NO MONEY LEFT WHEN REVELL DIED

and as he had been in poor circumstance the college proprietors would settle the bill.

The telephone message was on Nov. 3, and after arriving at the college Ranks found the body in a bedroom on the second or third floor. The "doctors" said it would be better to have the funeral from Ranks' parlors and in accordance with these wishes the body was taken from Ranks' parlors on the following day and interred in Norway Cemetery. The death certificate was signed "Dr. Williams" and passed thru the city hall as usual. The bill then to Dr. Harvey and Evans called for $55, but this had never been settled. A few days after the funeral the "doctors" telephoned Ranks saying Mrs. Spurr was leaving for the old country and that he had better look after the funeral bill. He sent his assistant to make the collection, but his efforts were without reward.

Robert Falconer, proprietor of the Falconer Hotel at the corner of King street and Spadina-avenue, told of having lived at his hotel last year from June 6 to 21. Then he left and returned the following day on Aug. 27. He returned on Aug. 27 and left on Sept. 3 to become caretaker of the Empire College.

Had Some Money.

When he came to the hotel first he seemed to have considerable money, but when he left on June 27, he went to England, and on his return was hard up and in poor health.

Falconer told of Harvey having taken on his meals at his hotel for about two years and of Evans stopping at the hotel from June 18 to Oct. 3 under the name of Dr. Evans.

Not knowing what was wrong with her husband, Mrs. Spurr spoke to Falconer about it. He advised her to get a physician.

"Who had been treating him?" asked the crown.

"Dr. Evans."

"And whom did you recommend?" "Dr. McCormack."

Before going back to the old country Spurr had talked about starting a chicken farm, but this was dropped on his return to Toronto.

Son and Daughter.

They had a boy aged about 18 and a daughter who was considerably younger. All occupied the same room and their bill amounted to about $8 per day. Spurr always took some liquor, but, according to Falconer, he never became really intoxicated.

Dr. H. B. Williams, Markham-street, a graduate of the Empire College, told of getting a telephone message about a week before Spurr's death, asking him to attend the man. Dr. Evans promised to settle the account, but later told Dr. Williams over the telephone that he understood that Dr. Harvey had paid the money. This was only two days before the arrest took place.

Gave Six Lectures.

Last fall Williams gave six lectures at the college to the post-graduates, and at that time became acquainted with Dr. Evans. Harvey was the head man when Williams was a student.

"What was the trouble with Spurr?" "He had liver trouble and had been a heavy drinker."

"Was there anything in what you saw to lead to suspect any poison?" "No, I was not suspicious."

BILLS REFERRED TO A SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Town Planning and Garden Suburbs Will Be Discussed Along With Tax Reform Proposals During the Recess—Underground Wire Bill Will Be Considered Again.

All legislation referring to town planning, garden suburbs, etc., appears to have been left to the tender mercies of the special committee of the legislature which will meet during the summer recess to consider the proposed changes in tax reform and assessment laws. When the bill introduced by J. A. Ellis, West Toronto, to give citizens over 50 years of age the power to supervise the laying out of suburbs within five miles of the city limits came before the municipal council on Monday morning, it was referred to the assessment reform special committee.

This was also the case of a similar bill introduced by W. D. McPherson, West Toronto.

The removal of tangled meshes of overhead wires was what appealed to Hon. W. J. Hanna in W. D. McPherson's bill to give cities the right to place electric wires underground and to remove buildings in case a new street line was to be established.

At first the bill was not at all favorable to the committee and it looked as if it would be thrown out of their hands. Hon. W. J. Hanna thought it unfair that a person who used gas should be forced to pay for the removal of his electric light wires.

Mayor Geary explained that the removal of unsightly poles from streets would benefit everybody.

Not T. E. Meredith, K.C., of London, who said that any dog in the street should be held up at a police station, unless the local improvement system was applied. Mr. Meredith maintained that better lighted streets would effect better police protection and fire protection would be facilitated if the firemen were not hampered by a tangled mesh of overhead wires. This was what appealed to the provincial secretary, and he decided there and then that the bill should be considered again on Thursday.

"THE CRUCIFIXION" AT THE CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere, the choir of the Church of the Epiphany, Parkdale, will render "The Crucifixion" in the church to-night at 9 o'clock. The choir will be assisted by Mr. Cusack, tenor, and Mr. Walter Gearing, bass, and the cantata will be under the direction of Mr. T. M. Sargent, the organist and choirmaster, who has done so much to build up a large and efficient choir and improve the music of this large and rapidly growing church.

CHARITABLE WORK 15 YEARS

IS OVERLAPPING TOO MUCH

Report Presented to Mayor Geary Yesterday Suggests That a Permanent Commission Be Appointed to Reduce Expense and Increase Efficiency of All-Such Work.

The report of the charities commission, which was received by Mayor Geary yesterday, constitutes an exhaustive analysis of work undertaken by charitable institutions and societies in Toronto, and makes many recommendations regarding methods of reducing the expense and increasing the efficiency in connection with all such work. The most important recommendation is that the city council should appoint a permanent charities commission, composed of five members, one of whom should be a member of the board of control, one a nominee of the board of trade and the other three representative citizens. The report will be submitted to the city council at whose recommendation it was compiled.

Fault was found with the charitable work undertaken in the city in that there was considerable evidence of overlapping and because there was a lack of any unified or centralized system.

Much Overlapping.

"We find," the report states, "that there is overlapping in the work of several of the institutions. There does not seem to be any good reason for so many institutions doing similar work, and we would recommend very strongly that there should be a concentration of management expense would then be reduced, greater efficiency assured, to secure uniformity in the conduct of institutions and increased facility of examination when required."

Indiscriminate Charity.

"There is vast room for indiscriminate charity in the city," the report says. "To overcome this and to eliminate duplication, we suggest that a central registration and investigation bureau be established. All institutions receiving city aid should be required to report to this bureau. Citizens and charitable institutions should apply to this bureau for information."

The recommendations made to the city council were to confine itself to one for power to confine itself to girls in an institution such as the Industrial Refuge. A home for the aged and infirm in the Industrial Farm was also recommended.

"We recommend," the report reads, "that the rescue homes for men, missions and cheap boarding houses be kept under the supervision of the medical health officer. Some of these institutions opened for private gain and should not receive public aid and some are not such cases as we could recommend either for public or private support."

Glenburnie Postmaster Dismissed.

KINGSTON, April 2.—(Special.)—Thomas Murray, postmaster at Glenburnie, has been notified that his services are no longer required. Archibald Bruden has been appointed to the position. It is alleged Murray took an active part in the elections, but this is denied.

A Reasonable Plea For the Stomach

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try.

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive juices, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digests, renews, repairs, stimulates, and cleanses the stomach, and restores the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of the organs are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain all these natural elements necessary to digestion, and are placed at work in the weak stomach, and small intestines, supply what these organs lack, and stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but pure chemicals. Chemical Laboratory, Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London. Telephone No. 1029 Central. 21 Cullum St., Pen-church St., E. C.

I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which is for the purpose), manufactured by F. A. Stuart Co., 33 Clerkenwell Road, London, E. C. and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, an opinion that they are admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed) John R. Brooks, F. I. C., F. R. S. C. S. There is no secret in the composition of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, and is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 homes, physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dizziness and all diseases originating from improper digestion and assimilation of food, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of the tablets (which is the dose) being strong enough to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a free trial box or write for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NO COMMISSION FOR THE CIVIL SERVANTS

Sir James Whitney Introduced an Amendment Which Carried and N. W. Rowell's Proposition Was Defeated—Os-teopaths' Bill Goes to Special Committee.

Lift the civil service out of politics, eliminate the spoils and patronage system, make appointments and promotions by competitive examinations, and create a non-partisan civil service commission. Such was the large order N. W. Rowell, leader of the opposition, advocated in a motion before the legislature yesterday. Like many of the Liberal leader's former ideas his motion was lost on division. The premier introduced an amendment to the effect that the house congratulate the people on the present administration of the civil service and the absence of the spoils system, and it was carried.

Naturally Mr. Rowell delivered a splendid oration in support of his big idea, but after he retired the premier gave his views on the matter and introduced an amendment which looked rosy to the majority. It reads as follows:

"This house congratulates the people of the province on the fact that under the administration of public affairs by the present government, no such system as the spoils system has any place; recognizes the difficulties which would surround the operation of a system of so-called civil service over a small number of officials, and that it would be wholly unwise and practically impossible to bring under such a system the various officials in the service of the province, including such officials as registrars of deeds, sheriffs and county crown attorneys. This house recognizes the fact that success in a competitive examination is in no way a guarantee of pre-eminence or ordinary fitness for government service, and this house recognizes the wisdom of and fairness with which the government has dealt with appointments and promotions in the government service."

Goes to Committee.

Dr. Jamieson, South Grey, referred his bill respecting osteopaths to a special committee. The bill requires, among other things, that all osteopaths who have been practicing for less than five years will require to undergo examination by the Ontario Medical Council. The special committee consists of Dr. Jamieson, Reame, Pyne, McQueen, Thompson (Stinson), Marshall, Muirgrove, Johnson, Bowman, McNaught, McPherson, Simclair.

School Attendance.

"It is a well understood maxim of civil polity," said Hon. Dr. Pyne, in moving for the second reading of the bill respecting the compulsory school attendance of adolescents, "that in countries where the people have a part in the function of government the electorate should possess at least the essentials of an education." The minister then told of how some countries like Germany and Switzerland have compulsory school attendance laws under varying conditions up till the 17th or 18th year. In Ontario, however, this law will be optional, each municipality voting on the proposition for itself.

N. W. Rowell thought the compulsory plan would be best, but admitted that the optional plan might be preferable till the system gets in working order.

TORONTO AGAIN TURNED DOWN

Private Bills Committee Refused City Power to Take Over Part of Radial Line.

Hardly had the City of Toronto got on its feet again after the harsh treatment handed out to it by the railway committee earlier in the session, when it received another blow yesterday by the action of the private bills committee in refusing the city the right to take over the Toronto and York Radial Railway from Sunnyside to a point near Long Branch. Scores of residents from along the route of the railway out to its terminus, lined the corridors, and when the decision of the committee was announced they raised howls of applause. W. H. Moore represented the railway company, and Corporation Counsel Drayton appeared on behalf of the city.

Practically the entire committee was opposed to the city's proposition to take over that part of the railway thru Etobicoke Township.

"Why can't you take it all over," asked Chairman Lucas.

"We cannot without further statutory power," was Mr. Drayton's response.

"But what is the real difficulty?" persisted the chairman.

"We are after the piece in Etobicoke, that's all," was Mr. Drayton's reply.

Mr. Drayton also stated that the city
