JIMMY COON STORIES

JIMMY COON WINS A GREAT BAT TLE. CHAPTER THIRTEEN.

One moonlight night Jimmy Coon heard the yelping of the Coon dogs. Four dogs were helping the hunters find a Coon's track. And Jimmy Coon knew the dogs had found the scent of his fresh tracks. Fast and faster ran the four dogs, and nearer and nearer they got to Jimmy Coon.

They were close upon him now; and how could one little Jimmy Coon fight four big dogs! And the old forkound Ranger was ahead; and he gave an awful leap, and seemed to be right upon poor little Jimmy Coon.

But in the nick of time Jimmy Coon jumped into a hole, in the bottom of a big hollow chestinut tree. And the hole was so small that no dog could follow him. And those four dogs leaped around the tree, almost barking their heads off.

And Jimmy Coon was inside, and he said to himself: "I know what these dogs are saying in their yells to the hunters, it is: "Coon! Coon! Come quick, hunters, and kill this Coon!"

And Jimmy Coon said to himself, "I know what that terrible sound means!

run.
And Jimmy Con said to himself, "I know what that terrible sound means! It's the sound of a sharp axe; and those men mean to cut this tree down or cut a hole in the boftom to get me or cut a nois in the sout."

"But I'm not afraid, for I have some more tricks to get away from those dogs and hunters." And the axes were ringing outside that tree; and the sound echoed through the silent temple of the ancient woods. But Jimmy Coon used his wits every minute.

of an unqualified success. The attendance was large, nearly all of the chapters in the district being represented, and the entropy and ent the path of duty with greater enthusiasm than ever before.

Each year of the war the Daughters of the Empire of London have generously aided the various patriotic societies of the Allied nations. Especially have they realized the need of the British Red Cross for assistance in the heavy burden it has to bear. Liberal contributions have been given to this object every year, but that of 1917 will exceed all others. The various chapters have subscribed to an extent that will enable the municipal treasurer to hand over the sum of $1,802 to Mr. McLean, the treasurer of the local British Red Cross fund. Some of the chapters have voted an appropriation directly from their fund; others have made up their quota by subscriptions from their members. The following is a list of the L. O. D. This Nutritious Food Relieves Constipation

700 can choose two ways of relieving constipation-I the artificial and injurious by means of expensive drugs, and the natural method by means of balanced food. Roman Meal, invented by a physician, not only relieves constipation, but it is a highly nourishing and easily digested food; you never tire of it because you can nourishing food value of entire berries of wheat (30%), rye (35%), flaxseed (25%) and wheat bran (10%). Flaxseed is three rye or oats. It is rendered olutely tasteless and odorless by electricity.

We have from thirty to forty feet of digestive tube because our ancestors for many ages ate food that contained more waste than nutrition. Man's forty foot digestive tract is mostly muscle which has nothing to do with actual digestion. These bowel muscles positively will not function unless there is sufficient waste in the food to stimulate them to natural action. Lack of waste means constipa-tion. Meat, white flour and refined cereals have but little waste. Constant use of im-poverished foods like white flour and highly refined cereals causes the muscles of the tract to weaken

Roman Meal has the full, proper amount of branny waste to stimulate the bowel muscles to action and thus relieve constipation; its flax-seed acts as a lubricant. When used alone, brans cause catarrh of the bowel. In Roman Meal this is counteracted by the soothing flax. Roman Meal positively relieves constipation, or the Roman Meal Company will return your money.

No wonder the medical profession everywhere endorses this great food. For it is made from the prescription of a phy-sician—a specialist in SPOONING ALLOWED
