RICHEST MARQUIS IN BRITAIN WAS WITHOUT A COAT

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—A London cable to the Tribune says:

The reason why the Marquis of Angelesy, one of the wealthiest peers in England, suddenly returned from France a few days ago, and after remaining in the Ritz Hotel, twenty-four hours, hastened back to rejoin his regiment, has just been related. It appears that Lord Angelesy was forced to apply for a brief leave of absence because he actually did not have a coat to his back. The ordinary wear and tear of campaigning started the work of demolition on a khaki uniform of a somewhat fragile quality, designed by a fashionable tailor, and a piece of shrapnel completed it by ripping the whole back out, yet, without wounding his lordship.

The marquis had two uniform coats made during his brief visit. It is curious to note that the last holder of the title, the present Marquis's cousin, was chiefly famous as the possessor of the most extensive wardrobe in England, including more than three hundred coats.

Russians May Outflank the German Army

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

LONDON, Nov. 21, 12 noon.—The warring armies on both battle fronts seem to-day to have come to a pause as if an interval were necessary for them to solve the new difficulties of their positions raised by the unexpected severity of the first onslaught of winter.

In West Flanders reports from many sources indicate that all the military operations have been completely suspended, while along the rest of the western line only desultory artillery duels prevent the front from giving the impression that a truce existed. A new crop of stories has arisen that the Germans are sending heavy guns and submarines by rail to Belgium, destined for the coast, while other reports declare that long trains, capable all told of moving 200,000 men, are being prepared to take German reinforcements to the eastern front.

Vienna and Berlin agree that nothing decisive has occurred in Poland, while Petrograd claims that the German offensive between the Warta and the Vistula has been checked so definitely that the Russians have been enabled to resume the aggressive, the attitude which they signalized by the capture of a battery of German artillery to the northeast of Lodz. This, if true, indicates the possibility that the Germans are in danger of being outflanked. Nevertheless it is apparent that the two armies are facing each other and waiting for the next move in what may prove to be one of the most decisive battles of the eastern campaign.

A week ago the Germans were retreating from Warsaw. They turned at bay territory, controlled by their own strategic railroad system, and brushing aside the Russian cavalry, they began to push back the army of Emperor Nicholas until a position between the Vistula and the Warta was reached. This is the point where the experts predicted that the Germans would make their stand on the retreat from Warsaw. Now the reoccupation of this line probably will mean that the second phase of the Polish campaign will proceed on the more or less expected lines.

The cold weather is having its effect on the eastern front also, but, contrary to the prevailing opinion, General Von Hindenburg maintains that this will favor the Germans, for the reason that the Russians, the ground being frozen, will not be able to dig themselves in.

ADMITS GRAVITY OF SITUATION

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Times' special correspondent at Vienna says: Count Apponye, writing in The Vienna Zeit, says: "The situation certainly is very grave. We find ourselves, we and our faithful allies, before a strong enemy and coalition created by hate, envy and cupidity, but let us not allow ourselves to fall into black pessimism. It is our duty to prepare our people and to encourage them towards every possible effort and sacrifice."

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all it sstages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrm being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
