

LABOR HAS FEW MEMBERS READY

Party Plans Will Be Settled at Meeting Thursday Night.

At the present time labor has few men in line for the municipal elections. The only prospects on the horizon are Alderman Frank McKay in ward three and John Colbert in ward four. As a matter of fact, neither of these men has definitely stated that he would consent to nomination, and John Colbert has gone down there at the time of the London election. The law permits him to fill in his papers with the city clerk and to stand for election even though he is absent from the city, but Mr. Colbert told The Advertiser he would not consider standing this year in any event. In the meanwhile it is the hope of the London Labor party that John will be persuaded to change his mind before he takes the train for the south.

John Ashton, who lives in ward three, is another of the Labor possibilities who has refused to say anything about standing for election more than to state several times that if nominated he might stand. He has never seemed very enthusiastic about it, and everything points to Labor having no one save Alderman Frank McKay to represent it at the polls.

A mass meeting of all organized Labor has been called by the Labor party for Thursday night in the Labor temple, where representatives of Labor will be nominated, and the platform of the party will be formed at this meeting. At the present time the only plank definitely stated and proclaimed, is a refusal to consider the abolition of the ward system of electing aldermen. Other matters which will come up for discussion are the reduction of the city council from twelve to eight, a proposition which in the past Labor has always opposed, the election of aldermen, and the appointment of a city manager proposed by Alderman Greer.

Not Favored.

This last suggestion is sure to meet with the disapproval of Labor, which has never regarded it as anything but inimical to the interest of Labor, as forming a civic bureaucracy which would be dangerous to Labor principles.

The question of the city grant to the University of Western Ontario will also be discussed at the meeting, but the very general opinion of the party at its last meeting was strongly in favor of continuing the grant, as being in the interest of increased facilities for secondary education and therefore in line with the program of Labor in every country.

LOMBARDOS AND ELECTION.

The U. S. presidential election results were heard last evening by all radio fans in London and district, being broadcasted direct from station WTAM, Cleveland.

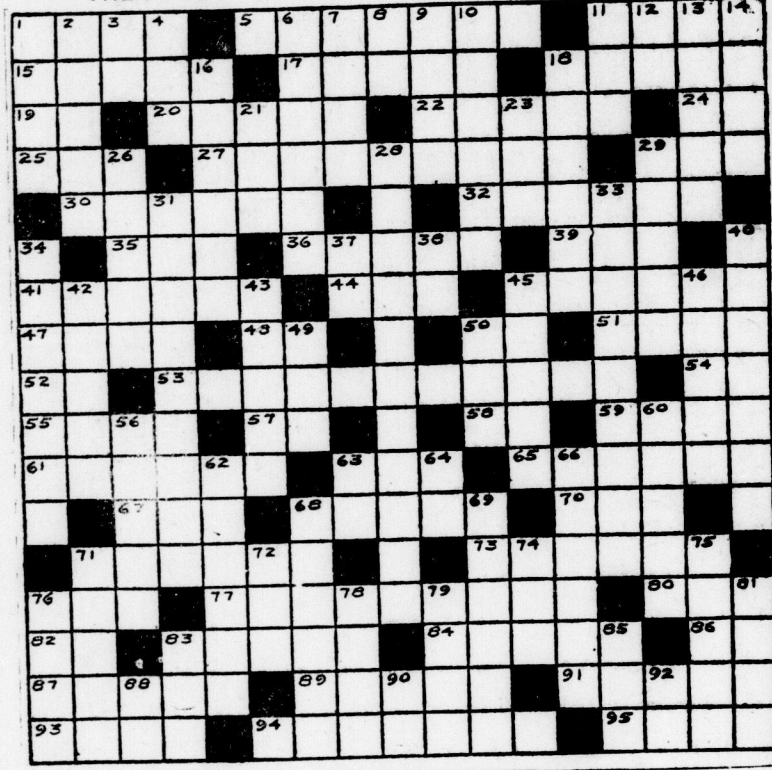

The results started to come in around 7:30 and continued until well after 11:30.

At intervals during the program an orchestra comprised of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians, formerly of London, played. Carman Lombardo sang a number of his own compositions.

LIGHTS REQUIRED ON PARKED AUTOS

Street Illumination Does Not Mitigate Conditions, Says Court.

Sarnia, Nov. 4. — Motorists who leave their cars parked on city streets without dimmers and rear lights on, are liable for any accident which happens in event of a collision, according to a decision given in division court by Judge Taylor today. This apparently is effective even where surrounding street illumination prevails. The case in question was that of R. B. Blackwell of Point Edward vs. Charles Rintoul of Sarnia, verdict being given to the plaintiff. Defending counsel raised the interesting point as to the nature of the decision. Had a person instead of an auto been standing at the point where his client's car stood, would plaintiff have been justified in proceeding when he could not see clearly ahead?

Sarnia city council last night unanimously declined application of local Chinaman for a laundry license on grounds that there is at present a plenitude of such establishments in the city.

For the ten months of 1924, the register of Inspector Walton shows Sarnia's aggregate for building permits to be $46,875.

Sarnia township council held a court of revision on the Frank Miller drain at its regular meeting today, bylaw to permit erection of a substation and stringing of wires to the south of the city of Sarnia was passed. The township was appointed tax collector. The women's institute gave permission to open the new township hall with an entertainment and Christmas tree next month.

J. G. RICHTER SPEAKS BEFORE GIRLS' CLUB

Addresses Women in Dufferin Hall on Recent Trip to Europe.

The women's club of the London Life entertained the men of the staff at Dufferin hall last night, when it was the occasion of a lecture by John G. Richter, second vice-president of the company.

Mr. Richter gave a very interesting account of his trip to Europe taken last summer. His descriptions were most vivid and the address very humorous. He described the covered travelling through Scotland and England, and he gave an account of the social conditions in England, describing the churches, cathedrals and other places of interest.

From England he took them on to Belgium and Germany where the art galleries and museums were found to be of the greatest interest. From there they went to Switzerland, France and Italy, and returned once again to England.

Mr. Richter finished his address with a very pleasant outlook on the present-day situation in Europe. He said, however, that since the war economic conditions had so changed that profiteering seemed to be universal in the world, and that he had taken part in the war, with great overcharges. The countries not in the war were more friendly and not so eager for gain, he said.

Ed Reid, general manager of the company, spoke particularly to the men at the conclusion of Mr. Richter's speech regarding the possibility of forming a men's club. It is to be started in the near future.

Solos were given by Miss Alberta Webb and Miss Muriel Atkinson, after which The Buzzard, the company's paper, was read. The evening was concluded with refreshments and dancing.

"CONNECTING FILE" GOES TO DISTANT SECTIONS

The popularity of the "Connecting File," the monthly magazine of the Royal Canadian regiment, is evidenced by the subscriptions which reach the editor from out-of-the-way places. They come from soldiers who have seen service with the regiment at the headquarters at Wolseley barracks.

The latest one to be received was a four years' subscription from T. C. V. Durell, written from Elnora Estate, Sungai Buloh, Selangor, Federated Malay States. Mr. Durell joined the R. C. R.'s in London at the time of the war, and in his letter recited the stirring scenes as the company moved off to Niagara and thence to France, saying that he had been with them right up to the time that "they had seen the red Hun leave the craters and culverts at Hoge and beat it down the Menin road in daylight."

WORK AT FAIR GROUNDS MAY LAST ALL WINTER

Work at the Western fair grounds will be gone on with immediately, Mayor Wenke declared today. "We will have work there all winter," he said. "We can put a range of 30 or 40 men on each week, and so make the work stretch out for the greatest possible number of men."

Cattle sheds at the fair grounds are to be torn down and segregated at corner for the sale of conveniences and uniformity. All the expense will be in day labor.

"We have plenty of men to go ahead with the work," the mayor said, "and we could do with work for many more."

ALSIKE SEED HOLDS INTEREST OF MARKET

Total Crop in Ontario Is Now Estimated Smaller Than Month Ago.

The chief interest in the Ontario seed market continues to be centered in alsike, according to dominion government report received today. The annual movement of the Ontario crop to export markets is gradually gaining momentum. Important shipments of this seed of the new crop have already been shipped overseas, principally to Great Britain. The total alsike yield in Ontario is now estimated to be smaller even than was thought a month ago, it being placed at 50 per cent of last year's total yield, or approximately 13,000 bushels. In point of quality, the seed is quite inferior to that of last year. Export demand for this seed has not yet developed, consequently dealers are not buying much at present. Some lots are being bought from growers, however, at $3 to $5 per bushel, according to quality.

The total yield of alfalfa seed in Ontario is now estimated to be 50,000 bushels, and in Southern Alberta 3,000 bushels. In the latter province, growers are paying $8 to $11 per bushel in the rough. The alfalfa seed market continues firm, principally due to the short crop of red clover seed.
