The Exporters' Conference.

(Continued from page 9.) MR. LONG .- I believe in outright sales for Italy, but I think with Mr. Sellars that all should have the right to sell directly to the Consorzio Probably Mr. Hawes has a wonderful organization there, but if we have a good Trade Commissioner he would be able to deal with the situation, especially regarding claims. Last year the Consorzio offered me through Mr. Hawes 90 for large cargoes of fish. Greece, on which the buyers wanted a rebate of 3 6 per qtl. My son on his They were prepared to place the money here. I asked you Mr. Chairarrival there got up against the British Consul. He was like all other British Consuls. Most of them, I understand favored Germany when the man then to take that fish, but you told me it had to go through Mr. Hawes. I gave it to Mr. Hawes and it was sent to Spain, and is there yet. I felt that if it had gone to the Consorzio I would have my money today instead of being $40,000 out of pocket. I have no objection to selling through Mr. Hawes, but I believe others if we maintain the price as set forth by the Government, and in the event of claims being made, they could be adjusted by a strong Trade Commissioner. I feel if we supply good fish we won't have much many man, but a man who has served his time at the fishery. From what I can hear out side, I learn that the fishery was acceded to rick, Pow- of surface good fish we won't have much many man, but a policy man, but application of Geo. supporters of Mr. Hawes, and it occurs to me that it would be perfectly justifiable to allow everybody to sell through whatever agency they desire. I think the object of the Department is simply to prevent price cutting by erroneous claims. For my part I would be perfectly willing to see other people sell.

thoroughly fitted for the work. He need not alone to be experienced in fish matters, but requires to be something of a diplomat as well, and the Government should find such a man, regardless of cost.

MR. SELLARS willing to see other people sell through whom they liked. The safe-guard would be that if they sold at then anybody else, weeks all that it is eccessary for him weeks all that it is eccessary for him their license would be cancelled.

Consequently they would not dare take the risk of selling below the price fixed in the regulations. As far as the settlement of claims is concerned, I am equally convinced that Mr. Hawes would not attempt or accept settlement of claims in Italy. It would not mean any money in his pocket, and he would not want to do it. If I had fish shipped through Mr. were safeguarded, but I do not see the reason why a Government agent ond class. should not be able to settle claims. and thus avoid the difficulty, while HON. D. A. RYAN.-I am in accord with Mr. Sellar's remarks. sider every man should sell through whatever agency he wishes. As Mr. Monroe pointed out, if a shipper breaks the price in any way, his license can be cancelled. As for Mr. 8|6 per qtl. rebate on some cargoes that went over in steamers. A person who never saw a codfish could go to Italy and would not do so badly. I have known Mr. Hawes since he came here first, and I had a contract with him for three years, which was disastrous to me. I would like to ask Fisheries Department, 41 schooners on, and how they have done business during the past 20 years. I think on the whole they did better than Mr. Hawev ever did.
