Prince Ito was the first to see the absolute necessity of Japan's adopting ment was constituted in 1886 he was ground that it is going to give a cerone of the chief organizers, being minister of finance and public works. At was time he was only 27 years of age. If that is the principle, and the one that time he was only 27 years of age. Two years later he was sent to the United States to study the financial system, which he introduced here, and a the age of 30 he was sent abroad as a special envoy to arrange treaties with the European powers.

Drafted Japan's Constitution. A little later the Prince was in Europe studying the constitutions of the principal nations and after that back in Tokio writing the constitution which now governs Japan. Not more than a quarter of a century ago Prince Ito began his life young. He was only 22 when, after thying in vain to drive the foreign gunboats out of Yokohoma, he slipped away on a dark night and got a ship a greater part of their passage. The two boys knew no English, and when they were dumped out on the streets of London they were at a loss where to go. They had letters of credit on Jardine, Mathieson & ed the post of governor-general of company, a great English trading firm, United South Africa. which still has its branches all over China, but they had only a dollar in actual cash, and they lost that before of Lords passed the third reading they had gone many blocks. May Mean Korean Uprising. Washington, Oct. 25.-The assassination of Prince Ito, will, it is lieved here today, prove the signal for the flaring up of the Korean revolution, which has been carried on in desultary fashion, but with heavy casualties in total since Japan closed her grip on Korea. The policy of exploitation and development, as Japan styles her course, in the small coun try, is declared by Korean "Patriots" to be nothing short of systematic system of looting. Guerilla bands . Attack on Prince Ito is the mos mportant development in the Far Eastern situation in a long time and matter, in view of the fact that the fatal attack was done on foreign (Chinese) soil, is a matter of liplomatic interest and one in which every chancellory in Europe is engaged. According to a despatch from Harbin, the attack on Prince Ito was made just as the statesman, accom panied by Russian Finance Minister Kokovzoff, was about to inspect the troops drawn up in his honor. He was rossing the station platform. The He declared that he wa actuated not mereld by the hatred of Japan, of his now expected in the morning in time onal revenge.
