study, both comprehensive and practical, and to so clearly and fully elucidate the principles of every subject taught, that students, upon leaving the college should be so thoroughly gounded in everything pertaining to a business course that they should feel tolerably self reliant, and be thoroughly qualified for the positions for which they have been fitting themselves, whether they obtain situations in either wholesale or retail mercantile establishments, Banking houses, or manufactories, or engage in business on their own account. That this is the leading business training school of the Dominion is, we believe, now the principal point made by all being that the power of arrest under the Coercion Act had been used to crush political agitation, and not against the ruffians whom Forster denounced in his speech in introducing the Coercion Bill.

Johnson, Solicitor-General for Ireland, denied these accusations. He hoped before long, when peace and order had been thoroughly restored, the prison doors might be opened.

Anderson (Advanced Liberal) joined Nolan in urging the immediate release of the "suspects."

The body of the unfortunate young man, Wilson, who was drowned by being run down by the steamer Algerian, on Burlington Bay, Tuesday night, while in a boat, has been recovered. Deceased was a very promising and popular young man, employed in Davis & McCullogh's jewell-stallialnader under the Coercion Act.

Popular organs, discussing the refusal of the Government to release "suspects," allude to the eact of the American Government after the enfranchisement of the negrees as a precedent, and ask whether the joy of liberated slaves would not have been changed to indignation if they had been changed to indignation if they had the price of the prisoners would be long deferred.
