NEW YORK AND ERIERAILWAY.

We met with a paragraph the other day which is vory descriptive of this grand thoroughfure of the world, and now give it for the benefit of the Canadian public:

is vory descriptive of this grand thoroughtare of the world, and now give it for the bounds of the Canadlan public:

"The railways here, that is in England, are not better than our own. Either the English roads have electricrated, or else our own have appreciated. I assume that the fastest train on the direct line between Liverpool and London may be taken as a fair sample, and compared with dimilar trains on the New York and Eric Railway at heate—with which I am most fauniliar. From Liverpool to London, two hundred and twenty tailes, through instellars fore is thirt, the shillings—say nine deliars. On the New York and Eric, from New York to thow eat end of Suspension Bridge, in Canadla, distance upwards of four hundred and fifty miles, in drawing room excell, the fare is nine dollars and twenty-five cents. We ride in by far the most elegant cracies on the Eric than here in England, and at only one half the cost. We ride as fast, too, on the Eric as in England, about thirty-mine miles in either case. In smoothness there is no comparison Motion on the New York and Eric is like rolling on oil, but here we rattle in our seats like tin pails in a wheelbarrow. Hore there are falling necessitates disaster, on the Eric we can spin of from one to six, and, if judicloudly selected, the coach is still mobile and not a wreck. Here it is difficult to talk, and inpossible to write; on the Eric I do both intelligibly. I am proudly surprised, after an absence of some years, we find an English rail-way no longer superior to others in the world in any particular that effects a traveller—no, not even mills me matter of dust and ashes."

PROSPECTUS FOR 1872.

Fifth Year.

REPRESENTATIVE AND CHAMPION OF AMERICAN ART.

THE ALDINE:

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY JOURNAL

claimed to be the

HANDSOMERT PAPER IN THE WORLD.

"Give my love to the artist workmen of THE ALDINE who are striving to make their profession worthy of administron for beauty, as it has always been for usofulness."—Heavy Ward Beecher.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimons, of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succelling number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness as compared rivals of a similar class. THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition or in price or character. The possessor of the volume just completed cannot dupling the the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for too times its cost.

The labor of setting THE ALDINE ready on the

The labor of gotting THE ALDINE ready on the press is so great that reprinting is out of the question. With the exception of a small number specially reserved for binding, the edition of 1871 is already exhausted and it is now a scarce as well as valuable book.

New Features for 1872.—Art Department.

The enthusiastic support so readily accorded to their enterprise, wherever it has been introduced has convinced the publishers of THE ALDINE of the soundness of their theory that the American jublic would recognize and heartly support any sincere effort to elevate the tone and standing of illustrated puplications. That so many weekly wicked sheets exist and thrive is no evidence that there is no market for anything better—indeed the success of THE ALDINE from the start is direct proof of the contrary. With a population so vast, and of such varied taste, a publisher can choose his natrons, and his paper is rather indicative of his own than of the taste of the country. As a guarantee of the excellence of this department, the publisher swould beg to announce during the coming year, specimens from the following eminent American Artists.

W. T. RICHARDS,

GRANY PERRINS,

W. T. RICHARDS, WM. HART, WM. HART, GEORGE SMILEY, AUG. WILL, JAMES SMILEY, FRANK BEARD, J. HOWS.

GRANY. PERRINS, F. O. C. DARLEY, VICTOR NEHLIG, WH. H. WILCOX, JAMES H. BEARD, B. E. PIOUET, PAUL DIXON,

The pictures are being reproduced without regard to expense by the very best engravers in the country, and will bear the very severest critical comparison with the best foreign work, it being the determination of the publishers that THE ALDINE shall be a successful vindication of American faste in competition with any existing publication in the world.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT.

Where so much attention is paid to illustration and yet up of the work, to much dependance on appearances may very maturally be feared. To anticipate such misgivings, is only necessary to state that the editorial management of THE ALDINE has been intrusted to Mr. Richard Henry Stoddart, who has received assurances of assistance from a host of the most popular writers and poots of the country.

THE VOLUME FOR 1872,

will contain nearly 300 pages, and about 250, fine engravings. Commencing with the number for January, every third number will contain a beautifully tinted picture on plate paper, inserted as a frontispiece.

AND PRINCETON REVIEW.

The purpose is not to merge the two Reviews in one, different from both, but unite theer in one which shall combine the distinguishing morits and characteristics of both the former ones. The friends of each, while loshing nothing of either, will gain the advantages of both. Each editor retains the same liberty as hitherto of advocating, of allowing to be advocated, whatever, in his judgment, is entitled to a hearing. The editorial literary, and fiscal resources of both are combined. Enlisting the whole range of the contributors to both Reviews, with important additional aid, we may readily secure a higher average grade, with an increase in variety and quantity of the contents. By enlarging the size to 200 pages, or 800 pages a year, we shall be able to enrich the Review with choice selections from the British and Continental periodicals. Thus more may be gained by the union than could have been given by both quart. "We have come together," say the Editors, "yielding to a desire widely chorished and often expressed; and we confidently appeal to our ministers, olders, and church membors, and to the friends of evangelleal religion and of an elevated Christian literature, to give us a hearty support, and enable us to make a review that shall meet all the wance of our great Presbytorian Church, and be a worthy representative of it."
