Good Fishing Yesterday

At Petty Harbor yesterday some of the traps did very good work, notably that of Mr. P. Howlett. Hook and line men also did well and report plenty of cod on the grounds, but caplin are scarce and this is a great drawback. There was also good catches at Cape Broyle yesterday and two traps secured 30 qts. each, with others in proportion. At Pouch Cove Messrs. Shea and Noseworthy had 30 qts. each in their traps, and others took 6, 7 and 8 qts. At Torbay trawlers are doing well and secure 6 and 7 qts. daily. Off St. John's yesterday boats and traps did fairly good work also.

ANNUAL CAMPING.—The C. C. C. will meet to-night to make arrangements for camping out.

Susu's Report.

The S. S. Susu arrived from Fortune Bay yesterday at 7 a.m. Capt. Horwood reports that the fishery in Fortune Bay is a partial failure, and caplin have not yet struck in any where in large quantities. The Susu sailed again for the West last night and will call at Pointe de Plat Island and St. Lawrence to land Light House supplies.

OBITUARY.

MISS C. GIBBS.
There died last night at her mother's residence, Blackmarsh Road, Miss Catherine Gibbs, sister of Hon. M. P. Gibbs. The deceased young lady had suffered from heart failure for some time, and her death resulted from it. She leaves a mother, 3 brothers and 3 sisters to whom the Telegram extends its sincere sympathy.

CAPT. H. HORWOOD.

Yesterday Capt. S. Horwood, of the S. S. Susu, had a wire from Carbonear telling him of the sudden death, Monday night, of his father, Capt. H. Horwood. The deceased who had reached the patriarchal age of 85 years was an old-time and successful sealer and planter. A widow, 4 sons (one of whom is Rev. A. Horwood), and sisters survive the deceased.

LONDON, July 4.
A well informed Englishman, recently returned from Spain, throws light upon Germany's move in Morocco. After asserting that "it had been prompted by the Spanish Government, which wants help from Berlin in bringing about the partition of Morocco," he says that formerly the Spanish Government was financed from Paris, and forced to put up with French diplomacy. Spain has been financing herself, however, since losing Cuba and the Philippine Islands, and is no longer governed from Paris. Her ministers, officers and military staff favored co-operation with Germany as the most practical method for obtaining the partition of Morocco among the European Powers. There were no protests from Germany when Spain invaded Morocco in defiance of the Algeiras Agreement. There will be no hostility at Madrid to the German Emperor's coup in Agadir. Spain hopes to draw England into its scheme of partition by proposing the British occupation of Tangier.

LONDON, July 5.
Lord Lansdowne yesterday moved the official amendments to the Veto Bill. These provide for the exclusion from the operation of the Bill of legislation relating to Home Rule, for a joint sitting in cases of disagreement between the two Houses, and for the referendum in other cases. The Marquis argued that without such safeguards the Crown, the Church and the Liberty of every institution in the country would be at the mercy of a majority in the Commons, which might represent only a minority of the electors. Lord Morley, speaking for the Government, announced that the Government could not possibly accept the amendments. The evening was spent in the discussion. Lansdowne contended that the Referendum was the only reasonable method for discovering whether the country desired Home Rule for Ireland. Morley replied that Home Rule was before the country last election. The division will be taken to-day. It is understood that the Government will not declare its policy until the Committee stage has been concluded. It is believed that the Commons will reject the Lords' amendments "en bloc," and that the Lords will finally accept the Bill.

LONDON, July 4.
The Daily Telegraph revives the report that Kitchener will be offered the appointment of British agent in Egypt and the Sudan. Sir Eldon Gorst, the present agent, is seriously ill which precludes the possibility of his return to the post.

MANCHESTER, July 4.
A strike of carters developed to-day. Twelve thousand strikers forcibly prevented the movement of produce from the docks. The soldiers were called out. Women joined the strikers, stopping the traffic and destroying the produce in the streets.

LONDON, July 5.
The romantic marriage of Janet Fisher, sister of Premier Fisher, of Australia, to Constable Gail, of the London Police, yesterday, attracted a large crowd. Premier Fisher gave his sister away.

PORT OF SPAIN, July 4.
The British warship Aeolus, stationed here, has been ordered to proceed to Jamaica immediately. It is reported her sudden departure is due to the possible arrival of ex-President Castro in the West Indies.

KIEL, Germany, July 4.
The departure of Emperor William for his Norwegian trip had not been set for any definite time. The delay is much commented upon, and is attributed generally to the Moroccan complications.

LONDON, July 4.
King George to-day reviewed 35,000 Boy Scouts from all parts of the Kingdom.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.

A Boy Drowned.

By yesterday's train we learn that Edwin Rendell, aged 6 years, son of Mr. Gaden Rendell, of Heart's Content, was drowned at that place on Tuesday evening. The body being found floating on the water near his father's stage. None witnessed the accident and it is believed the boy went down to the stage head slipped and falling overboard quickly drowned without making an outcry. The parents are grief stricken over the terrible affair.

A GOOD HAUL.—Mr. Joseph Peckford, of the Battery, secured a trap head of fine cod Tuesday morning, and filled his trap and motor boats in the afternoon. He secured in all 98 cwt.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

Two men pass my cottage door, on their way to do their work; one goes to a beeswax store, 'tother is a sauerkraut clerk. One goes slouching on his way, sour of face and sad of eye; he will soldier all the day, count the hours as "hey drag by." So he journeys down the street, on his way to earn the morn, and he lifts his sluggish feet just as though they weighed a ton. Toil to him's a thing of tears, making him with anguish throb; when he's labored twenty years he will hold the same old job. 'Tother man goes prancing by with a step that's bold and free; there is ardor in his eye, and he whistles "Nancy Lee." He goes gaily to his task, not in bitterness and tears, and in fortune's smiles he'll bask as he travels down the years. For the gods adore the man who will work with might and main; and the shiftless pilgrim's plan void of virtue is and vain.

I. O. G. T.

The adjourned session of the Grand Lodge was called to order at 8.15 on Tuesday evening, by the Grand Chief Templar, with the same officers present as at previous meeting.

A Supplementary Report was presented by the Credentials Committee which was, on motion, adopted, and four representatives were received in ritual form and took their seats as members of the Grand Lodge.

The report of the committee on the state of the Order was next read by the convener, P. G. C. T., Bro. I. C. Morris. Similar reports of Bro. Morris at former sessions were good and always contained much food for thought and deliberation, but the report of this year was away and beyond any of the P. C. T.'s previous efforts in this direction. It was a most exhaustive and carefully prepared document, and was, without doubt, an able exposition of the state of the Order as culled from the officers reports.

Before its adoption several members spoke on matters referred to, and all promised to carry out the recommendations of the committee, which should be the means of strengthening the hands of the officers and advancing the cause of Temperance throughout our Island Home.

After listening to such a report, and hearing the able and stirring appeal of the G. C. T., no Good Templar can remain inactive, but must throw that apathy and indifference which unfortunately is too prominent a feature in many Good Templars of to-day. Rally to your Chief's appeal and be up and doing. Our duty is work, let us start at once before the night overtake us, when no man can work.

Mention was made of the success of some of the Outpost Lodges, and that of Bonavista was instanced as holding third place in point of numbers. It is not improbable that the next Grand Lodge Session may be held at Bonavista.

Kindly references were made to the early departure of one of our members to continue her studies at one of the Scottish Universities. Good Templars are proud that the first lady to carry off the Jubilee Scholarship is a member of the Order, Sister Carmichael, will have the good wishes of all the members for future successes and honours.

After several other minor matters were disposed of the good sisters passed round refreshments, and a pleasant half hour was spent, which all thoroughly enjoyed.

The singing of the National Anthem followed by the Benediction by the G. C. T. brought a most harmonious and successful session to a close.

The Rev. Brother Thackeray still occupies the Grand Chief's chair, and is loyally supported by all the old officers. If enthusiasm counts for anything then a year of unprecedented success all along the line may be looked for.

SHOOTING MATCH.—The inter-brigade shooting match took place to-day. Four teams contested.
