ROBIN HOOD APPLICATION FOR CROSSING REJECTED
The application of the Robin Hood Milling Co. for a third street track across Fourth street west was unanimously rejected by the Railways and New Industries committee in view of the fact that Fourth street is one of the chief cross thoroughfares of the city. There is a proposition to build a subway at this crossing of the C.P.R. and it was felt that this would be making trouble for itself; the city solicitor, however, thought that the subway would not necessarily be interfered with, and the company's representative stated the company would agree to take up the spot at any time the city saw fit.
Ald. Garden intimated that a permanent subway was not to be thought of. The matter was finally referred to the city solicitor for his opinion.
The company wished to have the matter ratified by the Railways committee, which sits here on May 28. It may be taken before that body without the acquiescence of the committee.

HOW McCARTY STARTED, ROSE TO BE CHAMPION, AND DIED IN THE RING

LUTHER McCarty, who met his death on Saturday, was twenty-one years of age. He reached his majority on the seventeenth of last March. He was born in Hastings, Nebraska.
His mother died when Luther was eight years of age. From that until he was sixteen he travelled with his father around the country selling patent medicines. His father is an "Indian Doctor" known as "White Eagle." The name and supposed nationality, however, was only assumed as there was no trace of Indian blood in his veins. When Luther last heard of his father he was at Pineau, Ohio. This was just one week before the Dayton flood. It was reported that he was one of the victims, although no confirmation was received of the support.
Luther began his pugilistic career here in Calgary where it ended. He was billed as the "Calgary White Horse." The date of his first fight was April 17, 1911. He met a well known old fighter by the name of Joe Grim on that day. The referee declared the bout a draw. McCarty received twenty-five dollars for this contest.
The day of the fight he received some money from his foster mother who was in Fargo, North Dakota and Luther used this money to buy his transportation to that place.
He met several third and fourth class rats during that year. He was taken in hand by Billy McCarty a year ago last January. McCarty was impressed by his size and confidence. The two worked together for several months but getting much money for their work.
On May 5, 1912, McCarty won his first big fight. The opponent was when he knocked out Carl Morris who was billed as the real white horse of the world. From that time on, just a little over a year, the McCarty-McCarthy combination has made money.
McCarty's claim to the white championship of the world is based upon the popular approval of the scheme of Tom McCarty of Los Angeles to determine the heavy weight title by an elimination process. McCarty, Jim Flynn and Al Palzer were selected to be the men who should fight it out among themselves for the honors. McCarty surprised the world when he defeated Flynn on Dec. 12, 1912 and a month later outclassed Al Palzer. He was acclaimed by the world's best fighters as champion. The last five months have been Luther's triumph. Everywhere he went money has come in easily. Prosperity did not seem to affect him. During this time he has made over twenty thousand dollars, half of which went to his manager. He saved practically every cent he made and stated to his friends here last week that he had ten thousand dollars in the bank in San Francisco. All this money has been since his acquisition of the title have been no decision affairs of short duration. On April 25, 1913, he defeated Jim Flynn for the second time and on April 30, got the newspaper over Frank Moran in Philadelphia. He came directly from Philadelphia to Calgary.
Arrangements were completed the day before his death for him to go on the vaudeville stage at a salary of $2,500 per week.
