Money for Maintenance.

Isabella Galloway of Uxbridge died in 1904, leaving certain property to her daughter. Christabel Winnifred Galloway, now 14 years of age. Application has been made to the court to have her allowed a sum for maintenance and education. Chief Justice Falconbridge granted the request.

A Suit Over Logs.

A. D. Schaeffer is the owner of a certain lot in the Township of Mills, District of Manitoulin. He claims that R. J. Armstrong, a merchant of Gore Bay, unlawfully took a quantity of logs and pulpwood that had been cut on the premises by one McMillan. Armstrong claims that he bought them from McMillan, and that Schaeffer was not the owner of them. The case was not the owner of them. The case was tried before Judge McCallum on Aug. 2. and it was decided that Schaeffer was the owner of the pulpwood, and Armstrong was directed to give up possession, and pay the plaintiff $253 and costs on the county court scale. Schaeffer is not satisfied, and now appeals to the divisional court. Judgnent was reserved.

About eight o'clock James-street commenced to fill up and the crowd na-turally gathered between the city hall and the corner of King-street. Badges were distributed, and wherever that was occurring, the crowd assembled. They were doing no harm whatever indeed they were mainly small boys attracted by curiosity. The policeman who struck Denny Bennett, the Chicago Marathon winner, over his heal with a baton, was excited by some jest that came from the crowd and with which Bennett, who happened to pass at the time, had no more to do than had President Roosevelt. That than had President Roosevelt. That the crowd was young, sober, harmless and submissive is abundantly shown by the fact that no one struck or hurt the policeman. They howled an I surged about him, and scared him a little, perhaps, but no one directly defled his authority.
