Well, what of it? the critic asks. Just this: Let them not pass by Knox's this: Let them not pass by Knox's Collège, for has it not been known that the chieftain is enthroned among her graduates. We thought that everybody in this North American continent was aware of this. It belongs, therefore, in the fitness of things, that Knox men should first get out her four-and-twenty pipers, to dust their bonnets and kilts, and with Chieftain J. A. Macdonaid in command step to the pibroch.

But we must get to our "secondly," it is called under a variety of logical "headings," such as immigration, city problem and social service. And, ay mon! but yon was a graund pièce of preaching. We heard W. D. Reid, Montreal, declare that if we do not Canadianize the foreigner was desired.

Further on, more words of our language, plus a Hebrew-Edinburgh accent from Rohold, who denied that he had forsaken Israe. He had found Israel's true "hope." Next, some of the choicest diction yet heard at the congress used to earry stubborn facts to the last man up in the gallery. It was J. A.
