ENGINEER'S LAST RUN.

His Story of How He Lived His Life All Over in a Flash. "Drowning is not the only experience that causes a man to read his own biography in the flash of a second," said F. C. Roberts, a locomotive engineer.

"They took me to the hospital, and nine days later I woke up after a spell of brain fever. The trains stopped so close together the pilots were sprung out of place, but otherwise there was no damage. They had to get a new engineer before my train pulled out, though, and that was the last time I ever pulled a throttle."

The Rival Nightingales.

A writer on birds, Edmund Selous, describes a song contest between two male nightingales. "Frenzied," he says, "did not seem to blind them on the merit of each other's performance. Though often one, upon hearing the sweet, hostile strains, would burst forth instantly itself—and here there was no certain mark of appreciation—yet sometimes, perhaps quite as often, it would put its head on one side and listen with exactly the appearance of a musical connoisseur, weighing, testing and appraising each note as it issued from the rival bill."

FIERCEST FIGHT YET.

All the Russian Forts in Front of Nogi's Right Army Have Fallen.

Tokio, Dec 23 3 30 p m.—The following report was received from the besiegers at Port Arthur this afternoon.

"A body of our right wing surprised the enemy at Housayvotun (Housayvotun) and Siaofoatun (Housayvotun) the latter about six and a half miles northwest of Port Arthur) at ten o'clock Saturday night and occupied the villages and subsequently dislodging the enemy, occupied the whole of Taliuchiatun (about five miles northwest of Port Arthur) at 2.55 o'clock this morning.

"Our repeated attacks during the past few days were uniformly successful and now the whole of the enemy's advanced positions fronting our right wing is in our hands."

THE MOST TERRIBLE FIGHT YET.

Headquarters of the Japanese Third Army Before Port Arthur. Dec 20, via Yukow. (delayed in transmission) via Tien Tsin, Dec 24.—Since the general assault of Nov 26-27 (against the forts of Kihlung and Kekewan Mountains, resulting in furious fighting and great loss of life and described at length by the Associated Press correspondent in a despatch filed Nov 28) the Japanese have been engaged in tunnelling under the north fort of Kekewan Mountain. Two main tunnels ran under the north wall of the fort from the moat for a distance of forty feet and there were four short branch tunnels.

On the morning of Dec 18 seven dynamite mines were laid, the object of which was to destroy the north wall and so give the Japanese access to the fort. The fort had so long resisted the assaults of the Japanese that it was considered necessary that the explosions of the mines and the subsequent attacks should be carefully planned.

General Samejima, commanding the left division, asked for volunteers who would be prepared to capture the fort or to die in the attempt. Two entire battalions answered the general's call, one from the left division and the other from the general reserves.

The first battalion remained in the caaponiere during the explosions of the mines, while the second battalion was in a parallel close to the wall of the counterscarp.

In order that the dark blue uniform of the men might not show against the brown of the soil which would be turned by the force of the explosion, all the attackers wore brown woolen underdresses over their trousers and brown sweaters over their tunics. Instead of a cap each man wore a brown woolen headpiece which extended to the shoulders, leaving only the face visible.

Every man carried a rifle in his right hand and dynamite grenades in his left, while a lighted slow match was attached to his cartridge belt with which to ignite the fuses of the grenades.

In this peculiar garb, with the sighted matches at their waists, the troops presented a strange appearance. The soldiers of the battalions in the caaponiere galleries, who were distinguished by white badges on their arms, were to make the second assault. General Samejima personally conducted these assaults at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Dec 19, after the explosions had taken place.

SEVENTEEN BULLETS

Taken from Body of Russian Soldier Discharged as Cured

Moscow, Dec 23.—Kitichenko probably the most thoroughly shot to pieces man who has survived the present war, arrived recently from Harbin, where after weeks in the hospital the doctors extracted seventeen bullets from him, amputated one leg and discharged him as cured.

"It was at Liocyang that I got put of commission for good. On the evening of September 2 we had been ordered to attack some of the Japanese trenches. We had to cross a good piece of open ground under a heavy cross fire, and there men falling every step from the time we broke cover to the minute we rushed the trenches at the point of the bayonet. Nothing happened to me until we were close to the Japanese lines, when I got a bullet in my right foot that brought me down. From that time I was no more good except as a target, but I must say I drew a good deal of Japanese ammunition if that counted for anything.

"Our fellows went on and carried the Japanese trenches on the left in a hand-to-hand fight, for we can usually whip those fellows if we can get close enough to them. But there was a long line of work on the right that we did not take and where they kept on shooting they were the people who did for me. I was on the ground with my teeth chattering, mostly with pain. Scared? Of course I was I guess anybody would be scared under the circumstances. It seem to me when those fellows on the right found I was not dead they didn't take an interest in shooting at anything but me. That probably wasn't so, but that was the way it seemed at the time.

"Anyhow I made up my mind to get out and crawled along toward the trenches where our men had gone over the top. As no one came back I thought they must have captured them. I hadn't more than started going until a bullet in my right shoulder riddled me over again. I got my gun in my left hand then and kept on crawling. Then I got shot in the left leg just above the knee. Then two or three bullets got me in the right leg. I dropped my gun and helped myself along with my left hand. But then must have thought I was having too easy a time of it, for I got shot through the left shoulder, and that brought me down flat. There was nothing for it then but to wiggle along like a snake on my breast and stomach. I kept on getting shot in my right leg, but all the feeling had gone out of it, so I did not mind that much. The last time I recollect getting hit was a gain in the left shoulder.

"It was just dawn by the time I got to the trenches, and when I finally wriggled over the top I thought they were full of Japanese but it happened that the Japanese uniforms I saw were on corpses and the live people were talking Russian so I yelled for help. The men took me to a bandaging station two miles away, and the doctors did not think I was much good keeping.

"I had thirteen bullets in my right leg and side and four scattered around other parts of me. But they bed me up and sent me on to Harbin, and there they cut my leg off. I wasn't fit to keep. So here I am crippled, but that is better than being dead or a prisoner.

Whole Crew Perished

Halifax, Dec 23.—News was received here last evening that the ship Stamboul at Metbel, from Pensacola, passed a capsized schooner on November 16, supposed to be the Ivanhoe, Capt Hare, which sailed from Halifax forty-six days ago for Bahama Islands. She carried a crew of six and one passenger, Wm F. Collins, of Charlottetown. It is thought all on board perished.

Nine Nations

Now Use Ligozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

Millions of people, of nine different nations, are constant users of Ligozone. Some are using it to get well; some to keep well. Some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. No medicine was ever so widely employed. These users are everywhere; your neighbors and friends are among them. And half the people you meet—wherever you are—know someone whom Ligozone has cured.

If you need help, please ask some of these users what Ligozone does. Don't blindly take medicine for what medicine cannot do. Drugs never kill germs. For your own sake, ask about Ligozone; then let us buy you a full-size bottle to try.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Ligozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of different cases, that Ligozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Ligozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Ligozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter. There lies the great value of Ligozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Ligozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

Any of these diseases is fatal unless treated with Ligozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Fever—Gallstones, Gonorrhoea—Gleet, Women's Diseases, All diseases that begin with fever—all influenza, all catarrh—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisonous blood. In nervous debility Ligozone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing what no drugs can do.

50c. Bottle Free.

If you need Ligozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and we will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to show you what Ligozone is, and what it can do. In justice to yourself, please, accept it to-day, for it places you under no obligation whatever.

Ligozone costs 50c. and $1.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON

For this offer may not appear again. Fill out the blanks and mail it to the Liquid Ozone Co., 46-48 Wabash Ave., Chicago.

My disease is..... I have never tried Ligozone, but if you will supply me a 50c. bottle free I will take it.

Any physician or hospital not using Ligozone will be gladly supplied for a fee.

To Escape Service

St Petersburg, Dec 23.—The authorities are being kept busy in an effort to stop the exodus of men fleeing from the country in an effort to avoid conscription.

Every sort of means is made use of in these fights, not a few of the fugitives walking many miles to reach the border, and then dodging across the line like criminals. As the most of those people have little or no means and are practically begging their food along the line of their flight, it shows what they prefer to face rather than serve in the ranks of the little father.

The dry goes out on every hand that to enter the army is to go to certain death. They believe, implicitly that for many years every man sent to the front will end his days there.

They have the most miserable conception of the Japanese and no knowledge whatever of the causes of the war. But they do know, by some intuitive reasoning or underground sources of information, that the war, so far, has progressed badly for Russia and the loss of life in Manchuria has been enormous.

They can see no other future for the soldiers of the czar than death. To them Manchuria is but another name for Siberia. They know nothing of the country or where located, but they do know that the soldiers go in the same direction to reach the scene of the war as the exiles take to reach the mines and death in the cold.

Food prices have risen enormously throughout the empire in the last 60 days, and from some parts of the country come reports that food is not to be had at even exorbitant prices. The bitterness of the winter is well upon the land and many of the provinces are bound tight in the snow that will lie on the land until late next spring.

In certain parts of the country the coming of the snow marks the end of transportation to any considerable extent, and what supplies are on hand in these places must do the people until the coming spring unless they have plenty money at hand with which to pay enormous prices for transportation. And who ever heard of a Russian peasant with plenty of money?

It is a heartrending spectacle to contemplate—a spectacle that has no duplicate in the world. Russia with her immense natural wealth and the hoards of people within her borders in the grasp of starvation and famine. It is hardly conceivable, much less believable, and yet it is only too true. Some day there is bound to come a broader, more liberal Russia, and when it does it is hoped that some man will write a real history of the Russia of to-day. If it is ever written it will be an astounding story.

Lifobony Soap—daintest—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infective diseases.

BRIGHTEN THE LONELY HOMES

Those who know the great West of Canada can easily picture to themselves the country, the scattered homesteads, the primitive shacks, the miners hut, which are inhabited by those pioneers who are winning for us this vast and fertile territory at the cost of endless toil and hardship. Such conditions are inseparable from a new country, however full of beauty and natural resources. Where there are families of children, a little school house may be within reach during perhaps six months of the year, and possibly a church. The other resources of civilization conspicuous by their absence.

There is the home, with its walls bare of pictures and ornaments; the little shelf in the corner with its treasures which have been read and re-read, and on the table the little newspaper which is published weekly in the town twenty miles off, and which is the only source of information as to what is going on in the outer world. Think of the men, especially the bachelors, who are living out their lives amid these surroundings, who have to come back to them after their hard day's work. Think of the women who cannot have even the variety of getting away to the fields or the market, but who have to face the monotony and drudgery of the housework year in and year out, if the children are to be cared for
