

DANLOP.

Mrs. Viden, of Goderich, was the guest of Mrs. Allen last week.

HOME AGAIN.—After a stay of about eight months in Stratford, our architect and staff returned from the classic city, having enlarged it greatly by building a large number of cottages for its fast increasing population.

As 1887 closes, the Danlop correspondent wishes to all readers of THE SIGNAL a merry and happy Xmas in their different homes, and to those that are far away from their homes, cheerful tidings and happy messages from those near and dear; words of deep, earnest love and friendship to each other to draw their hearts nearer and closer than ever, and that the coming year will be to all a happy one.

ANOTHER COURT.—The petition against our new school has been hurried to at the eleventh hour by the county fathers, and the senior Judge will hear their objections on Jan. 10 in his chamber, Goderich at 10 a.m. So far the town ship council appointed D. Lawson with power to form the section and to hold a meeting to make the necessary arrangements required on the 30th of last month, the petition against it coming up at the county council a day or so later. It is, we believe, the intention of the promoters to go ahead, by having a meeting to select their site and confirmed it by appointing their trustees to count the cost of the school house, then to wait the result of the court. Should it not be favorable, the Minister of Education will have an audience. And should he not grant it, the trustees spoken of before, Percy Stewart and J. M. Williams will go to England with a petition to the Privy Council to grant the new school for Danlop.

Bradlaugh will notify Lord Salisbury that immediately upon the reassembling of Parliament he will move that a committee be appointed to enquire whether or not Lord Salisbury sent a cheque to assist a fair trade meeting in Trafalgar Square in 1886.

Scribner's Magazine.

PROSPECTUS FOR 1888.

Beautiful Christmas Number

The holiday issue, now ready, is complete in itself, containing a serial matter. The cover is enriched by an ornamental border printed in gold. The price is as usual, 25 cents. It contains the most delightful stories, poems, and essays by distinguished writers, and superb illustrations.

Among the important articles to appear during the year 1888 are the following—Send for prospectus:

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON will contribute regularly to each number during the year. He will write of many topics, old and new, and in a familiar and personal way, which will form new bonds of friendship between the author and his thousands of readers. In the first paper, entitled "A Chapter on Dreams," appearing in the January number, he relates incidentally, in connection with the general subject, some interesting facts concerning the origin of the famous story, "Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS, by W. T. Chaplin, will be the first of an especially important and interesting series of papers on railways, their great engineering feats, famous tunnels and passages, and indeed, those branches of the subject which lie in the future of the world.

The illustrations which will accompany this series will be very elaborate, original and beautiful. The authors and the titles of the future articles will be announced later.

MR. J. A. SARGENT's paper on Physical Preparation and Physical Training will be continued by several of increasing interest, with as rich and unique illustration as those which have already appeared.

ILLUSTRATED ARTICLES of special interest will be those on the Campaign of Waterloo, by John C. Ropes; on "The Man at Arms," by E. B. Washfield; two papers by Edward L. Wilson, illustrating results of recent Egyptian research; a further article by William F. A. Thorpe, on a subject connected with his recent contribution on Wagner, and many others of equal interest. Professor Shaler's articles on the Surface of the Earth will be continued; and articles upon two of the most interesting groups of contemporary European writers will be accompanied by rich and novel portrait illustrations.

ELECTRICITY in its various applications as a motive power, Explosives, etc., will be the subjects of another group of illustrated articles of equal practical interest by leading authorities upon these topics.

WENDELLSON'S LETTERS written to his friend Mochales, at a peculiarly interesting time of his career, will furnish the substance of several articles of great interest to musical readers, which will be illustrated with portraits and drawings from Meddleson's own hand.

FICTION will be strong, not only in the work of well-known writers, but in that of new authors, in securing whose co-operation the magazine has been so fortunate during its first year of publication. A serial novel, entitled "First Harvest," by Frederic J. Stimson will be begun in the January number, and early in the year another will be published by Henry James and H. C. Bunner. The short stories are of noticeable strength and freshness.

ILLUSTRATIONS. The Magazine will show increased excellence in its illustrations. They will be more abundant and elaborate than ever. It is the intention of the publishers to represent the best work of the most skilled methods of wood engraving.

SPECIAL NOTICE. To enable readers to possess the Magazine from the first number (January, 1887) the following inducements are offered:
