THE NOBILITY OF WORK.

It has become a popular practice, says an exchange, with a certain class of short-sighted idealists to talk and write about the mercenary spirit abroad in the world, and to speak, to say the least, disparagingly of the operations of individuals and corporations who devote their energies to a large extent to mundane affairs. Never was a position taken more untenable than that of the discrediting endeavor in the industrial and business world. The earth is peopled with many millions of human beings with many varied wants to be supplied. Idealists and their theories cannot satisfy the material requirements of the human race. If it were not for the busy men who devote their energies to production and dissemination the world would be in a sorry fix.

Take, for instance, the farmer. He is justified in devoting a preponderating portion of his time, thought and endeavor to the raising of farm products. There is a world of people crying for bread, and, whether he thinks of this phase of the matter or not, his efforts are not in vain. If he works only for himself and with an eye to his own particular reward solely, the world is benefited just the same. If he hears, on the other hand, the call of those dependent on him—those unknown and unseen entities to whom he ministers—so much the better for himself, for he will experience a pleasure in his toil which he would otherwise lose. But, in any case, his efforts demanded imperatively by the need of his fellow-men, and he deserves the pecuniary reward which is forthcoming.

No less important to the world are the manufacturing industries which convert raw food products into consumable form. The most strenuous endeavor is required of those who engage in such business, or enterprise, or whatever it may be termed. The same is true of transportation enterprise by land or sea, and of any of the great industries which exist by reason of a necessity experienced by humanity at large.

There is nothing more noble, nothing more highly imperative, than untiring zeal and endeavor in material things. The active man, wrapped up in the pressing affairs of production and trade, has from time immemorial been looked upon with aly, fatuous superciliousness by idle aristocrats, by certain so-called artistic and aesthetic classes, and by well-meaning but short-sighted idealists. It is an impression which has too long enjoyed a certain amount of popular sway. When all is said and done, there is no more noble figure than the man who hears the call of the world for the necessities of existence, and who hastens to devote his energies and his life in an endeavor to respond. Next to him probably is the man who, although he does not hear the call, does his day's work, day after day, at the plow, in the factory, at the throttle of an engine, or in the managerial chair in the office of an industrial and commercial enterprise. The workers of the world in every walk of life, whether they are rich or poor, millionaires or laborers, are the men most deserving of consideration and of honor, so long as their enterprise is conducted legitimately.

It is true that practices which are not legitimate, practices which perhaps are far from honest, have crept into industrial effort in certain quarters. Perhaps this is due, to some extent at least, to the fact that little incentive has been left for those engaged in the world's hum-drum work outside of the mercenary reward. There is a true poetry, a true idealism, connected with the toil and mold of each day, which, if given consideration by the world at large, would tend to elevate the workers from the millionaires down.

The cry of the age is for skilled and enthusiastic head and hand workers in industrial effort, and in the other departments of endeavor allied thereto. Nothing should be said or written to interfere with this demand. Crime and dishonesty in business should be punished, whether the cheat is a millionaire or an ordinary farmer. The illegitimate greed of monopolists is a thing to fight, and the oppression of combines, where such exist, should be warred against unceasingly until there is a free, unrestricted field for every willing worker who is ambitious to take his part in catering to humanity, and to participate in the legitimate rewards for such endeavor. The purist, the faddist, and the idealist should let the busy man alone. Work, and plenty of it, is the best preventative of moral mischief, and a man will not be less fitted for the Elysium of the future if he has spent himself in ministering to the crying material needs of his fellow-men on earth.

DON'T PUT IT OFF LONGER

Get Rid of That Indigestion at Once by Using Mi-o-na.

Either through slackness or carelessness, hundreds of people slowly poison themselves by chronic indigestion. By neglecting to cure at once any sluggishness of the important organs of digestion the system is filled with fermenting and decaying food that results in sick headaches, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, specks before the eyes, sleeplessness, nervous troubles and the many other symptoms that are the direct result of indigestion.

The want of a perfectly safe yet effective cure for indigestion and stomach troubles in their many forms was felt up to the time of the successful investigations that resulted in the production of Mi-o-na stomach tablets. They quickly cure the worst cases of indigestion, and the pain and distress which are often felt after meals disappear in a very few days—such is the wonderful curative power of Mi-o-na.

The old-fashioned medicines for stomach troubles merely digest the food, while Mi-o-na strengthens the digestive organs so that they soon become able to care for the food that is eaten.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets cost but 50 cents a box and do more real good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets. C. H. Gunn & Co. give an absolute, unqualified guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na fails to cure.

DISTRICT

BLENHEIM.

Blenheim, May 14.—Mrs. Ridley, of Ridgetown, is at present the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Hanks.

Mrs. Peter Caughey entertained last night at a juvenile "surprise party," given by her little daughter Mary, whose birthday it was.

A very large number of Masons attended the funeral of the late J. W. Stokes yesterday and presented quite an imposing appearance as they marched "en masse."

There seems to be a lot of moving just now; hardly a day passing that there are not seen loads of household furniture on the streets.

Quite a number of young folks took advantage of the nice evening and drove out last night to the anniversary concert given by the Methodist congregation on the 4th line, Harwich.

The "Buri Decanal Chapter" of the County of Kent, also the S. S. and W. A. M. A. convention meet today at Chatham. The rector, Rev. C. McQuillan, and Mrs. K. K. Morris, are attending from Blenheim.

Automobiles are again seen quite often passing through Blenheim. The "Lake Shore Road" seems to be the favorite track for these horseless carriages.

The "social evening" held by the ladies of Trinity church at Mr. W. Newman's, proved very enjoyable and also instructive, and was thoroughly appreciated by all present.

YOUTH'S VITALITY SAPPED AWAY.

Your child looks poorly, tired and fretful. You would like this boy or girl to be more robust, more energetic and vivacious. The "something" that is wrong is simply this. Stomach and bowels need attention. Constipation and indigestion must be required, new life and vigor are required in the blood, slight assistance is needed for the kidneys and liver. Nothing is so effective as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They put new life into young folks as well as the old ones. Every child should use this medicine regularly because its benefits are not to be had in any other way. 25c. at all dealers.

KENT BRIDGE.

A most successful bazaar, supper and concert was given Tuesday afternoon and evening in connection with the re-opening of Knox church, which has just been completed after destruction by fire six months ago. Special mention should be made of the concert, which was of the highest order. G. W. Sulman, prospective M. P. P., the prince of good fellows as well as prince of story-tellers, filled the chair, and kept the large audience in continual good humor by his witty stories and apt remarks. Nor must we forget the most excellent speech by D. A. Gordon, M. P., of Wallaceburg, which was both instructive and interesting. Mr. Gordon's solo was also received with much merited applause, while the trio, Mr. Mrs. and Miss Gordon, left nothing to be desired. Miss Ruby Gordon charmed her hearers by her most wonderful voice and excellent rendering of "A Little White." Miss McPherson, of Blenheim, sang a couple of numbers in pleasing style, and Miss Flo. Dunlop, of Chatham, and Miss Hazel Webster, of Dresden, each gave two readings, which were received with well deserved applause.

Little Miss McMillan and Master Thatcher, of Estany, had to respond to an encore, and the local soloists, Miss Marie Fleming and Mr. Clifford Langford, completed a program which will long be remembered here, as will the apt remarks and hearty congratulations of Rev. Mr. McKelvie and Mr. Williams, of the Sovereign Bank, Chatham. The proceeds netted over $150.

Mrs. John Fleming, of Windsor, is visiting relatives here. Miss Potter, of Chatham, returned home on Wednesday, after spending a few days in the village.

Ed. Worth, Jr., C. P. R. operator, left for London last Tuesday.

George K. Langford returned home Friday.

Rev. Mr. McInnis, of Thamesville, preached in Knox church Sunday evening. Mr. Hare took the service in Thamesville.

S. S. convention in the Methodist church May 16, afternoon and evening.

A. W. Gregory is spending a few days in London.

We regret to note the sad death of Mr. Ed. Norton, which occurred last Saturday morning—the effects of blood poisoning resulting from a cut from an axe some weeks ago. The family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow.

Mrs. (Dr.) McGregor and children, of London, are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Langford. The football days are coming again, and the boys in green and orange are at it again. After defeating Dover-Raleigh last week, they lined up against Lacroix street here last Saturday and scored another victory—4 goals to 0. The grounds were not in very good condition, owing to a slight fall of snow the preceding night, and a number of the players had some nasty falls, but no one was seriously injured. If players would follow the example of the English teams and play the "ball," not the "man," it would be a cleaner game.

READY ON THE SHELF.

That's where you'll find "Nerviline" in every well regulated household. So pleasant to take that even little children will cry for it. So certain to cure coughs, sudden colds and tight chest that thousands of bottles are used every day. Polson's Nerviline does prevent illness, it does ease pain and inflammation, and by being handy will save worry and keep down the doctor bills. Large bottles sold for a quarter at all dealers.

Nine years ago I had catarrh of the stomach, and dyspepsia, which three doctors failed even to relieve. A bottle of Merrifield's Veteran's Sure Cure cured me permanently. I have been well ever since. — James Pettypiece, Northwood, Ont. Mr. Merrifield, — Your Veteran's Sure Cure cured me of rheumatism of catarrh of the stomach, when I had no hope of getting better. It is the greatest of medicines — James Ferguson, Inwood, Ont. $1 and 50c. bottles sent anywhere on receipt of price. The V. S. C. Medicine Company, Limited, Chatham, Ont.; W. K. Merrifield, Manager, Scane Block, King street.
