THE CHIEF JUSTICE DEAD.

OTTAWA, September 25 - Chief Justice Sir William Richie died at half past nine this morning as a result of a heavy cold cold contracted during his return from his summer vacation about two weeks ago. Sir William got over his cold, but at his great age his sys-tem was too feeble to recover from the shock, and he gradually sank. He retained his concionsness to the very last, and his disolution was at the last moment rather sudden. He rose this morning and sat up a while in a chair talking to his family, and then walked over to the bed and lay down and almost im-mediately expired. The juneral will take place here on Tuesday afternoon, the in terment being in Beechwood cometery

To the Editor of The Trie Witness.

Dear She,—Having seen Mr. Kane's letter in your paper, I take exception to one of his remarks, as none of our seen test are out in the rain, as inconvenient as things are. The Catholic men healthful exercises can be gone on with—a distribute require abditions. There is not a complete Catholic hall of any unportance in Montreal; they are samily make-shifts. The Catholic volume men of Montreat city should have thorough halls, and then there is could be less longing around direct hardon and avoidance interest. In this great city of Montreat there is not even a memorial hall to St. Patrick worthy of the name.
