Mine Autograph.

Behold an album, gaily gilt, And full as only fools can pack it!

"This is my album," ah, indeed? And open for inspection, is it? Our sacrilegious tongues are freed By knowing one and all may "quiz it!"

This verse a heart of stone would move, Of rapture and of moonlight telling, The sentiment we quite approve, But ah, what execrable spelling!

Here doth the unfledged school-girl toil And blot the gushes that escape her, A thousand piteous to spoil A page of pretty, pale-pink paper!

"I'd whisper love, or die of ruth!" Insane conclusion to arrive at! If you must whisper, foolish youth, Why can't you do it more in private!

A risk absurd—another sage. A pedagogue puts something flat in, A sonnet here adorns the page And raw collegians spout in Latin.

"Along life's ocean-waters blue" Tis friend, whose metaphors are various, Would joy and sorrow mix for you, In "golden sunsets" multifarious!

Ah well! In twenty years or so, When present joys fail to allure you, It may amuse—Oh, thank you, no—I never write, I do assure you!
