

REUBEN DRAPER

Few men have had such a Thrilling Experience.

A Queer Gentleman who Relates an Interesting Story of a Narrow Escape—Happy Deliverance just in the Nick of Time.

Bristol, Que., May 12.—(Special)—There are not many men or women alive to-day who have passed through such a terrible trial as Mr. R. Draper, of this place. Mr. Draper says:

"About four years ago I was taken ill with what I thought was Gravel. I was suffering great pain so I sent for the doctor, he gave me some medicine and said he would call again."

"He came twice more and charged fifteen dollars. I was a little better but not at all well, and in a short time after I took another bad spell."

"This time I sent for another doctor, with about the same results, only I was getting weaker all the time. Then a man advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, for he said they had cured his mother. I thought I would try them and I got a box and commenced to take them right away. After I had taken the first dose, I passed a stone as large as a bean, and in four days after I passed another about the size of a grain of barley. This gave me great relief and I commenced to feel better at once. The improvement continued and I gained strength very rapidly until in a short time I was as well as ever."

"This is over four years ago, and I have not had the slightest return of the trouble since, so that I know now that my cure was an absolute and permanent one."

Miss Long Drawn Out. "I am afraid that young Featherly, who calls on you so often, is rather a fast young man," said a father to his daughter.

"Oh, no, he isn't, father," replied the little brother, who was present.

"What do you know about Mr. Featherly?" demanded the old man.

"I only know," the little man replied, "that I heard him ask sister for a kiss last night, and she told him he could have one if he would be quick about it; but it was the slowest kiss that I ever saw."

MARRIAGE MAXIMS. A marriage must be one of two things, happy or unhappy. It is an existence where but one condition can exist. You are supremely blest or you are cruelly cursed. The stipules governing a happy marriage may be found in the following list: deviation from the same may not ensure discord, but it will certainly prevent accord. Read them over and the very simplicity of each one's duty to the other will appear not only slight but trivial; act upon them in all sincerity and you'll find that crowning happiness the human heart craves, "the love at home."

Husbands and wives should have no secrets from each other; yet should not bore one another by relating things that do not interest each other. A wife should keep her husband from wandering from his own fire-side by providing at home the attractions he seeks abroad. Husbands should encourage and cheer their wives by taking an interest in domestic affairs. A wife should study and improve her mind, and keep up with the times, so that she may be a companion for her husband. A man should make a fair division of the family finances, give his wife half of all he earns, and save a quarter. The wife should always meet her husband when he returns home with a glad, sweet smile. A man should never neglect the little attentions after marriage that he showed his wife when he was courting her. A wife should always be well dressed and keep herself young and beautiful, in order to retain her fascination for her husband. A husband should always accompany his wife cheerily when she wants to go out in society or to places of amusement in the evening. Finally, a woman should be a home angel, with all her interest centred in her husband and children.

Sponges to Kill Rats. Jersey Pastor-Druggist Tries Brand New Extirminator With Success. The Rev. S. J. Betts, pastor of the People's Baptist Church, of Bayonne, has discovered a brand new method of destroying rats. There isn't any patent on it, either. Anybody may adopt it. Mr. Betts is not only a pastor but a druggist as well. In the basement of his drug store there appeared some time ago a small army of rats. The dominie-druggist couldn't understand what attracted them, but there the rats were, and a war of extermination was begun against them. One day last week a big ball-shaped rat, with which agility seemed to be a lost accomplishment, was cornered and killed. An autopsy was performed on the body and it disclosed what was the attraction in the basement for the rats. They were sponge eaters. This particular rat had swallowed a big piece of sponge and it had swollen so much inside him that he could only move with difficulty. That gave the dominie his rat ridding device. Every night now nice little meals of sponge and cheese, with basins of water to quench their thirst and to help results, are left for the rats. Every morning there was a yield of dead rats, till soon the pastor was practically rid of the pest.—N. Y. Sun.

MUSCULAR SORENESS

As the result of over-exertion and exposure to heat and cold or from whatever cause, may be treated successfully by the timely application of St. Jacobs Oil. A oil should be applied vigorously, for at least twenty minutes, two or three times daily, when all pain, soreness and stiffness will be removed in twenty-four hours. It will also strengthen and harden the muscles. Football players, cyclists, gymnasts, and all athletes will find St. Jacobs Oil superior to any other remedy for outward application, for the reason that its action is more rapid and its effect permanent. Thousands of people all over the world use and recommend St. Jacobs Oil for muscular soreness. A bottle is quite sufficient to prove its efficacy. In cases where muscular soreness is complicated with other ailments, which requires an alternative, Vogel's Curative Compound should be taken.

New York Central and Hudson River Railroad. The above name is a house-hold word, and the superior excellence of the road should be sufficient to attract most people, but now that the rate is the same to New York and points east as by any other route, their recommendation should be sought. Everybody will tell you it is the best.

Journalism in Kansas. "Wichita's damnable negro sheet refers to the editor of a paper and some of his friends as 'bums,' says a Topeka, Kan., journal published by colored people. 'We want this fool to understand that it takes men of more intelligent caliber to handle our course than him. As we ride upon a railroad pass, we don't have to be called a bumb by a jealous negro sheet that walks.'"

Health Hints. From an Official Circular by Buffalo Health Officer. (Buffalo Courier.) Women should not wear long trailing skirts if the wish of Health Commissioner Walter D. Greene were observed. In a pamphlet issued yesterday for gratuitous circulation Dr. Greene calls attention to some of the evils which consumption is doing. He declared that the skirts of women dragging on the streets and in street cars tend to stir up the bacilli which are carried in the wind to another. "Women should not wear skirts that drag," said Dr. Greene. "It is the duty of women to see to their own ends and for the health of those about them, to wear short skirts."

WHAT DOCTOR SAID WENT.

At the last annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States Major John Van R. Hofr, Medical Department, U. S. A., in the course of his speech accepting the Presidency of the association told the following story: "A lady was passing through the wards of an over-crowded military hospital when she suddenly encountered two men sawing and hammering on some boards. She looked at them in some surprise, and wonderingly asked: 'What are you doing there, my men?' They looked up at her, and one of them said: 'We are making a coffin, that's what we are doing.' 'A coffin?' she asked. 'For whom are you making a coffin?' 'For that fellow over there in that bed. Don't you see him?' 'The lady looked in the direction indicated, and saw a man apparently in good condition and watching the operation with great interest. 'What's that man in that bed, and, indeed, he does not look as if he was going to die. Can't you postpone this work?' 'No, the men said, 'we can't postpone the work until he is dead, we are making the coffin, and he knows what he gave him.'"—New York Army and Navy Journal.

at Cod Liver Oil is the means of life, and enjoyment of life to thousands: men women and children. When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden. When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health. When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright. It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it? Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach. If you have not tried it, send for free sample. Its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto. 50c. and $1.00 all druggists.

A Queer Suicide in Alaska. The startling suicide of John Daly, of Cowley, near Bennett, on the line of the White Pass and Yukon Railroad, was the talk of Skagway when the Dolphin departed south last Sunday night. The man took a sure and effective method of shuffling off this mortal coil. He cut a hole in the ice of the creek just small enough to pass through, squeezed himself down in the aperture into the icy cold water, and shoved himself along under the ice for several feet before he became unconscious. The man made certain of his death. He cut the hole so small that there was not one chance in a thousand of ever getting back through. Then very deliberately, he took off his hat and forced his body down beneath the thick ice, and so close was the fit that he scathed the flesh on his shoulders.—Seattle Daily Times.

The man who is puffed up with pride is the one who can scarcely contain himself.

Two washings with Sunlight Soap wear the linen less than one wash with common soap.
