RECEIPTS GOOD

Col. T. G. Loggie, Deputy Minister of Lands and Mines stated, that the receipts of the Department of Lands and Mines of New Brunswick for this year would exceed the estimated revenue by some one hundred thousand dollars. At the same time the Department has kept within an estimated expenditure. The estimated receipts had been seven or eight hundred thousand dollars and will be exceeded considerably. The situation is particularly gratifying.

A VAST IMPROVEMENT

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal starts its fall and winter campaign for subscriptions a vastly improved paper over what previously looked like perfection. To those who have read that great weekly for years it would seem impossible to make improvements. Nevertheless the publishers seem determined regardless of cost to make the Family Herald better value than ever before. Every Department is being strengthened and new features added. In fact the Family Herald and Weekly Star during 1923 will be of such value that no Canadian home can afford to be without it.

A CRUEL SLAM

Chatham News (Liberal) published on its first page recently, several days after announcement of the personnel of the new Canadian National Railway board, a cartoon entitled "The Kind of Experts Called In." This depicts the C. N. R. as a patient, halfstripped, and much emaciated, on an operating table. About him are five individuals, not too bright-looking, in consultation. Crude surgical tools are strewn about. A bewhiskered farmer is looking up a book on bee-keeping. A black-coated lawyer is browsing in a book labeled "divorce law," and an insurance expert is consulting a mortality table. The others are a storekeeper and a broker. The patient is exclaiming: "For heaven's sake get me a doctor!"

"FOOLSCAP"

Every one knows what foolscap paper is, but not every one knows why it was so called. An exchange ventures to say that not one in a hundred that daily use it can answer the question. The following will tell you how the term originated:

When Oliver Cromwell became Protector, after the execution of Charles I., he caused the stamp of the cap of liberty to be placed upon the paper used by the English Government. Soon after the restoration of Charles II., having occasion to use some paper for dispatches, some of this government paper was brought to him.

On looking at it and discovering the stamp, he inquired the meaning of it, and on being told he said: "Take it away. I have nothing to do with a fool's cap."

The term "foolscap" has since been applied to a certain size of glazed writing paper.

Food plus Vitamines

is efficient food. If there is lack of normal vitamine content the food is like a wire without electricity; it lacks the power to function.

Scott's Emulsion

enhances the value of the daily diet, because it adds the precious vitamines that help sustain and promote healthful progress. Scott's Emulsion builds strength.

BAD SIDEWALKS

Several bad holes in the sidewalks have been reported. Recently a lady walking up Pleasant Street was thrown to the ground by a loose plank and was considerably injured. A gentleman going home on King's Highway was also given a toss and was thrown to the ground on his hands and face. It might be advisable to have these bad places in the sidewalk looked after before more serious trouble happens.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Nearly fifty years ago a little business was started in New York City which was destined to cover the world. Perseverance, pluck and business acumen, together with a thorough belief in Advertising (which was also in its infancy at that time), brought the enterprise up by leaps and bounds. That business is Scott's Emulsion, and the makers will tell you that Advertising did the trick. They believe that the purpose of Advertising is to increase profit from increase in volume of output (which means quick turnover) rather than big profits and small sales. To successfully advertise Scott's Emulsion, searching and sympathetic study, embracing every possibility of the curative power or medical worth of the purest Norwegian cod-liver oil it contains, its history as to food value, the environment and native peculiarities of the codfish itself in the frigid seas of Norway, where the makers of Scott's Emulsion maintain their own fisheries, the most scientific way of refining in the plant at Bloomfield, N. J. in airtight casks, are all necessary if Scott's Emulsion is to be advertised as a true, vitamine-bearing tonic-food. Eminent scientists claim a higher percentage of health-giving vitamines in cod-liver oil than in butter or cream. In Scott's Emulsion this vitamine-bearing oil-food is so scientifically compounded that it is easily assimilated by the weakened, run-down system; makes well nourished bone structure for teaching children; gives strength to growing children of school age; is unequalled in its power to relieve colds and bronchial troubles, and is helpful to those who are beginning to feel the weight of declining years. The point is, that had the makers of Scott's Emulsion not analyzed the marketing possibilities of their product, and had they not had the vision of increased sales through Advertising, and followed up the advertising with personal experience and observation of results obtained, Scott's Emulsion would be on the top shelf, forgotten—if it existed at all. This example is given to show the local advertiser the importance of following a well-planned advertising campaign—and the advertising department of this paper is maintained for the purpose of giving advice, based on past experience, to any local advertiser for the asking.

KING AND CRERAR DECIDE

Premier King and Hon. T. A. Crerar have decided that Canada must not proffer co-operation with the other British nations without parliamentary endorsement and their refusal to summon parliament. Was parliament act without it is summoned and only Premier King can summon parliament. When this is not done it is not ridiculous to proclaim that parliament is being consulted. Messrs. King and Crerar by not summoning parliament have usurped its functions. The constitutional practice in British governments is for the cabinet to act and then immediately summon parliament. Mr. King will neither act or summon parliament. Is he cowardly or autocratic or both? The chief Liberal organ in British Columbia, the Vancouver

REGAL FLOUR
It's Wonderful for Bread

Sun, describes him as guilty of "cowardly evasion."

Why Mr. Crerar?

By what right did Mr. King summon Mr. Crerar to council in a national crisis? Mr. Crerar is not leader of the opposition. Why was Mr. Meighen ignored? Was it not that Mr. King knew Mr. Meighen would demand action and that Mr. Crerar delay and evasion? Was it not a part of the policy of cowardly evasion? Mr. Crerar is a pacifist. He was conscripted into Union Government and was a continuous drag on effective action while a member

He deserted Union Government in the most cowardly manner. Mr. King wanted a congenial colleague in the national crisis and he sent for Mr. Crerar. The decision was apparent before the consultation. It was one that was characteristic of both Mr. King and Mr. Crerar—"cowardly evasion." Not a man familiar with foreign affairs—was consulted but every anti-Britisher, every little Canadian, every pacifist was heard.

The Treaty of Sevres

Mr. King now says we did not ratify the Treaty of Sevres. Mr. King's Senate Leader, Hon. Raoul Dandurand, says ye did. Who is right? Mr. King introduced the ratification bill into the Commons and secured its endorsement. Why did he do that in June and deny the object in September? Why did he act at all if he did not intend to stand by the decision parliament made at his request. He now says he only wanted to collect some debts owing to Canadians by the Turks. While Canada was a collecting agency, Mr. King believed in the treaty; but when Canada's honor was at stake he says there was no treaty.
