Boston Red Sox Are World's Champions

Defeat Brooklyn 4 to 1 in the Fifth and Final Game of Series.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The Boston Americans firmly clamped the baseball laurels of the universe upon their brows here this afternoon when they defeated the Brooklyn Nationals by a score of 4 to 1, in the fifth and final game of the world's series of 1916. The greatest gathering in the history of the American national sport, witnessed the gathering, 43,620 persons departing after the contest, convinced that the Boston Americans were the baseball machine par excellence of recent years.

As a result of the four games to one conquest over the standard-bearers of the National League, Boston is tonight celebrating its fifth victory in world's series since 1903, and there is added joy in the fact that never in its history has a Boston team been forced to bow to the superior prowess of a rival in such combat.

No Room for Argument.

The victory over the Superbas in the final meeting of the teams was so clean-cut and decisive that there was left no ground for argument. That the better team won the championship despite the determined battles put up by Brooklyn in the earlier games of the series was obvious. Before the game, and during the game, the Red Sox players and Manager Carrigan, who said again that he had retired from professional baseball with today's game.

As was the case in yesterday's game, Brooklyn was the first to score. Its only tally came in the second when Shore issued his only pass of the day, sending Cutshaw to first. Mowrey sacrificed him to second, from which point he moved to third on Olson's infield out, and scored when Shore uncovered the plate with a passed ball.

Brooklyn's Only Tally.

As was the case in yesterday's game, Brooklyn was the first to score. Its only tally came in the second when Shore issued his only pass of the day, sending Cutshaw to first. Mowrey sacrificed him to second, from which point he moved to third on Olson's infield out, and scored when Shore uncovered the plate with a passed ball.

Too Easy For Thrills.

Although the contest was played before a record crowd of fans, there was only a moderate amount of enthusiasm, the chilling weather and the ease with which the Sox disposed of their opponents dulling the edge of such outbursts as sprang from grandstands and bleachers at the more thrilling points of the game.

Aside from Shore's clever coddle weather hurling and a sensational running shoe-top catch by Wheat of the Superbas off Shore in the fifth, and its mate by Lewis in the eighth when he robbed Merkle, batting for Pfeffer, of an apparently sure double, the game was devoid of feature plays.

Immediately after Scott had clinched the championship by gobbling Mowrey's short fly for the final out of the game, the younger element among the spectators rushed upon the field and fell in behind the royal rosters and their band for a parade. On the first circuit of the diamond they captured President J. J. Lamin of the Boston club, and then crossed the field, after President C. H. Ebbets of Brooklyn. Amid the cheers of the fans, the rival club executives joined arms and led the march. Many of the fans shook hands with the Red Sox players and with Manager Carrigan, who said again that he had retired from professional baseball with today's game.

Receipts and Attendance Establish a New Record

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The attendance and receipts for today's game established a new record in this department of world series history, supplanting the figures made in the same park October 11 a year ago, when the amounts were a few hundred less. The attendance for the five games this season aggregated 162,359 and the receipts $385,590.90. Of this sum the players received $162,927.40, each club $92,652.02 and the National Commission $38,559.09. The Boston club, as winners, divided $97,756.47, on a basis of 25 shares, which the players are understood to have agreed upon as the method of apportionment. This would allow $3,910.26 a share. The twenty-three Brooklyn players divided $65,976.16 into equal shares. Owing to the fact that there are more players to share in the winners' money this year the individual shares are not a record.

Shoe-top Catch by Wheat

Shoe-top catch by Wheat of the Superbas off Shore in the fifth, and its mate by Lewis in the eighth when he robbed Merkle, batting for Pfeffer, of an apparently sure double, the game was devoid of feature plays.
