

FIENDISH PLOT TO BLOW UP SHIP Infernal Machine to Be Placed on Cunard Liner. TO EXPLODE 24 HOURS OUT Was Discovered by Receipt of Anonymous Letter—Box Held 100 Pounds of Dynamite.

New York, May 11.—The discovery on Saturday afternoon of an ingeniously constructed infernal machine, containing 100 pounds of dynamite, in half-pound sticks, and an electrically operated mechanism, on the pier of the Cunard Steamship Line, frustrated what is believed to have been a plot to sink the steamship Umbria, which sailed at 2 o'clock, when she was 24 hours out at sea.

A letter received at police headquarters less than two hours before the discovery, and which was the receipt of the infernal machine. The letter appears to have been written by a woman of education. The handwriting is fine and cultured. It was signed, but the police refused to give out the name.

At the time the infernal machine was discovered the pier of the Cunard Line was crowded with prospective passengers and their friends. Almost a panic ensued when these were ordered from the pier, before the sinister-looking box was removed from its position alongside the gangway leading to the second cabin.

When the instrument of death was opened it was found to be a marvel of mechanical ingenuity. The 24 half-pound sticks of dynamite were enclosed within two smaller boxes, which held also three sets of clockwork mechanism, two dry-storage electric batteries, and a quantity of loose gun cotton and gunpowder.

The mechanism was clicking noisily when the box lid was thrown back. Chief Murray, of the bureau of combustibles, declared that it was the most perfect infernal machine he had ever seen of his kind.

Had it gone off, he said, it would have blown the Umbria out of the water. Nothing but its discovery on the pier, he declared, would have prevented the fiendish purpose of its constructors from having been carried out.

There was no name or assignment mark on the box which held the machine. It was taken to the Cunard Line pier by two men, supposed to be Italians.

This is the letter of warning addressed to Commissioner Greene:

"The box with two handles is among the trunks for the steamer Umbria."

"Dear Sir,—The Mafia gang you and wishes you would sink the Cunard dock is a box containing 100 pounds of dynamite. Inside also is a machine that, properly set, can explode the stuff any time within 24 hours."

"The society has declared war against England, and has ordered the destruction of every steamer flying the British flag sailing out of New York harbor. The undersigned, by sinking the Oceanic, and so many women and children took passage on that boat that the society's plans were changed at the last minute."

"The machine in the box, the first made and a crude affair, is enclosed simply to show how easy it is to sink a steamer, and to convince those interested that the society is not making idle threats."

"The society has undertaken to clear New York harbor of British ships, and it will succeed. The reason for this movement the society does not wish to disclose. Suffice it to say that the society, to protect itself, must carry the war into the enemy's country. It proposes to wage the war as fiercely as it knows how."

"This is the society's first and last warning, and the society proposes to patronize British steamers must take their chance in the future."

"The society asks and gives no quarter; so—Lay on, lay on, MacDuff, and damned be he that first cries, Hold, enough."

P. S.—The battery is not attached to fuse without caps, and lighter not set. Consequently there is no danger in handling the box."

Notwithstanding the reassuring character of the postscript, it was feared that, if there really was an infernal machine, it might not have been constructed with so much care for the safety of the persons handling it. This was found, as a matter of fact, to be correct, for, according to experts, the box was so arranged that it would inevitably have gone off with a single revolution of the main regulating wheel operated by the clock, which would have required about 24 hours.

Superintendent Murray declared positively that the time fuse of the infernal machine sent to blow up the Umbria was burning when found. There can be no doubt that the fuse was burning when the box was lowered into the water.

According to the opinion of Superintendent Murray and other experts, the dynamite would have exploded in exactly three minutes from the time the box struck the water. The amount of dynamite used in the infernal machine, experts said, was sufficient to dislodge 45 tons of solid rock.

If placed in the hold of a steamship of the type of the Umbria it would blow the bottom out of the ship.

CARDINAL VAUGHN DYING Eminent Catholic Churchman Is Passing Away.

London, May 11.—Cardinal Vaughan, head of the Roman Catholic Church in England, is dying. His condition is so serious that the last sacraments of the church have been administered. When this was done the venerable prelate said devoutly to a friend who was with him:

"I am now ready and wish to go."

The cardinal's probable successor is much discussed. It is regarded as most likely that the Bishop of Southwark will be selected.

FEVER AT SASKATOON Several Cases Among the Barr Colonists.

Saskatoon, May 11.—A colonist named Hasel was accidentally shot in the leg at Battleford. The wound is not serious. The second death since the colony arrived occurred last night, when Leonard Ellis, a young unmarried man, died of pneumonia, complicated with scarlet fever. He was buried yesterday.

In the government hospital tent there are three cases of scarlet fever, all doing well under the care of the government physicians, who has also reported that the quarantine arrangements are satisfactory.

News from the Doukhobors' village seems to indicate that the affected people are going home. Veregin will be here in two weeks.

HONOR TO THE BRAVE Great Crowd Attends Fireman's Funeral.

New York, May 11.—Details of firemen, 100 sailors of the United States navy, and about 5,000 other persons, gathered at the funeral of William McNally, a young fireman who was fatally burned while trying to save a man at a tenement house fire in this city last Sunday. The sailors were from the United States battleship Iowa, on which McNally served during the Spanish-American war. The procession from the church to the cemetery was the largest ever held in the city. The engine, truck and horses of the station stood at the curb with the officials of the department near. As the hearse passed the bell in the tower was tolled and the gongs on the engine and truck were lightly tapped.

A STRANGE ROMANCE A Rochester Man Reads His Own Epitaph.

Rochester, May 11.—A strange romance was narrated to Chief of Police Cleary by a man who was supposed to have been dead for years. It was told by a man who had come from Mount Hope Cemetery, where he had read his epitaph on a tombstone and then raised the stone to the ground. And it was told to a man who had acted as a pallbearer for the man supposed to have been dead.

Twenty-eight years ago this month the body of a man was found floating in a mill-race here, and identified as that of Wm. H. Stone. The identification was made positively, by Mrs. Stone, the supposed widow. The One Hundred and Fifth New York Infantry, of which he had been a member, adopted a memorial, and attended the funeral in a body. Chief of Police Cleary (then a policeman) was one of the pallbearers. Interment was in the Stone family plot in Mount Hope. Today, Stone suddenly appeared and fully identified himself with his military and police. He has been a wanderer.

NO TRAINS RUNNING Victoria's Railway Employees Are on Strike.

Melbourne, Victoria, May 11.—The employees on the state-owned railways of Victoria went on strike at 12 o'clock Friday night in consequence of a curfew dispute with the Government regarding the right of the latter to affiliate themselves with the Victoria Trades Hall, the headquarters of trade unionism in this colony. The employees of the railroads are practically civil servants, and the Government claim that in case of a strike in other trades affiliated with the Trades Hall the railroad men would be obliged to strike in sympathy, and therefore the Government notified the railroad men that unless they withdrew from the Trades Hall by May 12 they would be dismissed. The Engineers' Association replied that unless the Government withdrew its notification before 5 o'clock this evening they would strike at midnight, and leave their locomotives wherever they happened to be. The Government guaranteed double wages for two months to non-strikers, and notified the men that they would lose their pensions if they strike. About 11,000 railroad men are involved in the dispute. Troops are patrolling the streets, but the city is quiet.

Sully's Big Profits. New York, May 11.—The speculative cotton syndicate of which Daniel Sully, the bull leader, is the head, is fast disposing of his holdings of about 500,000 bales of May, to clean up an estimated profit of $5,000,000. Sully's personal profit in the gigantic deal is estimated at $1,000,000. The net profit for the syndicate, it is estimated, will be in the neighborhood of $5,000,000.

Will Be Punished. Paris, May 11.—On the arrival of Governor-General Jourdain at Algiers arrangements will be made to punish the tribes of the Figuig district who, on May 7, attacked a convoy of 500 camels loaded with provisions and killed 18 men, wounding 30. The expedition, however, will not start until plenty of troops are available.

Ontario's Fuel Supply. Toronto, May 11.—The Ontario Government published a report Saturday on the Ontario fuel supply. It estimates Ontario's fuel bill at $15,000,000. The report is with special reference to the manufacture of Ontario coal. It estimates that Ontario coal at $4 a ton equals anthracite at $6 a ton.

Michigan Welcomes Minto. Lansing, Mich., May 11.—A concurrent resolution extending a formal welcome to the Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada, on behalf of the State of Michigan on his visit to Detroit next Wednesday, passed the House and will come up in the Senate on Monday evening. It is expected that a committee of five, consisting of three representatives and two Senators, will be appointed to extend the welcome at Detroit.

SECOND READING OF LAND MEASURE In British Commons Denotes a Social Revolution.

ENTIRE CHANGE OF SENTIMENT In Those Who Formerly Bitterly Opposed Such a Bill—Analysis of the Vote.

London, May 11.—Parliamentary opposition has practically disappeared. The second reading of the Irish land bill, incomparably the most important measure of the session, was carried on Tuesday night by a majority of 443 votes against 26. This may justly be described as one of the most startling and puzzling events in the parliamentary history of England. The bill, as Mr. Morley said in his powerful and interesting speech, is a social revolution. It aims at nothing less than the transference of agricultural Ireland from the rent-paying landlords to the rent-paying tenants. In form, no doubt, it is a voluntary measure, but the position of the landlord who refuses to sell will not be a happy one, and unless he be a man of iron resolution he will soon fall in with the wishes of his tenants to effect this purpose. The sum of twelve millions sterling ($60,000,000), which will be advanced from the treasury on the credit of the United Kingdom, will be increased on the lowest estimate to the extent of a hundred millions. There will be nothing between the state and the purchasing tenant paying his annual instalments for a period of nearly 70 years. Mr. Gladstone's land bill of 1886, denounced from every Tory and Liberal Unionist platform in England, made the Irish legislature responsible for every shilling. There is no such responsibility here. Mr. Balfour's act of 1891, which almost the whole Liberal party opposed, dealt with sums in infinitesimal in comparison with those now involved; yet the leader of the Opposition, with some exceptions, supports this bill. Mr. John Morley supports it with enthusiasm; Sir Edward Grey, on behalf of those Liberals who have abandoned home rule, pleads for it with as much earnestness as Mr. Redmond himself, and only a handful of Radicals, scarcely one of whom had ever been in office, had the courage to vote against it.

A few months ago Mr. Wyndham was putting Irish members of Parliament in prison, and those who remained in attendance at Westminster were cheering the Irish landlord Boers. The excuse for the Chief Secretary's prosecution was that Nationalist members invited Nationalist farmers to withhold payment of their just debts. This bill proceeds on the assumption that every Irish farmer is perfectly honest. The assumption rests upon solid ground. Mr. Gladstone once described the Irish tenant as the champion rent-payer, and the best defense for this bill, against which only four Unionist voted, is that in the transactions under former land purchase acts there have been virtually no arrears.

Mr. Wyndham's personal triumph will be grudging by no one, though at this moment the Nationalists are his particular friends, he is deservedly popular with all sections of the House of Commons.

There are doubtless many causes for this amazing change in the political situation, but the principal reason for it appears to be twofold. Those who dislike home rule believe the bill will be fatal to it. Those who like home rule believe the bill makes it certain. Which view is the right one, time alone can show.

An analysis of the vote on the second reading of the bill shows the following facts:

For Agst.
Ministerialists	443
Liberals	104
Nationalists	75
	443
	26

Allowing for the Speaker and vacancies, there were present 128 Ministerialists, 61 Liberals and 8 Nationalists. It is a notable circumstance that the division lobby contained the largest number of members on record—443 votes against 26 votes. The greatest number in any previous division was on the Tichborne case, when the numbers were 433 to 1. Many amendments were proposed, but the bill was carried by a large majority. Mr. A. Thomas, Radical member, has given notice of his intention to move an instruction, empowering the committee to extend the provisions of the bill to Wales.

DOUGLAS QUIET AGAIN. Saskatoon, N. W. T., May 11.—News received from the Doukhobor committees is that all the restless elements have been removed to the settlement by the authorities, and are now quiet. The police patrol will be kept up until more arrive. The Barr colonists have all left Saskatoon. The Doukhobors are now west of Battleford, and moving fairly satisfactory.

BLAMES THE RAILWAYS Jury Places Responsibility for West Lorne Collision.

St. Thomas, May 11.—The inquest into the death of three men in the recent wreck on the L. E. and D. R. R. was resumed at West Lorne Friday. The crew of the colliding train and the dispatchers at Ridgeway were the principal witnesses. After deliberating twenty-five minutes, the following verdict was arrived at by the jury: That the collision was caused by the culpable neglect of the said railway company in not adopting a proper system as to the running of their trains, and of not furnishing and supplying to their trainmen proper rules, so intelligible to their employees that the existing rules could arise as to the duties of their trainmen. We further recommend that semaphores be forthwith constructed on the said railway, proper directions from the station.

CANADA WANTS WORKERS Ontario Seeks a Share of Prospective Immigrants.

London, May 11.—The Daily News publishes a column interview with Mr. W. T. R. Preston, the Canadian commissioner of emigration, stating that the existing demand for farm laborers in Ontario and warning men who are not desirous of working for a living to keep out of Canada. The newspaper has also published a cablegram from the deputy minister of agriculture for Ontario, advising a diversion of the stream of emigrants to that province. The message urges that the demand for labor in Manitoba will not be so great until haying and harvesting begins. It is pointed out that the world's population is increasing at a rapid rate, and that the cause of considerable migration to Ontario. The booking of emigrants continues active. Second cabin passages are all taken to the middle of June.

The emigration figures for April, just announced, show that 7,727 English, 1,716 Scotch, 320 Irish and 5,219 foreigners, left for Canada in that month. The total emigration to Africa was 4,247, and to Australia 732.

KENT TAKES THE STAND And Relates His Experiences With Dead Girl.

Rochester, N. Y., May 11.—Leland D. Kent, charged with the killing of Ethel B. Dingle, the pretty Canadian nurse, today told on the witness stand how they became interested in each other, how they traveled in different places together, how they lived together as Mr. and Mrs. Crosby, and how he finally agreed not to again leave her. "We spent many pleasant hours on the back piazza at the hospital," said Kent. "There she told me her physical ills and I prescribed for her. Then we met by appointment at a shoe store a little way from the hospital. We lunched together. She asked me to go to Toronto with her, and I did. After that she said she could not stand the work at the hospital, and must leave. I brought her to St. Mary's hospital here, and she remained there. She must have an operation. She said if she should die under the anesthetic she would submit. I told her she would not, and she refused to have the operation for peritonitis." Kent told how he prevented her from jumping into the river, and at another time, he said, he knocked bottles of deadly poison from existing hands. She agreed to give up her suicidal notions, he said, if he would live with her and not leave her. He agreed, but only to quit her for a short time.

The defense Saturday got a letter in evidence to show the despondent state of the girl's mind two days before the tragedy. Police department extracts from it were addressed to a Miss Clark: "I am not at the hospital now, Miss Clark. I left three weeks ago, and since then have been very sick. I want to enter a hospital out side of the city, if I can, as I don't think I am fitted for any other work, and am unhappy and discontented. If it was not for Dr. Grant I should try to nurse in the city, but he bothers me so I could never keep up. Write and advise me, if you care to. We love, your broken-hearted friend, Ethel B. Dingle."

Coughs, Colds and Asthma

As Well as Croup, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough Are Quickly Cured by

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

The virtue of this great prescription of Dr. Chase is so well known in Canadian homes that it seems useless to do more than remind you that it has a larger sale and is curing more people than ever before.

Mrs. J. W. Lloyd, Albion street, Belleville, Ont., states:

"In the beginning of last winter, I took a very severe cold, accompanied with a bad cough, and was almost laid up for a time. I tried several remedies, but with indifferent results. On the advice of a friend I got a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found that it relieved the cough at once. By the time I had taken the one bottle my cold was gone, and I can truthfully recommend it as a splendid remedy for coughs and colds."

Mrs. A. A. Vanbuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B., and whose husband is a carpenter on the I. C. R., states: "For years I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for my children whenever they take cold. I used it first with one of my children suffering with a severe form of asthma. It seemed as though the least exposure to cold or dampness would bring on an attack of this disease. I began using this medicine and must say that I found it most excellent. We have never tried anything in the way of a cough medicine that worked so satisfactorily. It seemed to go right to the diseased parts and brought speedy relief."

Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase is on every bottle of the genuine. 25 cents a bottle, family size, three times as much. 50 cents, at all dealers, or Edmansson, Bate & Co., Toronto.
