

A VACATION SUGGESTION

How Many of Us will be on Our Vacations This Week and Next? Quite a Number, is there not?

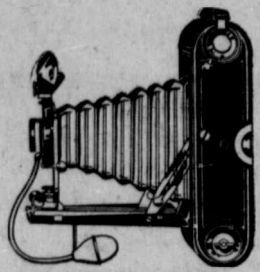

In our preparations for our vacation how many have neglected a Kodak? There is nothing that adds so to the joy of a holiday as the taking of good pictures. The Kodak way is the only way of getting good pictures—the bother is left out.

You will be very glad indeed that you took your kodak with you. If you have never taken pictures, do not be discouraged but come in and let us explain how extremely simple each operation is.

We are offering this week an assortment of Brownies and Kodaks which are most suited for a vacation trip. They are compact, easily carried, and dependable. Every time the release of a kodak is pressed it means a picture.

She was 65 years of age and lived in the village for many years, being formerly a resident of Cowai, and was well known and held in highest esteem. She leaves five brothers: Neil, in the States; Daniel, Dunwich; Dugald, in the West; Hugh B. and James, Middlemiss. The funeral was held Thursday at the Cowai cemetery, being well attended. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. McFayish.

THE COUNTY

Happenings in Elgin During the Past Week

The infant son of Henry Mack, Rodney, was run over by a milk wagon and had one of his feet badly lacerated.

The death occurred suddenly in Aylmer of Mrs. C. H. Burdick, aged 72 years. Her husband and two daughters survive her.

Rodney will observe Friday, August 27, when a patriotic tournament will be held, the proceeds to go towards the purchase of a machine gun.

Geo. Jones, a thresher, whose home is near Florence, had his right arm torn off just below the elbow when attempting to change a belt while the machine was running.

Jacob Miller, a well known resident of Aldborough, died on Thursday, aged 47 years. He is survived by his wife and four young children, and also by one brother, Levi Miller, of Rodney.

The Hon. I. B. Lucas, the Hon. F. G. and Mrs. Macdiarmid, and party, who have been touring in the West in a private car, are now in Vancouver, and have been taking short cruises among the coast islands.

The directors of the Aldborough Agricultural Society have let the contract to E. G. Lusty for the erection of the new hall. It is to be a one-storey frame building, 60x120, and will be built on the site of the old hall and will be ready for the fall show.

Lance-Corp. Fred Crowther, of Birkhead, England, reported killed in action, enlisted at St. Thomas, where he was employed as a laborer. Prior to the outbreak of hostilities he was a member of the 25th Regiment. Crowther was previously reported as missing.

The young man was of a genial disposition and popular with his acquaintances.

The death occurred suddenly in St. Thomas on Sunday of Mrs. Fred Foubester, of St. Louis. She was visiting her husband's parents, before returning to St. Louis, having previously spent some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hardaker, of West Lorne. She was getting her children ready for Sunday school when the sudden summons came. Besides her husband and her parents, she leaves three daughters and one son; also one brother, Martin Hardaker, West Lorne, and two sisters, Mrs. A. Van Loon, Buffalo, and Mrs. D. Moyle, St. Thomas. The remains were taken to West Lorne, where the funeral was held on Wednesday.

Avoid harsh purgatives for children. The ideal laxative is Rexall Orderlies. Sold only by The Rexall Store, 10c., 25c. and 50c. boxes.

Barbara, the nine-year-old daughter of James Wilson, of Woodstock, while bathing in the Thames at Woodstock was drowned.

FRUIT NEWS

Burbanks, Gages and Bradshaw Plums also Triumph Peaches are now at their best for canning. The thrifty house wife will put up more fruit this year than ever before—Plums with their numerous varieties present a change for table dessert which is not possible with any other variety of fruit. Peaches are especially favorable as a home canning and preserving fruit—easily preserved and delicious when served on the table. Grocers are quite willing to book orders ahead and householders should see their dealers in good time as this year is a home canning year if ever there was one.

Princess Maria Jose

Of Belgium, is

Europe's Homeless Girl

THE homeless little girl of Europe, the princess beautiful, is Marie Jose of Belgium, the golden-haired fairy, with a glint of mischief in her eye and the dignity of royalty in her regal bearing.

Out of the carnage the royal family of Belgium has emerged with great honor from the great Albert, a King every inch, and the regal Queen Elizabeth, who has inspired her young sons with the sentiment that true nobility lies in right living and right thinking, down to little Marie Jose, the homeless princess of Europe, now about 9 years old.

About the golden aureola of her fluffy hair, rather almost the only gleams of light in the unfortunate country over which her father and mother were called upon to reign, and it may well be surmised that the little princess is quite the idol of the Belgians.

This is the little lady to whom Canadian children are consigning the good ship Argosy, laden with their gifts for the war babies of Belgium, now numbering 85,000 since the foreign troops began to lay low that doughy little country.

And Princess Marie Jose is every bit as nice and popular as she looks. After the war began she was the guest of friends in England, exiled to remove her from the danger zone, and her popularity went with her. Her picture encircle the earth, symbols of sweet childhood.

Lara Anderson, one time American minister to Belgium, knows well the little princess. Of her he says: "I knew the little princess when I was minister at the Belgium court, and she was like a fairy princess, the ideal princess of one's dreams. In our drawing-room there is a photograph, a gift to my wife, signed in her childish but strong handwriting as 'Marie Jose de Belgique,' and in it she appears the little royal princess out of a story book, for her wonderful hair is all aglow with the light from a window by which she stands, and her dress seems to recall mediaeval times. I do not exaggerate her wonderful charm, and there is enough suggestion of mischief in the charm to prove her a little girl as well as a royal princess."

It seems but a few years ago, in reality it is more than 20, since the royal children most pictured were little Princess Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and little King Alfonso, of Spain. The little sovereign of the Dutch was a pretty child whose gracious ways endeared her to her people, and the little Spanish monarch was then a pretty boy in velvet suit with lace collar and lightly waving hair.

How fast years pass for princes and princesses, as well as for ordinary mortals, is shown when we realize that Queen Wilhelmina has a princess of her own now, little Juliana, and Spain's King has sons who are wearing soldier's clothes.

Fortunate the prince who finds favor 10 years hence in the eyes of the golden haired princess of the Belgians. It is fair to assume, with strong monarchs for her parents, that Marie Jose will have ideas of her own regarding an alliance and that questions of state will not out-over-much figure. However, she is not bothering her pretty head over that yet.

Patriotic Stamps.

Desirous of helping the families of Russian soldiers killed on the battlefield, the Imperial Russian Patriotic Society is making a temporary issue of patriotic postage stamps. These can be used for every purpose of the ordinary postage stamps, namely, in carrying parcels, papers, letters and correspondence of every description. Patriotic stamps are offered to all purchasers of stamps in all postoffices at an increase of one copek to the usual cost of an ordinary postage stamp.

Home-Made Grenades.

Grenades made in the trenches by the soldiers themselves, and thrown at the enemy's trenches either by hand or by a crude device that suggests the Roman catapult, form one of the curious features in the desperate fighting that goes on almost continually along the battle lines of Flanders, and illustrate a surprising development of the present war in Europe.
