Mr. Elliott voiced the opinion that a minister of agriculture who could devote all his time to the work should be appointed, and that the division of authority which now existed with Commissioner Creelman in Guelph and the present minister, Premier Hearst, in Toronto, was not in the best interests of the province.

Reference was made to the popularity of the Ontario Temperance Act, and the benefit the workingmen had received thru the compensation act. In conclusion the member endorsed the policy of the government in regard to war expenditures.

Uphold Hydro Policy.

V. A. Sinclair, South Oxford, also congratulated the government upon the manner in which it had conducted its war measures and had organized on behalf of the soldiers both overseas and at home. He supported the premier as minister of agriculture, and dwelt upon the importance of the good roads system which had been inaugurated.

the legislature yesterday, first paid a tribute to the members and the sons of members on activve service. He complimented Hon. T. W. McGarry, provincial treasurer, on the character of his budget speech, and said it was a good thing that even in time of war the province had a substantial surplus to its credit.

When he criticized the statement of assets and liabilities he met vigorous protest from the provincial treasurer, but the matter was passed over when it was discovered that a misunderstanding had occurred. Nevertheless Mr. Mitchell contended that a more explanatory statement would be advisable. He pointed out that the a surplus had been shown it should be remembered that the revenue from forests and mines had meant a reduction in natural wealth. It was a matter of congratulation that taxes amounting to $1,300,000 had been secured from the nickel companies.

Mr. Elliott voiced the opinion that Too Much in Salaries.

Mr. McDonald advocated income taxes in Ontario, and then launched attack upon the provincial secre-ry's department for paying over 0,000 a year in salaries to the Onto License Board. He also said the province speculated in rich men's lives in referring to succession duties. He cited many big amounts paid last year, and observed, "The system is

NOT ENOUGH RESERVES

Insufficient to Carry Company's Operating Expenses and Fixed Charges.

When the C.N.R. arbitration proceedings resumed yesterday morning in Osgoode Hall, a new witness was called in the person of William H. Coverdale, consulting engineer, of the firm of Coverdale and Colpitts, who assisted in the preparation of the Loomis-Platten report, which was made at the instance of New York capitalists when negotiations were on foot to aid financially the CNR. Railway Company. At the commencement of his hearing he outlined his professional career, which extended for a period of about twenty-six years. He read a lengthy statement which explained the scope of his investigations as undertaken by him. He was asked if he accepted figures which had been supplied by the company, and he stated that it would not be receible for the reliway to furnish the and he stated that it would not be possible for the railway to furnish the items asked for in an incorrect manner. "The figures supplied us were the figures furnished for years to the shareholders and to the government," replied the witness. He stated that he had been disappointed with the condition of the road from Toronto to Capreol, altho that part to Port Arthur he described as "excellent." The Capreol, altho that part to Port Arthur he described as "excellent." The Goose Lake line was also in a poor condition, but it could be put in snape for less than $300 a mile. The following, as submitted by the witness, showed the completed mileage of the C.N.R.: In 1903, 1206 miles; 1914, 4966 miles; 1915, 7761 miles; 1916, 9296 miles and in 1917, 9433 miles. During the twelve years, from 1903 to 1914, the growth of the C.N.R. averaged over 300 miles a year.
