HOW TO SAVE BOYS.

Women who have sons to rear, and dread the demoralizing influences of bad associates, ought to understand the nature of young manhood. It is excessively restless. It is disturbed by vague ambitions, by thirst kindness and social enjoyment, aside for action, by longings for excite from quiet, peace atmosphere of an ment, by irrepressible desire to touch unselfish, self-sacrificing community. If you, life in manifold ways. mothers, rear sons so that their homes are associated with the repression of natural instincts, you will be sure of them in the society that in any measure can supply the need of their hearts. They will not go the public houses, at first, for love of liquorvery few people like the taste of liquor; they will go for the animated feeling, a desire to see all about us and hilarious companionship they find there, which they discover does so much to repress the disturbing restlessness in their breasts. See to it, then, that their homes compete with public places in attractiveness. Open your blinds by day, and light bright fires at night. Illuminate your rooms. Hang pictures upon the wall. Put books and newspapers upon your tables. Have music and entertaining games. Banish demons of dullness and apathy that have so long ruled in your household, and bring in mirth and good cheer. Invent occupations for your sons. Stimulate their ambitions in worthy directions. While you make home their delight, fill them with higher puposes than mere pleasure. Whether they shall pass happy boyhood, and enter upon manhood with refined tastes and noble ambitions depends on you. Do not blame miserable bar keepers if your sons miscarry. Believe it possible that with exertion and right means, a mother may have more control over the destiny of her boys than any other influence whatever.—Appleton's Journal.

BE NEIGHBORLY.

A few neighborly, kind hearted citizens will transform a gloomy village into an earthly paradise. Selfishness is apt to color even our thoughts, and he who begrudges kind words and pleasant smiles is a miser. The happiness and comfort of each individual member of society is so thoroughly dependent on the bearing and disposition of his neighbors, that it becomes at once the duty, as it is the pleasure, of each person to strive to contribute his quota of generous feelings and actions considerate to 5. the common fund of human happiness.

To be pleasant, neighborly, good natured, is not necessarily connected with an outlay of money; a sympathetic look and an encouraging word will often accomplish a far higher mission than a dollar bill could hope to reach.

A hearty shaking of the hand and frank "good morning, sir," shows a kindly feeling that the clink of silver dollars would soon dissipate. One who is suffering from, or writing under misfortune, receives vastly more comfort from a neighbor's kindly offices and general sympathies than any N. B.—A liber peculiar gift can bestow. Society is Address orders held together by the mutual forbear-ance of its members. Did each one assert his rights by physical force, in-Sole Agents Thos. WHITTAKER'S BOOKS, sideration for the rights of others, cities, towns and neighborhoods would be impossibilities, since peace could only be procured by widely separating the contending factions.

Aside from the satisfying and elevating influence of neighborly acts of such qualities have a mercantile value Value of real estate, desirability of certain localities for residence, depend largely upon the reputation of the community for generous and commendable neighborly qualities; and even public spirit, as asserted in good schools and churches, has its origin in an enlarged neighborly the happy comforts and inestimable blessing of happy, pleasant homes.--Christian Neighbor.
